SOVIETS FIRE ON AMERICAN PLANE

Officers Mapping Korean Buffer Zone

Reach Accord After Months Of Wrangling

Hopes For Early Truce Riding High

MUNSAN, Korea, Saturday, Nov. 24 (AP)—Allied and Red staff officers hoped to complete at Panmunjom late today the job of mapping the line where the shooting might stop in Korea by Christmas.

They went to work yesterday as subcommittees agreed, after nearly four months of wrangling, on a Korean buffer zone to follow the battle line.

The Allies aimed for approval of the cease-fire line by the sub-committees and the full truce delegations by Sunday. Then both sides could leave behind this first obstacle —and move on to three more which could prove just as troublesome.

Hopes for an early settlement on the full cease-fire program were nevertheless riding high in the United Nations camp.

Agree On Buffer Formula

The subcommittees Friday reached final agreement on the formula for settling the buffer zone problem —an issue that had stalled the truce talks since July 27. The talks actually opened July 10 but required the first 17 days to agree on an agenda.

The Allies stepped up their drive for an early truce a week ago. Concessions by both sides brought Friday's accord.

In the main, it provides:

1. The present point of battle contact will mark the center of a two and one-half mile buffer zone if an armistice is signed in 30 days. Any changes caused by battle action in the interim would be disregarded.

2. If more than 30 days are required to agree on all armistice matters, any battle line changes will be incorporated just before the signing.

Fighting Will Continue

Fighting will continue until a full armistice is reached.

While the final wording for the buffer zone formula was being worked out in the main tent at Panmunjom Friday, two U. N. and two Red staff officers went to work next door to draw the line exactly. By evening, they had compared their two lines of battle contact across the entire Korean peninsula.

The acting U. S. command spokesman, Lt. Col. Howard S. Levie, said there were only "two or three places where there are major differences of opinion."

The staff officers planned to eliminate those differences today.

Strategic Hill Retaken By Allied Infantrymen

SEOUL, Korea, Saturday, Nov. 24 (AP)—Allied infantrymen recaptured a strategic hill on the western front early today 12 hours after they lost it to a regiment of Chinese Reds.

Sub-freezing weather blanketed the front as fresh United Nations soldiers pushed past exhausted Allies still pulling back from the "Little Gibralter," west of Yonchon and about 35 miles north of Seoul.

The mercury dipped to 14 degrees above zero, freezing the cold rain which fell along the battlefront Friday.

In a second action, two Chinese companies attacked an Allied position southwest of Yonchon shortly after midnight. They moved in behind a heavy barrage of artillery, but the United Nations troops held their ground and hurled the Reds back about 4 a. m.

Slipup Thwarts Police Car Thief

BALTIMORE, Nov. 23 (AP)—Baltimore police lost one of their patrol cars temporarily today — but the man who borrowed it kept in touch with headquarters via radio.

Police said it happened this way:

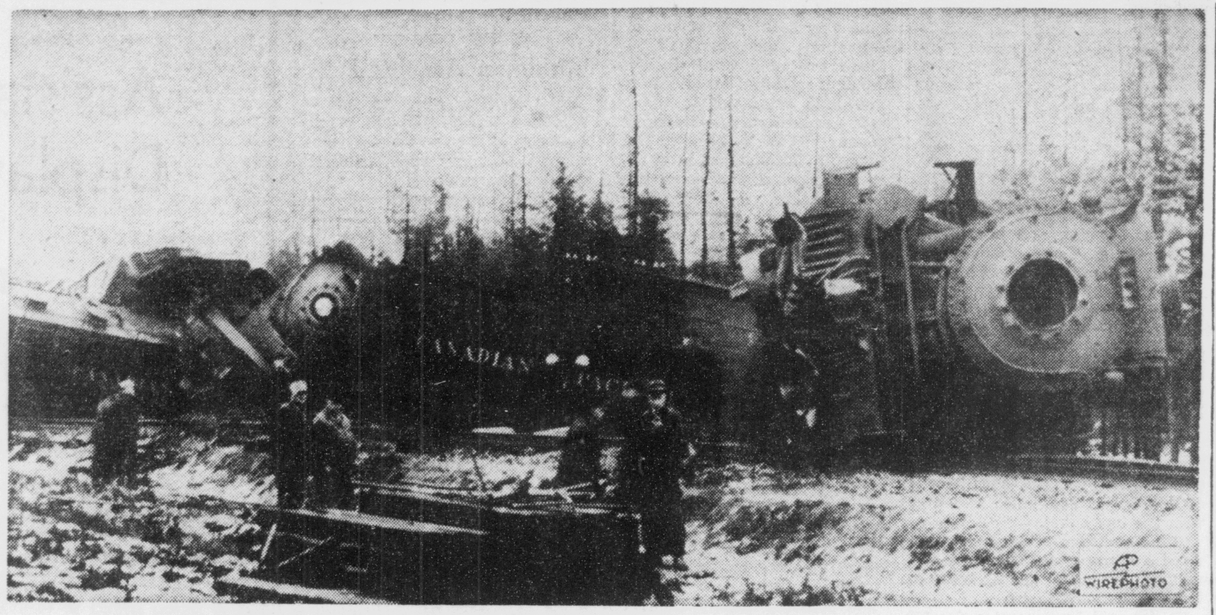
They got a call from a woman who said her 23-year-old nephew was behaving oddly. Patrolman Walter H. Gentz, who answered the call, told John H. Griffin, Jr., to "wait in the car" while he conferred with the aunt.

Noting that the patrol car's number was 389, Griffin drove away and called headquarters:

"Have you anything for 389?" he asked.

His routine was off. He should have identified himself as "northern post car 3."

That started the chase. It ended at a stop sign when officers in another patrol car, previously tipped on the incident by radio, noted car 389 being driven by a young man in a bright, yellow sweater.



Locomotive Explodes Following Collision

One man was reported killed and two injured when two Canadian Pacific freight trains collided yesterday about 20 miles east of Sherbrooke, Que. Railway authorities were unable to give any reason for the smashup, which resulted in one of the locomotives exploding. There were 55 cars in the freight and six of them, with the locomotives, left the rails.

Cost Of Living Hits New High; Auto Workers Get Pay Boost

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23 (AP)—The government's cost of living index climbed to still another new high Oct. 15, reaching a point 10.1 per cent above the prices prevailing just before the Korean war.

As a result of the rise, a million auto workers will get a penny-an-hour wage boost through "escalator" clauses in their contracts, hitched to the rise-and-fall of the government index. That one cent an hour, if not taken away by a later drop in the index will cost the auto industry $20 million the next year, on the basis of the 40-hour work week.

0.4% Hike Since Sept. 15

The government's Bureau of Labor Statistics measures the retail prices paid by average city families for the things they need to live these days. The index of those prices is compared to the 1935-39 period, which is regarded as 100.

The Oct. 15 index, under the bureau's new method of computation, was 187.4 per cent of the 1935-39 average, an increase of 0.4 per cent form Sept. 15. It was 6.7 per cent above a year ago. Retail food prices pressed up 0.8 per cent and were the main factor in the rise in the overall index.

The old-style index, on which the auto contracts are based because they were negotiated before the bureau changed some of its methods of figuring the index, was 187.8 on Oct. 15. That was an increase of 0.7 per cent over September and 7.4 above a year ago.

314,000 GM Workers Benefit

General Motors and Ford Company immediately announced the number of their employes who would get raises under the formula. GM said 314,000 hourly-rated workers would get the one cent an hour boost beginning Dec. 1. Another 88,000 salaried employes will get an additional five dollars on March 1, representing an increase comparable to the penny-an-hour for the next three months.

Ford said its increase would go to 100,000 hourly-paid employes and 34,000 salaried workers.

The Wage Stabilization Board has granted approval in advance for all such increases.

Fright Prevents Tojo's Daughter From Giving Blood

TOKYO, Nov. 23 (AP) — Hideki Tojo's daughter tried today to give blood for Allied soldiers, but stage fright sent her pressure so high that it was decided not to take her blood.

The 19-year-old girl, Kimie, fourth of Japan's "Pearl Harbor" premier who was executed as a war criminal, was surrounded by Japanese photographers and reporters when she appeared at the United Nations blood bank.

"Please don't," she pleaded, trembling and near hysteria at all the attention she was getting.

Attendants whisked her inside but sent her home after checking her blood pressure.

Brink Robbery Clue Reported

BOSTON, Nov. 23 (AP)—The Boston American reported today in a copyrighted article that Federal Bureau of Investigation agents "have discovered the spot where they are convinced the $1,250,000 cash stolen in the fabulous Brink robbery of Jan. 17, 1950, was hidden for several weeks."

The newspaper located the hideaway "in the backwoods of Stoughton, near the Canton town line" and said it was here, in a well-furnished camp, that the bandits divided their loot.

The Boston office of the FBI, asked about the report, said it had no comment.

The American said FBI men have "definitely established" that the cut and burned parts of a Ford truck found in the Stoughton dump, seven miles from the camp, are pieces of the Brink getaway car, stolen from the Boylston Street auto agency of Lalime and Partridge before the Brink robbery. "The identity of several men who were in possession of this truck several days after the robbery now is known," the newspaper said.

Would-Be Bridge Jumper "Making Too Much Money"

BALTIMORE, Nov. 23 (AP) — Salvatore Volpe, 25, said today he intended to jump off a bridge 100 feet high because "I am making too much money and don't know what to do with it."

Two policemen pulled Volpe off a ledge after talking 10 minutes to him.

Volpe told Magistrate Reuben Caplan afterward he was despondent because he couldn't spend his money as fast as he makes it. He said he tried unsuccessfully to blow it in on women and drinking.

"That is a very unusual reason for doing something rash," Magistrate Caplan told Volpe. He ordered the defendant to see a lawyer and doctor before returning Sunday for hearing on a disorderly conduct charge.

Volpe told the magistrate he operated a cabinet-making business with seven employes.

U. S. Paying Red Traitors, Soviet Charges In U. N.

PARIS, Nov. 23 (AP) — Russia's Andrei Y. Vishinsky accused the United States today of paying and arming Red traitors. He declared these acts constitute aggression against the Soviet bloc countries and unprecedented interference in their internal affairs.

The charges were made in an explanatory note published to bolster the bare notice yesterday that the Russians would attack the 1951 Mutual Security Act of the United States in the U. N. General Assembly.

The new blast caused some U. N. delegates to speculate that Vishinsky was attempting to draw attention from the disarmament issue before the Assembly. He is billed to give Moscow's answer in the 60-nation Political Committee tomorrow to detailed "Western proposal for arms limitation and a census of all weapons, including atomic bombs.

Seen Leaving Door Ajar

Informed sources speculated he will reject most of the Western ideas, but will not close the door against continued debate.

Secretary of State Acheson expressed hope that Vishinsky would give a "serious and cooperative response that will lead to progress in this important field."

The Americans said they would not oppose the Russian move to bring up the Mutual Security Act in the Assembly. An American spokesman said the United States was on the receiving end last year of charges of active aggression against China and the latest Vishinsky allegation "does not excite us greatly."

Original Protest Dismissed

The U. S. State Department dismissed the original protest yesterday as groundless propaganda and said it came with ill-grace from a regime which has consistently supported "subversive activity against the United States and other nations of the free world."

The target act was signed by President Truman Oct. 10. It provides up to $100 million to finance selected persons residing in or escapes from the Soviet Union and its European satellites "either to form such persons into elements of military forces supporting the North Atlantic Treaty Organization or for other purposes."

Operation For Snyder

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23 (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Snyder will undergo a second eye operation shortly after he returns from the North Atlantic Treaty meeting now under way in Rome, it was learned tonight.

Ridgway Report Says 8,000 Yanks Reported Murdered

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23 (AP) — Gen. Matthew Ridgway informed the United Nations weeks ago his headquarters had received and was investigating reports that 8,000 American soldiers were murdered by Chinese and North Korean Communists, the Defense Department said tonight.

C. Herschel Schooley, chief of the Pentagon press section, told reporters about the Ridgeway report in response to inquiries.

Gen. Ridgway, who is United Nations supreme commander in the Far East, informed the U. N. that the atrocity reports covered a period up to July 20.

Ridgway was described as having said that while the total of reports received from various sources and in various forms added up to about 8,000 the number of atrocity cases upon which exact evidence had been obtained up to July 20 numbered about 400.

The general's statement on the war crimes was contained in an otherwise routine U. N. report for the period of the last two weeks of August.

As now disclosed, Ridgway's report to the U. N. on atrocities was made days, and perhaps weeks, before an American Army colonel handed out to war correspondents in Korea his own statement that about 5,500 American and 290 other Allied war prisoners had been executed by the Communists enemy. This was on Nov. 14.

Munitions Blasts Kill At Least 15 At Copenhagen

70 Others Injured; Fire Sweeps Arsenal

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Nov. 23 (AP) — A series of violent explosions in the Danish navy's Copenhagen harbor arsenal killed at least 15 persons and injured 70 others tonight. Most of the dead were firemen.

Five buildings collapsed, burying several dead and injured firemen. Then the flames caught amid the wreckage, making the arsenal area a horrifying scene of fire and death as dynamite charges exploded.

Panic broke out in the nearby quarters of 1,100 Danish marines who were asleep when the roof over the dormitories collapsed. The yelling marines fought to get out, knocking their buddies down right and left.

Many Fireman Killed, Injured

Ambulance sirens wailed through the streets of downtown Copenhagen for hours after the blasts, taking the dying and injured firemen, marines and bystanders to three hospitals. Doctors were called in from all over the city to perform operations in emergency operating rooms.

Only a few firemen were available at the spot after the explosions to tell what actually had occurred. The others who saw it were injured or dying in hospitals.

One eyewitness who was still on the job, fighting the flames, was Gunnar Poulsen of the Kloevermark fire station. He was the only fireman left on the job from his station's whole squad. The 22 others were either dead or in hospitals.

Not Warned Of Danger

"We were the first on the spot," Poulsen said. "There was a marine guard on the premises when we arrived, but nobody told us there was any danger. The inspector detached two groups of 10 men each to enter the Mineyard Quintus, which had just caught fire. The other group was deploying toward the building when the blast came.

"I was behind a ladder van unrolling a hose when an explosion blew me 10 yards through the air onto a wharf. I was knocked almost unconscious, but I remember I saw at least four of my comrades blown right out of their uniforms."

Southern Textile Mill Wage Pattern Broken

ATLANTA, Nov. 23 (AP) — The first major break in the southern textile mill wage pattern — an eight cents an hour pay hike and a cost of living escalator clause — was announced tonight.

The announcement came from James W. Bamford, southern director of the Textile Workers Union of America, CIO.

Bamford said an agreement had been reached with A. D. Julliard & Company covering 900 employes at Ita Aragon and Rome, Ga., mills.

The mills were the scene of a bitter, eight week strike last spring after which the workers returned to their jobs at the request of federal mediators until an agreement could be reached.

Bamford reported that a similar agreement was expected to be reached at the Brookford, N. C., mills of the Julliard company, covering 600 employes.

Truman Orders Russ Trade Benefits Ended

Suspension Of Concessions For Poland Also Will Become Effective January 5

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23 (AP)—President Truman today ordered an end to trade concessions for Soviet Russia and Communist-run Poland. He also directed an embargo on imports of several types of furs from Russia and Red China.

The order is effective Jan. 5. Congress required the action in legislation extending the Reciprocal Trade Act, which called in one section for suspension of tariff concessions to Soviet bloc countries.

The concessions, giving several of these the benefit of tariff reductions granted to other countries, already have been ordered withdrawn from Bulgaria, Communist China and Czechoslovakia.

Pact Provisions Delayed Action

Treaty provisions requiring six months advance notice had delayed action against Russia and Poland. Withdrawal of concessions from Communist Hungary will be delayed until next July 5 because of a treaty provision for one year advance notice.

Congress directed that, as soon as practicable, the President should withdraw benefits of trade agreements which had made concessions "to imports from the USSR and to imports from any nation or area dominated or controlled by the foreign government or foreign organization controlling the world Communist movement," and also should prevent importation of certain furs produced in Russia and Communist China.

The furs specified are ermine, fox, kolinsky, marten, mink, muskrat and weasel, either dressed or undressed. The ban on the fur imports is complete; they may not be brought in at any rate of duty.

Advance Notice Was Required

Mr. Truman's action was formal notification to the Treasury Department, which has charge of the customs service.

The U. S. and Russia have a trade agreement dating back to Aug. 4, 1937, providing for "most-favored nation" tariff treatment in their trade. The State Department gave the requisite advance notice of termination in a note delivered last July 6 to the Soviet embassy.

Under the most-favored nation procedure, the U. S. binds itself to grant a particular nation the same benefits it grants to any other nation.

The treaty with Poland was signed June 15, 1931, and contained similar most-favored nation provisions.

France Will Get New Dollar Aid

PARIS, Nov. 23 (AP)—The United States has promised new, immediate and sizeable dollar aid to France to fend off a threatening economic crisis that could disrupt this country's rearmament efforts.

Authoritative American sources here said the amount of the immediate grant, which will be a part of the sum France would get under a new mutual aid bill passed by Congress, will not be decided for some weeks.

France needs about $650 million in assistance this year to keep up the pace the whole Western world is setting in rearming itself against the threat of Communist aggression —and to do it without throwing the country's whole precarious economic system off balance.

Some informed quarters predict the amount of immediate aid will be about $200 million. The French government has made no formal request for this or any other amount, these sources said, but there have been informal conferences at high level in which this and even mentioned.

Youthful Killers Given Life Term In Nurse Slaying

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Nov. 23. (AP) —William Morey III and Jacob Max Pell, who plotted but failed to escape from jail, were sentenced today to life in prison for the slaying of Nurse Pauline Campbell.

Quietly and briefly, Circuit Judge James R. Breakey, Jr., declared that the two Ypsilanti 18-year-olds will spend "the rest of their natural lives" in prison at hard labor.

Turning down an 11th hour bid of their attorneys for a delay, Judge Breakey said he was sentencing them in advance of schedule because of their part in the escape plot yesterday.

"In the interest of all concerned, and for the safety of the officers at the jail and these young men, I am denying the motion," the judge said.

Pell, Morey, Marcelo Valasquez, a 25-year-old convicted murderer, and two other youths were involved in the plot. As revealed Thanksgiving Day by Sheriff John Osborn, the five had planned to overpower a guard, steal a car and flee to Mexico.

Miss Campbell, a nurse at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital here, was killed by the blow of a rubber mallet as she walked toward her rooming house a few minutes after midnight, Sept. 16.

While an officer shackled Morey's and Pell's hands to Valasquez' to lead them out of the court—and to prison—the youths were observed laughing. They lit cigarets for each other as they left the room. Their parents sat in the courtroom, their heads bowed.

Educator To Direct Board Of Psychological Strategy

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 23 (AP)—President Truman today formally announced selection of 49-year-old Dr. Raymond B. Allen, president of the University of Washington, as director of the psychological Strategy Board effective Jan. 1.

He did so in accepting, "with reluctance and genuine regret" the resignation of Dr. Gordon Gray, who is returning at the end of the year to the presidency of the University of North Carolina from which he is on leave.

Allen disclosed yesterday that he is leaving the University of Washington to take over the job of coordinating overall psychological objectives, policies and programs of the defense program.

Gray will continue to serve on a part-time basis as a consultant to the board as long as Allen needs him.

Mr. Truman called Gray "a true and tried public servant" and said he had discharged his duties as the first director of the Psychological Strategy Board "with tact, discretion, judgment and an understanding of human nature."

To the former secretary of the Army, he added:

"For all that you have done in the public interest in these years of crisis I bespeak for the gratitude of the nation."

Navy Reports Twin-Engined Craft Missing

Reds Say Siberian Border Violated

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23 (AP)—The Navy announced today a twin-engined weather reconnaissance plane has been missing since Nov. 6 with its crew of 10. There are signs that it was shot down into the sea of Japan by Russian fighters.

A short time before the Navy issued its report, it was disclosed that Russia protested to the United States Nov. 7 that an American reconnaissance-type plane crossed the Siberian border, was chased and fired upon by Russian fighters, and was last seen disappearing toward the sea.

In answer to press inquiries about the Soviet protest, the Navy said a twin-engined bomber on United Nations weather reconnaissance patrol was missing and presumed lost. The Navy did not say the aircraft had been shot down by the Russians. Nor did it say in what area it was lost.

Presumably Based In Japan

It described the plane as a Neptune P2V Lockheed, a long-range patrol bomber designed primarily for weather and other reconnaissance and for anti-submarine work.

Presumably it was based in Japan, about 600 miles from Vladivostok. The big Russian naval port lies about 70 miles northeast of the short strip of border between North Korea and Siberia.

"The matter is still under searching investigation," the Navy stated.

Another indication that the American plane may have been shot into the sea was the decorations just awarded in Moscow to two Soviet navy fliers for "exemplary fulfillment of their service duties."

The award of the medals was prominently displayed in the Moscow press without disclosing what the pilots did to get them.

Baltic Incident Recalled

Inquiry here, despite restrictions of official secrecy in effect for more than two weeks, brought out evidence of the Soviet protest about the alleged border incident.

Responsible authorities here said they believe the Vladivostok protest almost certainly concerns the action for which the pilots were decorated.

The whole affair bears a striking resemblance to Soviet fighter destruction of a U. S. Navy "Privateer" plane 20 months ago. The Russian government also claimed that plane had flown over its territory, but the United States said the ship had been shot down by Red fighters while on a routine flight over the open Baltic Sea.

No Trace Found Of Missing Plane

ROME, Nov. 23 (AP) — Air and ground search parties looked in vain today for some trace of the U. S. Air Forces C-47 cargo plane that disappeared with four men Monday on a flight from Munich to Belgrade.

A mystery woman's report in Vienna yesterday that she had seen the plane shot down by Romanian border guards was discounted as "very doubtful" by a U. S. legation spokesman in Vienna and the Romanian Foreign Office denied knowledge of such incident.

She telephoned her story to the legation, but could not be tracked down. The spokesman said she telephoned the legation again later, saying she had to fly back to Romania today.

Her report, disclosed as the version of an air passenger arriving in Vienna from Bucharest, was relayed along diplomatic channels for checking. It has not been confirmed in any quarter.

Another unconfirmed report to search headquarters at Treviso airport in Northeast Italy said a farmer heard a violent explosion near Pieve Di Cadore in the Italian Alps Monday and believed it might have been a plane crash.

Vegetarians Increase In Meat-Shy London

LONDON, Nov. 23 (AP) — Vegetarians are on the increase in this capital of meat-shy Britain, a check on ration books disclosed today.

It was estimated there are now 140,000 vegetarians among London's eight million people, compared with 117,000 two years ago.

Vegetarians get special ration books which entitle them to extra portions of cheese in lieu of the skimpy meat ration.

AT LEAST 18 DIE AS TRAINS CRASH

Allied Troops Recapture Key Korean Peaks

Reds Driven From "Little Gibraltar"

SEOUL, Korea, Monday, Nov. 26. (AP)—Allied troops, victorious in a 41-hour snow-swept battle, firmly held "Little Gibraltar" peak in Western Korea today after bloodily smashing attacks by up to 24,000 Chinese Reds.

A divisional staff officer told AP Correspondent Sam Summerlin that the combat effectiveness of a Chinese Red Army corps of three divisions was destroyed. A Chinese Red division totals somewhere between 6,000 and 8,000 men.

"It is quite clear that the enemy employed most of a corps to take the hill (mass) and that corps is no longer an effective attacking force," he said.

1,500 Reds Killed

First estimates were that 1,500 Reds were killed and more than 3,000 were wounded. Allied officers said Allied casualties were "remarkable low" in view of the ferocity of the Red ground attack and the thousands of rounds of mortars and artillery fired by the Communists.

Red prisoners said they were told to take the hill mass, near Yonchon, and "then the war would soon be over."

Summerlin said a welcome quiet settled over the cold and snowy Little Gibraltar sector today. Last night the hill mass guardians huddled against winds which in gusts hit 65 miles an hour.

Some of the fighting was in 20 degree weather. The winter's first cases of frost bite and trench foot afflicted some Allied soldiers.

Communist artillery pounded "Little Gibraltar" during last night.

Tied In With Line-Fixing

"It's all ours again," said a divisional briefing officer. He described the battle, which began at 4 p. m., Friday with a successful Chinese assault, as "an obvious tie-in with the efforts of armistice negotiators to draw a cease-fire line.

The Chinese evidently wanted this 1,000-foot hill to be included on their side of any line that is fixed. Their first surprise rush took the whole hill.

The Allies were just as determined to get it back. Thirty-five miles north of Seoul on the front northwest of Yonchon, the four-crowned height dominates the surrounding valleys and is a good kickoff point for an attack either south or north.

One by one the Allies, whose nationality was not disclosed, regained each of the top peaks. Parts of them changed hands four times before the Allies made it stick.

Disarmament Outlook Gloomy

PARIS, Nov. 25 (AP) — United Nations delegation leaders spent the Sunday recess trying to dredge some hope of a Russian compromise on Western Big Three disarmament proposals from Saturday's speech by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky.

The outlook was gloomy. The U. N. Assembly's Political Committee prepared to buckle down to many days of debate, trying to evaluate Russian amendments which hauled Soviet plans up to the top of the heap instead of letting them remain until last.

One-fourth of the U. N. membership of 60 nations had lined up behind the Western plan in the Political Committee's lagging debate last week.

Many another delegation wanted first to hear what Vishinsky had to say. Tonight, U. N. secretariat officials were finding it difficult to arrange a speakers' list to insure two full committee sessions tomorrow. Some delegations had to forward Vishinsky's amendments to their capitals and study and new instructions.

India's leaders here and in New Delhi were watching carefully for any new Russian proposals.

The fact that the Russian amendments were the same mixture as before — immediate prohibition of atomic weapons, a Big Five disarmament conference, an immediate one-third cut of all conventional armed forces and weapons — held no promise that any compromise between the two camps could be speeded up. India has attempted compromises before in the U. N. and usually takes its time drafting careful proposals.

Final Agreement Near On Korea Truce Line

Allied, Red Mapmakers Meet For Fourth Time Seeking To Iron Out 10 Differences

MUNSAN, Korea, Monday, Nov. 26 (AP) — Sharp bargaining, accompanied by fierce fighting, brought Allied and Communist truce negotiators to agreement on all but ten positions on the snow-swept Korean battle front Sunday.

Differences remained in the center and the west dominating some 30 to 35 miles of the 145-mile front line. United Nations troops won a savage 41-hour fight to restore their western "Little Gibraltar" positions some 35 miles north of Seoul.

The fighting appeared closely coordinated with the cease-fire talks at Panmunjom, where staff officers held a four-hour session Sunday.

Today the Red and Allied mapmakers met at Panmunjom at 10 a. m. (8 p. m. EST, Sunday) for the fourth time in as many days, seeking to iron out the last differences.

Accord By Tuesday Expected

Although more fighting may erupt, the U. N. command spokesman refused to be pessimistic on chances for an early buffer zone settlement.

"I think there will be far fewer than 10 places in dispute Monday night," he said.

At best it appeared the line would not be agreed on finally before Tuesday. That would clear the way for the next meeting of the full five-man armistice delegations of both sides to ratify the stop-shooting line. Until the line is drawn, further progress on the armistice will be impossible.

After ratification of the line, it will become the final buffer zone across Korea provided the two sides agree within 30 days on all remaining armistice issues. If no 30-day agreement is reached on supervising the truce, exchange of prisoners and recommendations to the governments on troop withdrawals, the buffer line will be revised when a full armistice finally is signed.

Reds Blamed For Delay

The U. N. command made clear that it was putting the full blame on the Reds for the current delay.

"There are some hills we have held for two or three days," said a spokesman, Lt. Col. Howard S. Levie. "They are still claiming them."

The Allies offered to fly the Reds to the disputed zones by helicopter but this was rejected. The Reds made a counter-offer to inspect the areas on foot or by horseback, but this was not acceptable to the Allies.

Pa. Turnpike Will Take 67-Mile Step Westward Today

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 25 (AP) — Pennsylvania's famed turnpike takes a prodigious 67-mile step westward tomorrow to the Ohio border.

Ribbon-snipping ceremonies near the point where the four-lane divided super-highway stops short at an Ohio cornfield won't send a flood of autos and trucks pouring into Ohio with no place to go.

Final touches to the newly-completed western end of the Pennsylvania Turnpike will keep traffic off the new extensions until about Dec. 15. And the states of Ohio and Pennsylvania have built an access road which will take traffic off the turnpike near the state line and route it to existing highways in Ohio.

Iran's Premier Wins Smashing Confidence Vote

Decision To Delay Elections Reversed

TEHRAN, Iran, Nov. 25. (AP)—Premier Mohammed Mossadegh won a smashing vote of confidence, 90-0, today after a weeping appeal for support. It was his first visit to parliament since he returned from the United States.

The Majlis (lower house of parliament) obediently reversed its earlier decision to delay parliamentary elections from Nov. 21 until Dec. 18.

Opposition Leader Jamal Imami was threatened with death and nearly mobbed by demonstrators outside parliament for making a bitter speech against the old premier. Mossadegh was cheered hysterically.

Mossadegh, in his table-pounding speech, flayed the British as usual, praised Americans in the cities he visited, and told the Majlis:

No Compromise On Oil

1. He wanted national elections to the Majlie immediately for a bold test of his oil nationalization regime among the people.

2. There would be no compromise with the British on the oil question and the 19,000,000 Iranians must tighten their belts and wage a battle of austerity with the British.

3. He failed to negotiate a settlement of the six-months-old oil dispute but Iranians must make a real effort to exploit and sell their oil.

4. Things look favorable for financial aid from the United States.

15 Members Abstain

Fifteen Majlis members abstained on the vote of confidence, but Mossadegh had it almost entirely his own way. The only concession to the opposition was a 57-22 vote letting Imami speak against the premier. Imami took a half hour.

In an atmosphere, super-heated with emotion whipped up by the public welcome a quarter-million Iranians gave Mossadegh Friday after his 47 days abroad, an old man threw himself under the premier's car and pulled out a big knife to cut his throat in token of oriental-style sacrifice. The old man was rescued and restrained by police.

Inflation Is No. 1 Foe, Baruch Says

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP) — Bernard Baruch was quoted by Sen. Maybank (D-SC) today as saying inflation is "this country's No. 1 enemy and, unless halted, will destroy the taxpayers."

Maybank said Elder Statesman Baruch also told him in a telephone conversation that Congress should strengthen the economic controls law when it reconvenes in January.

Maybank is chairman of the Senate Banking Committee, which handles economic legislation. He also heads the Senate-House "watchdog" committee on defense series of public hearings tomorrow on wage-price curbs and other emergency controls.

The first witness will be Price Director Michael V. DiSalle. He will be followed by Manly Fleischmann, chief of the Defense Production Administration and the National Production Authority.

The joint committee has asked DiSalle for a report on operation of the revised economic controls law Congress enacted last July. In signing that law, President Truman criticized it sharply and asked for quick repeal of certain provisions which he said would make it more difficult to control inflation.

Chevalier To Try Again

CANNES, France, Nov. 25. (INS) —French Singer Maurice Chevalier said today that he soon will apply for a visa in a new attempt to reenter the United States.

Four Rescued After Week In Snowbound Sierra Cabin

JACKSON, Calif., Nov. 25 (AP)—A half-starved family of four—including a one-year-old baby — was brought to safety and a chicken dinner today after a week snowbound in a High Sierra cabin.

All they had eaten since last Monday was a can of syrup and a few scraps of food left over by summer occupants. The syrup they doled out to the baby.

The group had broken into the cabin when their auto stalled in a snowstorm last Monday en route from their San Jose, Calif., home to Reno.

The four rescued last night from the cabin, just west of 8,600-foot-high Kit Carson Pass, are Ralph Hilton, 41; his wife, Lillian, 40; their daughter, Betty, 16; and the baby, Ronald Hilton, a grandson of the Hiltons.

"I never expected to see my baby alive," declared Robert Hilton, 21, in an emotional outburst when the rescue party was brought from the wintry fastness. Ground parties working from each end of the pass reached the four late last night.

The Hiltons had seen low-flying search planes flying overhead earlier but the planes did not spot them.

Ike Greets Newcomers

Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, commander of Atlantic pact defense forces in Europe, reviews troops of the honor guard as he welcomed units of the 28th Infantry Division on their arrival at Bremerhaven, Germany. The 28th is the second U. S. division sent to Europe recently to strengthen the defense forces there.

Eisenhower Flies To Rome To Lay European Defense Plans Before Pact Council

ROME, Nov. 25 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower flew in from Paris today to lay speed-up defense plans before the Atlantic pact council as informants disclosed a French plan to raise a European army of nearly 1,000,000 men.

With Eisenhower was W. Averell Harriman, director of the mutual aid agency, who hopes to get from the Allies an estimate of how much American aid they will need in the coming year.

Aides said Eisenhower will give the eighth assembly of the 30-month-old alliance his assessment of just what it has to do to hold the Reds from starting any adventure in Western Europe.

The best information is that he will report 24 divisions on hand, some ill-equipped, and will ask for 40 divisions, all fully equipped and ready for combat, by the end of 1952 (an acceleration over original plans), and 70 or 80 divisions by the end of 1954.

Several Western military leaders said privately they are convinced the Communists want a truce in Korea and that one will be arranged soon. They said a truce would affect their plans because within three months after a cease-fire badly needed arms could be diverted to this theater to speed the buildup for peace through strength.

Eisenhower will list his needs in terms of divisions, guns, tanks and planes tomorrow before the Council of Ministers. On Tuesday French Foreign Minister Robert Schuman will report the results of the six-nation parley in Paris on a projected European army.

Aides said his report contains these highlights: The six nations—France, West German, Italy, Belgium, Luxembourg and Holland—believe they can have an integrated army of 50 divisions, or nearly 1,000,000 men, by 1854, or 18 months after their parliaments approve the plan.

This force would be incorporated into the Eisenhower command. It would be hammered into being by a European civilian defense commission, composed of commissioners from the six countries.

Franchot, Barbara Go Nightclubbing

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Nov. 25 (AP)—Temporarily, anyway, the hot and cold love affair of Franchot Tone and Barbara Payton was warmed up again today.

They spent a cozy evening at dinner and a nightclub in their first public appearance together since she stormed out of the house last Monday in a bitter row which resulted in Tone suing her for divorce.

Early this morning, they emerged from Romanoff's restaurant after a lengthy tete-a-tete which onlookers described as highly amicable. He helped her into her convertible, climbed behind the wheel in response to her whispered, "come on, honey," and drove away into the night.

Whether all this meant a reconciliation in their tempestuous 58-day marriage was uncertain.

Disease Spreads In Flooded Italy

ROVIGO, Italy, Nov. 25. (AP)—Disrupted sewage systems, weakened buildings and a lack of drinking water posed new threats today in the flooded Po valley. Health army and police officials opened an intensified campaign to save thousands from spreading disease and building collapses.

More than 160,000 persons have been made homeless by the floods, which started 17 days ago, and the unofficial death toll has climbed past 150. Damage is counted in the hundreds of millions of dollars.

Flood victims clinging to rooftops and staying forlornly in the upper stories of flooded houses were being removed today by authorities. Many had to be convinced that they were in danger of being buried in the collapse of water-weakened homes or subject to a plague of typhoid before they would leave.

Typhoid and other diseases were reported spreading from broken sewage systems in the Po delta, where the greatest damage has resulted from the North Italy floods.

W. Averell Harriman, U. S. director of mutual security, arrived in Rome today for North Atlantic Treaty Organization meetings with word that $1,000,000 will be made available at once to help the Italian government buy medicines and other supplies for flood victims.

General Air Search For Plane Abandoned

ROME, Nov. 25 (AP)—The general air search for an American C-47 transport plane missing since Nov. 19 on a flight from Munich to Belgrade was abandoned tonight.

At Reviso, U. S. Air Force search headquarters north of Venice, Capt. Marshall Frederickson said a skeleton organization comprising a helicopter, two other planes and a ground party would remain there to run down any rumors or reports on the missing craft and its crew of four.

Ten planes flew over Yugoslav territory and the Italian Alps in the last day of the general search Sunday, he said.

Ex-Congressman Dies

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 25. (AP)—Raymond J. Cannon, 60, one-time congressman, professional ball player and criminal lawyer, died in his sleep at his home today.

Justice Dept. Pledges To Help Tax Probers

McGrath Indicates House Subcommittee To Be Given Access To Department Files

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP) — Attorney General J. Howard McGrath, pressed by a House committee for some files on tax cases, said tonight his intention is that "there will be complete cooperation between the Justice Department and the committee.

A House committee headed by Rep. King (D-Calif) investigating Internal Revenue Bureau scandals has sought access to some Justice files.

Announcing "clarification" of the department's position McGrath said in a statement:

"The attorney general intends that there will be complete cooperation between the department and the King subcommittee.'

Full Access Not Promised

McGrath did not specifically say he would grant the committee full access to Justice files.

His only desire, McGrath said, "is and has been to see that the committee is given every help to properly complete its work and yet reserve the procedures and confidences of the department necessary to the successful administration of justice."

The attorney general further said he has communicated with Chairman King (D-Calif) and said he would assume personal responsibility for the release and furnishing of information to that committee.

A House Ways and Means subcommittee headed by King already had obtained from the Internal Revenue Bureau the complete records of more than a dozen cases in which it it interested.

Truman Made No Promises

These reportedly are cases referred to the Justice Department for prosecution following bureau investigation.

What the committee has been after is a record of Justice Department action. The department instead offered a synopsis of action in individual cases but not the complete files.

King discussed a committee request for the Justice files with President Truman by telephone several days ago.

King said then he was satisfied the President would grant the request.

But Mr. Truman later told reporters he made no promises.

Five Die In Crash Of Freight Trains

ORCHARD, Idaho, Nov. 25 (AP) — a westbound Union Pacific freight train rammed headon into a waiting eastbound freight today, killing five crewmen and piling wreckage 30 feet high.

The impact toppled a seldom-used coal chute onto the wreckage.

Fire which followed the crash was quickly extinguished but the bodies of four of the dead crewmen were burned beyond recognition.

Five crewmen, including the head brakeman of the eastbound train who had gotten off to help throw a switch, escaped without injury.

T. R. Royter, head brakeman, had left the eastbound train intending to help westbound crewmen throw a switch to send their train onto a siding, in this village 25 miles east of Boise. But the westbound train failed to stop. No one here could say why.

Railroad spokesmen said the westbound train was moving only 25 to 30 miles an hour. They blamed the great damage on the heavy coal cars the train was pulling.

Md. Fire Chiefs Elect

BALTIMORE, Nov. 25. (AP)—Bladensburg Fire Chief William Perry was reelected president of the Maryland Fire Chiefs Association here today as the group met for its annual convention.

Charles Burton, Landover Hill, was named secretary, and C. P. Dill, Earleigh Heights, was elected vice president.

National Debt's Legal Limit May Be Exceeded Next Year

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25. (AP)—The national debt next year is expected to push—if not pass—the present legal limit of $275,000,000,000.

Barring changes in the picture Secretary of the Treasury Snyder will ask Congress to hike the debt ceiling.

Federal indebtedness is just beginning to rise rapidly under the impetus of defense spending. By the end of November the debt is expected to be over $259,000,000,000, an increase of $4,000,000,000 since April and the highest in four and a half years.

The size of the national debt affects everybody. New government borrowing tends to fan inflation; it can be a major factor in inflation. Big government spending bids up prices.

Interest payments on loans will take about ten cents out of every tax dollar put up this year—almost $6,000,000,000.

If official forecasts on spending and tax receipts are about right, the debt should climb close to $262,500,000,000 by next June. Then will follow six months of expected peak deficits which could push indebtedness to the $275,000,000,000 figure.

That increase of $4,000,000,000 in the past seven months amounts to a boost of $21 for each man, woman and child in the nation. At $275,000,000,000, the debt would be $1,773 for each person.

Diesels Meet Head-On Near Alabama Town

60 Are Injured; Coach Telescoped

WOODSTOCK, Ala., Nov. 25 (AP)—The Louisville & Nashville's Crescent crashed head-on into the Southern Railway's Southerner today and killed at least 18 persons. About 60 others were injured.

A Southern Railway spokesman said, "it will be a miracle if less than 20 are dead."

Ten bodies were recovered. At least three other bodies were located in a telescoped coach of the north-bound Southerner. A trainman said this coach was carrying negroes.

The two Diesel engines met head-on at a railroad overpass one mile north of Woodstock, about 30 miles southwest of Birmingham, in mid-afternoon.

Engine Driven Back 90 Feet

The impact drove the engine of the Southerner, which was moving slowly, back about 90 feet from the locomotive of the southbound Crescent.

The Crescent's baggage car and first coach plunged down a 40-foot fill. The coach's shattered ends came to rest atop the baggage car. Other cars of the two trains remained on the track and passengers in them were mostly only shaken up.

The Southern Railway reported at Washington that the engineer of the Southerner was killed.

The Crescent engineer, Cecil Love, Birmingham, suffered a partially amputated right hand and was listed in serious condition at a Bessemer, Ala., hospital.

Scores of ambulances from cities within a 40-mile radius sped to the scene. The highway patrol was hampered by thousands of automobiles that clogged the highways and slowed rescue vehicles.

Crescent Going 65 MPH

There were 210 passengers on the northbound Southerner, which had stopped in Woodstock to allow the southbound Southerner to pass. Both are all-coach trains operating between New York and New Orleans.

The Crescent, a streamlined coach and pullman train, was also running between New York and New Orleans.

The southbound Southerner passed at Woodstock, and the northbound train pulled into the track ahead of the Crescent. A spokesman for the Southern Railway estimated the speed of the southbound Crescent at 65 miles per hour.

The Crescent had been rerouted because a barge struck and damaged a bridge near New Orleans early today.

Fired Tax Fraud Prosecutor Will Testify In Probe

Caudle Faces Quiz About Wife's Coat

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP)—T. Lamar Caudle, fired from his job as chief tax fraud prosecutor, will be the star witness tomorrow as congressional investigators switch from scandals in the Internal Revenue Bureau to air the handling of criminal tax cases.

Caudle is to testify in a public hearing before a House Ways and Means subcommittee. Since it began its work, there have been more than two dozen suspensions, discharges or resignations by tax officials. Chairman King (D-Cal) has said he wants to know why "so many" fraud cases recommended by tax agents for court action have been dropped "at higher levels."

Probe Developments Expected

At the same time Internal Revenue Commissioner John B. Dunlap indicated further developments soon in the San Francisco, New York and Detroit phases of the inquiry, based on the bureau's own investigations there. Dunlap told a reporter he expects to have an announcement this week on the situation in San Francisco where Collector of Internal Revenue James G. Smyth and six aides are under suspension and two others have been fired.

The Washington Star said House investigators planned to question Caudle about reports that a New York lawyer, who formerly practiced in Washington, paid $900 of the purchase price of a mink coat which Caudle's wife bought at wholesale for $2,400 two years ago.

Mrs. Caudle Questioned

Mrs. Caudle, the Star said, was questioned about the matter in a closed session of the committee yesterday, and her husband was asked about it in another secret session earlier.

Neither the ousted Justice Department official nor his wife would comment.

Caudle resigned as chief of the Justice Department's tax division Nov. 16 at President Truman's request. The announcement from Key West where the President is on vacation said Mr. Truman acted because of "outside activities" by Caudle which were considered incompatible with his duties.

Five Children Perish When Trailer Burns

MARTINSBURG, W. Va., Nov. 25 (AP)—A scorched baby doll and the charred skeleton of a tiny trailer home were among the few ruins left today by a fire that took the lives of five children.

The mother, 38-year-old Mrs. Helen Price, who said she was browsing around in the city dump at the time of the tragedy, was in a local hospital for treatment of shock.

The victims were two-year-old twins, Edward Vernon and Charles Ted; Josephine, 5; Robert Lee, 6; and Donald Eugene, 9.

They died late yesterday afternoon when a fire of undetermined cause broke out in the six by 12 foot rented trailer where they lived with their mother.

Taft Will Blast Election Tactics

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP) — Armed with 72 exhibits and a 22,000-word statement, Sen. Taft (R-Ohio) goes before a Senate committee tomorrow to blast at Democratic and labor union tactics in the 1950 Ohio senatorial campaign.

Taft, a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination next year, is expected to tell a Senate Elections subcommittee that unfair and defamatory charges were hurled against him in his successful bid for reelection.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Gillette (D-Iowa) also is looking into charges by Joseph T. Ferguson, the defeated Democratic candidate, that undue amounts of money were spent in Taft's behalf. Ferguson will get a chance to testify later.

Exhibits marshalled by Taft were reported to include pamphlets and other material charging, among other things, that he was associated with Communists, a charge the senator vigorously denied.

Taft is expected to offer recommendations for changes in the election laws to cover both defamatory literature and excessive expenditures.

Iwo Jima Marines' Commander Dies

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP) — Brig. Gen. Harry B. Liversedge, 57, whose 28th Marine Regiment figured in the historic "raising of the flag" on Iwo Jima in World War II, died today at the Navy Medical Center in Bethesda, Md.

The Iwo Jima campaign produced perhaps the most famous picture of the conflict, Associated Press photographer Joe Rosenthal's shot of a group from the 28th's "Easy" Company raising the Stars and Stripes over Mount Suribachi on Feb. 23, 1945. Liversedge's own part in the operation won him a gold star in lieu of a second Navy Cross.

Manila's Lacson Says U. S. Has No Foreign Policy

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 23 (AP)—Mayor-elect Arsenio Lacson of Manila told a news conference today that the United States has no foreign policy and has lost its leadership in Asia.

He also said he did not believe the newly-elected Philippine Senate would ratify the Japanese peace treaty, whose reparations clause he described as too vague.

He added that the Filipino people do not believe the Japanese can be trusted.

Lacson was asked whether Gen. MacArthur really had "democratized" the Japanese, and he replied sharply: "He should have first deanimalized them."

Lacson, elected in the recent Nacionalista Party victory sweep in the islands, came to this country to study municipal government before he takes his new office.

He said he planned to carry out reforms in Manila's government.

"Our city hall down there stinks," he commented. "It's worse than Tammany Hall." He also said he would reorganized the police department, and declared it presently "has alliances with the underworld."

Lacson described John Foster Dulles, who prepared the Japanese peace treaty,, as "very dull indeed."

"In the begining—in 1945—you could have had Asia for the asking," Lacson said. "This leadership, however, was dissipated because of a foreign policy which was no foreign policy at all. To be brutal about it, you have no foreign policy." He added, however, that leadership still could be regained by the Economic Cooperation Administration which he said "could still turn the trick."

But if there is another war, he said, "you would find us on your side."

Lady Astor Asks GBS Memorial

LONDON, Nov. 23 (AP)—American-born Lady Astor, a close friend of the late George Bernard Shaw, today urged the formation of a "Society To Save Shaw From His Friends."

Lady Astor spoke at the launching of a world-wide £250,000 ($700,000) Shaw memorial appeal.

She told a gathering of writers and artists something should be done about breaking Shaw's "ridiculous will." But Chancellor of the Exchequer Richard Butler, who was in the gathering, assured her that the government's legal advisers report the will is iron clad.

Lady Astor then revealed that before Shaw's death a year ago she had "tackled him on his will. I said leave me some money. In generations to come people would say 'that was the woman he loved!" She added:

"He was a most provocative but a satisfactory man. I loved him dearly. I loved him because he was such a great conservative and great aristocrat. Nobody has been more misrepresented. I think we should have another society to save Shaw from his friends."

But, she said, "he never gave anything to the people he loved. Here am I in reduced circumstances. I cannot forgive him for that wretched will."

Shaw left the bulk of his estates of £301,585 ($844,438), less taxes, to a fund for promoting a phonetic 40-letter alphabet which was one of his pet projects during his later years.

JOYFUL REUNION—David Yerke, 28, holds a happy reunion with his wife, Douglas, and daughter, Sharon, 6, after a six-year lapse during which he aparently was an amnesia victim. Yerke disappeared from his boat on a sponge-fishing expedition off Tarpon Springs, Fla., and was presumed lost overboard. He regained part of his memory following a slight paralytic stroke in New Orleans where he was working and phoned his father in Detroit who then phoned the news to Douglas in Tarpon Springs.

Father, Given Up For Dead, Daughter Get Acquainted

DETROIT, Nov. 23 (AP)—A father was getting acquainted here today with a daughter who couldn't remember the day he vanished nearly six years ago.

Since, he had been given up for dead by his family.

He is David Yerke, 28, who vanished from his sponge-fishing boat without a trace in the Gulf of Mexico off Tarpon Springs, Fla., Dec. 26, 1945.

The daughter is Sharon, who was only a few weeks old at the time.

They were united here this week, after, the father told his family, his memory partially returned in New Orleans. The daughter came by plane with her mother, Douglas, 24.

The pretty Mrs. Yerke, who had lived with her mother in Florida since Yerke's disappearance, isn't pressing him to remember what happened for fear it might cause a setback.

"I'm just so happy—and so are David's parents, and his brothers and sisters—that's enough," she sighed. "He's still so very tired, nervous and easily upset. But he seems to be improving slowly.

"We can wait until the fog clears from his mind. There's no hurry. We're together again."

The family was united at the home of David's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Yerke, in suburban Grosse Pointe Woods.

David telephoned his brother, Herman, from New Orleans Nov. 11 and arrived here by train Nov. 14. The wife, notified a week ago, got here Monday with Sharon.

David said his memory started to return about a month ago when he suffered a partial stroke of paralysis. At the time he was working as an orderly in a New Orleans convelescent home. He said he remembered his name and that of his parents, but nothing that had happened in the six years before.

David says his memory still has large gaps and he is under the care of physicians, but his wife believes he may recall details of the missing years eventually.

Badman, Found Sane, Faces Death Penalty

EL CENTRO, Cal., Nov. 23 (INS) — A Superior Court jury today found that William E. Cook, 23-year-old desperado, was sane at the time he killed Robert E. Dewey, Seattle salesman, on the desert last January.

The verdict confronted the young badman with the prospect of being sentenced to death in the gas chamber, for earlier in the proceedings his attorney withdrew a plea of not guilty and went to trial solely on a plea of not guilty by reason of insanity.

Judge Luray Mouser set next Friday for the passing of sentence.

Cook already was serving a 300-year sentence at Alcatraz for the massacre of the five members of the Carl Mosser family in Missouri a year ago.

Grounds For Divorce

WORCESTER, Mass., Nov. 23 (AP) —Peter G. Montville, 47, of Oxford, got a divorce today after testifying his wife was cruel and abusive.

Montville said she drank his liquor and then made up the difference by filling the bottles with water.

Hunter Kills Two Deer With One Shot

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, Minn., Nov. 23 (AP) —Eldor Teufer said today he saw one deer, shot it, and discovered he had killed two deer with the one bullet.

The Northome, Minn., man provided a witness too. The story was verified by Fran Torres, International Falls businessman.

Teufer said he downed a doe 150 yards away with a single shot. The bullet pierced the animal about 10 inches below the back, puncturing the lungs.

And then, Teufer said, the bullet kept going. The .35 calibre cartridge struck a second doe, 25 feet behind the first, and lodged in the backbone.

Teufer and Torres said they hadn't seen the second animal until they went to pick up the first.

Short-Lived Lights

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 23 (AP) — New traffic lights started blinking at a suburban Haverford Township intersection today.

One hour and 20 minutes later they went out. A motorist knocked one down and put them all out of commission.

Iranian Premier Welcomed Home

TEHRAN, Iran, Nov. 23 (AP) — Premier Mohammed Mossadegh returned home today to a flowery and lyrical mass welcome after 47 days aboard in quest of money and in defense of his national oil policies.

Throngs estimated to total 250,000 hailed him as a hero for resisting efforts in the United States to budge him from the decision to produce oil on an all-Iranian basis.

Mossadegh was then rushed to the royal palace, where he conferred five and a half hours with Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi. With them was the shah's pro-western minister of court, Hossein Ala. The unprecedented length and circumstances of the meeting stirred speculation that the fate of Mossadegh's regime may be in the balance over the financial situation.

There was no official disclosure of what they talked about.

The long shutdown of the old royalty-producing Anglo-Iranian Oil Company has nearly depleted Iran's treasury. In Washington, after visits with President Truman and other U. S. officials, the frail premier won a promise of serious consideration on his appeal for a big U. S. government loan. Otherwise, he got a relatively small credit of $8,750,000 from the International Monetary Fund.

The repaving begins about one mile north of here.

Holiday Hospitality Returned By Theft

SOUTH KINGSTOWN, R. I., Nov. 23 (AP)—"Mr. and Mrs. Smith of New York City" and their two children pulled into a motor court Wednesday night and asked for a cabin.

Because it was the eve of Thanksgiving, and "Mr. and Mrs. Smith" said they would have to observe the holiday away from home, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon G. Logan gave them a housekeeping cabin for the price of a regular cabin and invited them to enjoy the holiday there.

This morning "Mr. and Mrs. Smith" and their two children left. They didn't thank the Logans for their Thanksgiving hospitality. Instead, the Logans told police, they took with them: All the kitchenware, a set of china, one bedspread, a mirror and all the bathroom accessories.

Patrolman Acquitted

BALTIMORE, Nov. 23 (AP) — Patrolman Jerome Glass as acquitted today of a bribery charge by a criminal court jury which deliberated only six minutes.

Holiday Accidents Claim Lives Of 132

[By The Associated Press]

At least 132 persons died in accidents during the Thanksgiving Day period—99 of them in traffic mishaps.

The number of auto deaths was less than the 123 in 1949 and 107 for the day in 1947. But it exceeded the Thanksgiving holiday traffic tolls of three postwar years—1950 when 94 died, 1948 when the toll was 86, and 1946 when it was 69.

The National Safety Council reported the grand toll of traffic deaths from 1899 through Thanksgiving Day this year reached 996,500 and estimated that the 1,000,000th death would come at the end of the third week in December—just before Christmas.

Per capita coffee consumption in the 1935-39 period was 14 pounds, but rose to 18.6 pounds in 1949.

Truman Mum On Rogers' Demand

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 25 (AP)—The White House withheld comment today on a demand by Rep. Edith Nourse Rogers (R-Mass) for a complete statement of facts from President Truman on what she called the "botched handling" of the Korean atrocity charges.

Presidential Secretary Joseph Short told news conference questioners he had "no comment" either on the developments in the atrocity reports or on Mrs. Rogers' statement.

Mrs. Rogers said yesterday that the "errors and contraditions" and the "botched handling" of the charges require the President to make "a clear and unmistakable statement of the facts at the earliest moment."

Her demand was prompted by the disclosure that Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway had reported to the United Nations as early as Nov. 12 that his headquarters had received and was investigating reports that 8,000 American prisoners of war had been slain by their Communist captors.

Hero's Father Returns Scroll To Truman

GLENWOOD SPRINGS, Colo., Nov. 25 (AP)—Capt. Eugene R. Guild, retired, has returned to the White House a scroll accompanying the posthumous award of the Navy Cross to his son, Marine Lt. John N. Guild.

Guild has been carrying on a one-man war against the President for "appeasement and belly crawling in Korea."

He asked President Truman if his criticism of the administration and its policy kept his son from receiving the medal of honor.

"Those noble words on the scroll may be used only by those who earn the right," Guild wrote. "By one Marine speaking of another; by a Lincoln grieving for one of his soldiers. Your use of these words will heighten, not lessen, the anger of those who saw their sons die for a policy of fear and appeasement.

"You honor neither the words nor our son by using them. We return the scroll to you.

"May God forgive you; we cannot."

"Dinger" Of A Sermon Pleases Truman

KEY WEST, Fla., Nov. 25. (AP)—President Truman warmly congratulated a young Baptist chaplain today for what he called a "dinger" of a sermon condemning "uninformed" and "malicious" critics.

Leaving the little white Navy chapel with Mrs. Truman and his daughter, Margaret, at the conclusion of Protestant divine services, he grasped the hand of Lt. Commander Harold F. Menges and remarked:

'Well, that was a dinger, chaplain."

The chaplain, flushed with pride, then turned to greet the president's wife and daughter.

Cheaper Pork, More Beef On Way, AMI Says

CHICAGO, Nov. 26 (AP) — Cheaper pork and more beef is on the way to your butcher, the American Meat Institute said today.

A seasonal spurt in the amount of pork coming to market has dropped the wholesalep rice of that meat 20 per cent (about $4.50 a hundred pounds) below the August level, the institute said.

It said hog slaughter in the first part of November was up 67 per cent from August and was 11 per cent higher than the same time a year ago.

Stassen-For-President Headquarters Opened

WASHINGTON, Nov. 25 (AP) — Supporters announced the opening of Stassen-for-president headquarters here today while professing not to know whether they will have a candidate in the field.

Daniel C. Gainey, Owatonna, Minn., headquarters manager, told reporters with a grin that he and others hope to "persuade" Harold E. Stassen, former Minnesota governor, to bid again for the Republican nomination he didn't win in 1948.

Department Store a short distance from Frostburg's Main Street before 11 p. m. Saturday.

Frostburg Police Chief Benjamin H. Thomas stated he was informed that Kreider was in uniform, wearing an overcoat and ready to go on duty on his regular beat at 11 p. m., when he was accosted by Stevenson in front of the Palace Theatre with the request that he step down in the alley for a talk. The two men then engaged in a scuffle, Thomas said. Kreider was later found bleeding from facial wounds and taken to Miners Hospital by William Spates, manager of the Palace Theatre and Lipnel Norris, a mail carrier.

According to nurses at Miners Hospital, Stevenson was taken to the hospital by Frank Harris, Green Street.

After being notified of the fight, Police Commissioner Myers designated another officer to serve on the 11 p. m. to 7 a. m. beat.

Kreider has been serving on the Frostburg police force for 18 years.

Hospital attendants said the condition of both Kreider and Stevenson was "good" last night.

moving east would bring several hours of rain and sleet to Western Virginia, the interior of Maryland, Pennsylvania, northern and eastern Ohio and northern and eastern West Virginia.

It said the sleet should turn to rain in three or four hours.

State Roads Commission officials said crews were working in Frostburg, Cumberland, Green Ridge, Hancock and Hagerstown, salting and cindering highways as the thin skim of ice formed on the roads, especially in higher areas.

To the east of Cumberland, SRC officials said, the ice was forming chiefly on the mountain tops, with patrols on duty and ready to meet with any icing conditions.

Relief Is Slated

Ice was reported as far east as South Mountain, between Frederick and Washington Counties.

By 9 p. m. roads west of Cumberland were reported to be in fair condition as the road crews kept patrolling. Gradually rising temperatures were expected to bring an end to the freezing conditions before morning.

Rain began to fall in Cumberland about 5:45 p. m. in below freezing temperatures. Ice appeared in higher sections of the city but police reported no trouble.

By 8 p. m., when the thermometer stood at 30, ice was forming on grass and trees here.

Elmer E. Davis Elected Head Of National RIU

Elmer E. Davis, this city, was re-elected president of the Railroad Industrial Union Saturday at the national convention of the independent union here.

The union represents engineers, firemen and hostlers on the Western Maryland Railway and has over 500 members, according to Davis.

Other officers named were J. W. Kirby, of Baltimore, vice president; and J. E. Boles, of Baltimore Pike, this city, secretary-treasurer.

Named to the board were O. C. McDowell, of Elkins, W. Va.; R. P. Junk, of Connellsville, Pa.; S. M. Morris, of Baltimore, H. R. Tritch, of Hagerstown, and R. G. Curry, Cumberland.

Davis said a resolution was passed providing for a general committee to handle grievance from a division basis upwards.

The members of the general committee will be named by the national officers at a meeting to be held later. Rules and procedures which will be followed by the general committee have not been completed, Davis pointed out.

It was also reported by Davis that delegates of the RIU from Baltimore claim they have obtained the signatures of 70 percent of the yard switchmen of the Western Maryland in Baltimore and have authorized the RIU as their bargaining representative.

Davis said it will be necessary to obtain a majority of the switchmen from the entire system before a petition for a representative election is requested.

The RIU was formed here four years ago from a local which had formerly been affiliated with District 50 of the United Mine Workers of America.

By BOB CONSIDINE

NEW YORK, Nov. 25 (INS) — The basic concept of an international crime syndicate, as exposed by the Kefauver committee and its chief counsel, Rudolph Halley, is refuted in one of the year's most exciting cops-and-robbers book, "Murder, Inc.," by Burton Turkus and Sid Feder. They say the Mafai has been extinct as a power since 1931. Kefauver said otherwise.

Turkus was the prosecutor of that loathsome mob of murderers a decade ago and put seven of them in the chair. Feder is a first-class reporter who won fame as a sports-writer and war correspondent. Their book represents 18 months of research and writing and is published by Farrar, Straus and Young.

The material is fresh enough to include some hitherto unpublished accounts of the crimes of Willie Moretti, the Jersey mobster who suffered a severe case of rigor mortis a few weeks ago.

It takes more than a wry look at Ambassador Bill O'Dwyer's association with hoodlums during his years as Brooklyn D. A. and later as mayor and general. Matter of fact, it takes a wry look at Halley, who leaped to fame and an important political post in New York as a result of his dramatic televised prosecution of Frank Costello, Jim Moran, Joe Adonis and others during last spring's Kefauver hearings.

• — • — •

Turkus and Feder have exciting movie material, I think, in their account of the plot to murder Thomas E. Dewey, a fearless public servant who never went in much for bodyguards even at a time when he was prosecuting some of the vilest and most dangerous public enemies.

It's the first really comprehensive story of the strange death of Abe Reles I've read. The hoodlum who would have sent even more members of the syndicate to the chair jumped, fell accidentally or was pushed out of a Coney Island hotel at a time when he was being "guarded" by a dozen New York cops.

The Mafia died, so far as its international control of crime is concerned, 20 years ago when its top boy, Lucky Luciano (who lived in the Waldorf Towers in considerable splendor) ordered a purge of 40 of its lieutenants.

There are some interesting sidelights on Costello, the perennial crime-investigation figure who soon will be confronted by a stern and highly competent new prosecutor, Myles J. Lane, ex-grid star who is U. S. attorney for the southern district of New York and who assisted in the tremendous trial and conviction of the atomic-spying Rosenbergs.

"Gambling had a ring of class to Costello," the authors write. "Several years later, he was to tell Bob Considine, the versatile New York newspaperman (aw, felias!), about it.

"'If you say that I am a gambler, you will be right,' the prime minister confessed. 'But I am an uncommon gambler. 'An uncommon gambler is a man who accommodates common gamblers.'

"You may not believe this but Costello really moved into the bookmaking side of gambling legitimately. Before the legalization of parimutuel machine betting in 1939, bookmaking at New York race tracks was as lawful as going to church. One of the leading bookies in the sanctioned betting ring at the tracks was Johnny Ferrone. Costello simply bought a piece of Johnny's play, and was a bona-fide partner — all on the level.

"Of course, that doesn't mean the boys got out of the trade after 1939. In fact, fellows like Frank Erickson, who is probably the biggest bookmaker of our time, have handled handsome action since then, what with clients who bet as much as $10,000 a day.

"In 1945, N. Y. City Investigations Commissioner Edgar Bromberger looked over Erickson's interests and found that the flabby-faced bookie had made bank deposits of over $30,000,0000 in a 12-year period. And in 1950, Erickson told a U. S. Senate gambling investigating committee — preceding the Kefauver committee—that his office in Cliffside Park, N. J., took 'layoff' bets from customers in all 48 states daily, handled some $12,500,000 annually and that he paid one man $20,000 annually just to put the money in the bank."

Pardon me, while I go out to find a co-signer for that $300 loan.

My New York

By MEL HELMER

William Holden

NEW YORK—Mr. William Holden, an earnest young movie performer who slowly has been fashioning himself into a good actor—in Sunset Boulevard, for instance, his work seemed somewhat sounder, if less flamboyant, than Gloria Swanson's —is beginning a new film and he has written to me for advice.

Mr. Holden is to play a newspaper reporter, and he doesn't want to make any mistakes about it. He wants his reporter to be the real thing.

"I refuse to believe," he writes, "that reporters scream headlines into the rewrite man's ear. I can go on record as saying that the newsmen I know take off their hats when they are indoors. When a reporter yells 'follow that car!' to a cabdriver, he doesn't stuff a hundred dollar bill in the Jehu's hand."

Mr. Holden asks my advice. He gets it.

In the first place, the reporter I am about to speak of is the New York brand. They grow them a bit differently in the hinterlands, but I think the breed is roughly the same everywhere. The biggest difference probably is that they make a little more money here, but then, the drinks are more expensive in New York and so they go home at night with just about as much over-all profit.

I think Mr. Holden has been deluded about reporters, as have hundreds of others these days. Early movies and plays like The Front Page, Clear All Wires and Gentlemen of the Press pictured the newspaperman as a kind of vague, charming, wistful, disordered drunk. Gradually some people began to protest this delineation. They claimed the reporter was being given an unnecessarily bad name. He was much less irresponsible and he only drank half as much, they claimed.

* * * *

THIS BRINGS IT ABOUT UP TO DATE and there now is a movement of a kind afoot to picture the reporter as a good family man who works from nine to five, reads book-club selections, has one glass of beer in Bleeck's and rakes the flower garden on Sundays.

It is true there are a number of New York newspapermen like this. It is equally true, however, that there are a great number of the other kind—the shiftless, idealist-turned-cynical, eccentric, delightful souls who more often than not can be found in the corner saloon. And, for Mr. Holden's information, a lot of reporters still sit around indoors with their hats on their heads. They figure they won't lose them that way.

The stark fact must be faced that a newspaperman is not an average man. If he were an average man, he'd be in a different business; he'd be a bank teller or a grocer or an accountant—some place where he'd make more money more consistently.

Nobody gets rich in this trade except a trained seal or two. Why does the reporter get into the rat race in the first place, then? Likely because he is a little offbeat. He is intrigued by the prospect of the ever-changing scene and he warms to the possibilities of crusading for good against evil.

If he is a writing kind of newspaperman, the thought of giving full rein to his fine Italian hand fascinates him. Mostly, however, I would say he drifts into the business because he feels for some undefined reason that he belongs in it. Never just to make a living.

* * * *

THE NEW YORK REPORTER can be, and is, a strange soul. Presidents and governors bore him and he rarely respects them. He is openly skeptical of the basic good in man and yet when no one is looking he reads the poems of Ernest Dowson. He reads the sport pages endlessly and yet can discuss the works of Proust with passable accuracy.

He always is going to take a crack at writing fiction and he never does. He is, summed up, a dazed, oddly naive, forlorn, bitter, seedy bravo who stumbles through life jerkily, driven by an insatiable curiosity and a deep, pitiful hope that the world is not as bad as he knows it to be. And he does wear his hat and occasionally tell the city editor where he can go. Don't sober him up too much, Mr. Holden. He is not an ordinary man.

Draft Boards To Use Buses

Cumberland draft boards will revert to chartered buses to transport draftees and registrants scheduled for pre-induction physical examinations at Martinsburg, W. Va., effective December 3.

Clerk Co-ordinator P. Emmett Fahey announced the change in transportation procedure after receiving orders from Selective Service headquarters in Baltimore.

Prior to the outbreak of World War II and during the conflict, inductees left from the Blue Ridge Bus Station. Later, however, the B. and O. and Western Maryland Railway were used.

New Procedure Noted

Beginning next month, Fahey said, men leaving for induction will report to draft board headquarters in the Union Street County Building at 7:15 a.m. After briefing, they will board a bus outside the building and depart at 8 o'clock.

Heretofore, inductees were called in on Friday afternoons for instructions subsequent to leaving for military service. The same method was used for registrants going for physical tests.

Now, Fahey pointed out, all will report to draft headquarters and then board buses there. Registrants slated for physical exams will return to Cumberland from Martinsburg on chartered buses.

Group To Leave

Since the Korean war began June 25, 1950, area men were sent for induction and physicals via train from Queen City Station.

Clarification on other issues involving the change in transportation—from train to bus—is expected in the near future.

Board No. 27 will send 16 draftees to Martinsburg on December 3. Board Nos. 28 and 29 will dispatch 11 each.

In the month-long campaign in the Wilderness in 1864, Union forces lost 50,000 men, the Confederates 32,000.

All American Lists Figures On Passenger Traffic Here

In an attempt to justify its position in requesting permission of the Civil Aeronautics Board to discontinue airline service here the All American Airways has submitted a list of figures showing that passenger traffic here has remained at a standstill.

The chart of the airline shows the number of passengers boarded here during the past two and one-half years in comparison with activity over the entire system. All American Airways states that the figures show total traffic activity has made tremendous strides, while the figures remain at a standstill in Cumberland. The increase in total, it is pointed out here, is partly due to an increase in the number of points served by the airline.

Paul West, Jr., director of public relations for the airline, states that this standstill in passenger traffic is due to conditions at the local airport. The airline can land only during daylight under visual flight rules. This, naturally, plays havoc with the airlines' scheduling, West stated.

Another point made is that certain conditions around the airport makes high percentage over-flight necessary. Using May of this year as an example, the airline stated they were forced to over-fly 12 percent of the scheduled stops here.

West said that when the company first applied for discontinuance of service here on July 11 the proposal was termed "regrettable" and it is still felt to be so.

During 1949 the airline carried 1,258 passengers from Cumberland; in 1950 the total was 1,433 while so far this year (with November and December still to be added) the total stands at 1,182 passengers.

From April through July this year the figures show a drop over the previous year, but during September and October a gain was noted over last year's business. Last month 117 passengers used All American service from the Cumberland airport. The August number was 152 and September 135. The biggest month's business since the airline started operations here was the August 1949 total of 201 passengers.

There are only two flights daily from the local port, one eastbound and another westbound. At one period here, there were six flights daily.

Clear As Mud

Somebody, it is good to read, is offering a prize for the best examples of "non-pedantic scholarship." Despite some notable exceptions, there is still a tendency on the part of scholars, technicians, scientists and other experts to consider lucidity either an unmanly weakness or a waste of effort.

Two prizes of $1,000 each, offered by the Folger Shakespeare Library in Washington, may provide enough incentive to accomplish the impossible. There is no law against dreaming, is there?

It is true, of course, that scholars dealing with difficult ideas cannot be expected to be understood as readily as a comic book. But the importance of this truism has been overrated, and it has become an excuse for writing that is incompetent and sloppy.

Scientists and philosophers may be justified, at times, in using special vocabularies to avoid imprecision. But difficulty of subject matter and precision of treatment are not what ordinarily make scholarly writing hard to read. More common causes are obscure, sloppy or downright incompetent writing, much of it stemming from contempt for people who will not willingly take the trouble to figure out what the author meant, no matter how badly he said it.

It is interesting to note that most writing of this sort is aimed at "captive" audiences. College textbooks presumably must be read by students who want to pass—though there are ways and means it is not necessary to mention. Scholars and other experts must read what is written in their fields to keep up to date. Scholarly writing pays poorly, anyhow, so why bother to write well?

There are a few reasons. There could be a larger audience for this stuff, if it were intelligibly written. Words are so closely allied to thought that those who express themselves badly are rarely thinking as well as they may imagine. Scholarship is less admired in this country than it could be. Scholars who take the trouble to express themselves clearly may be rewarded in unexpected ways.

Man Vs. Machine

How well can a machine play chess? There's a man in California who makes an electronic brain named CRC-102, which he insists can play perfect chess with never a mistake. But there's another fellow in Washington, who makes thinking machines himself and also plays chess—"quite badly," he says—who has offered to bet $1,000 he can checkmate CRC-102.

It is their speed that makes electronic brains valuable. Electronic machines, in which electric currents flow at a rate of 186,000 miles a second, can perform mathematical and other "thinking" operations hundreds of times faster than the human brain.

They can also operate without error—as long as the tubes, wires and circuits do not get out of order. But no mechanical brain built can think as well as a man can think.

Perhaps one could be built. But a machine that could outthink a man would need more electronic tubes than the brain has synapses. The size and cost of such a machine would be out of this world, and its practical value would be dubious. Such a machine, no doubt, could be fed coded data that could enable it to play chess better than any human being. But no such machine is likely to be built in the forseeable future.

But all that is claimed for CRC-102 is that he—that is, it—can scan all possible combinations for three moves ahead. Even poor chess players, with some experience, can occasionally figure out a four-move combination correctly.

Besides, CRC-102 weighs 500 pounds and costs $80,000. The human brain weighs only three pounds. So, if it were possible for CRC-102 to beat a man, it could still be maintained that man has a better brain, pound for pound.

Tag Reckless Drivers

As a deterrent to reckless driving, the proposal of New Jersey's Banking and Insurance Commissioner Gaffney to the Northeastern regional highway safety and motor vehicle conference is worth consideration. He would require that a red label be pasted on the windshield and rear window of any car whose driver-owner is convicted of violations tending to cause accidents.

To give effect to the plan every car at the start would bear green labels. Following the conviction of an owner, the green labels would be replaced by red labels. Failure to obey instructions regarding the labels or a second conviction within a year would result in revocation of the offender's driving license for two years in addition to fine or jail penalties.

Mr. Gaffney argues that the plan would tend to spur "healthy and constant impulses" on the part of the average driver, with its effectiveness imited only by the number of states adopting it. The commissioner would apply the red label to cases of excessive speed, passing on hills or on dangerous curves, moving into the wrong lane, driving through red lights or stop streets and driving too close to the car in front and at fast speed.

Some may object that the red labels, in effect, would be like the mark of Cain. But why shouldn't anyone guilty of the reckless acts enumerated be so stigmatized? They account for a majority of the nation's shocking total of highway fatalities.

Worst Blow To Date

If there is any comfort to be extracted from the latest announcement by the National Production Authority, it is to be found in the "assurance" that the coming cutback in civilian use of scarce commodities will be the last to be imposed upon the public. But these orders are always accompanied by statements to that effect.

Therefore this "promise" is not much consolation, nor does it inform anyone where he stands or enable him to govern his life accordingly.

The impact on the nation's economy is bound to be drastic. The new austerity program will affect practically all-segment of the population. It will result in a reduction in the manufacture of many civilian goods that now have a place in the average household, including refrigerators, cooking utensils, stoves, cutlery, furniture and radio and television sets.

It will, by NAP's own admission, cause business failures in several fields and so will result in increased unemployment.

All in all, it is the toughest blow of the kind that Americans have had since the days of the Second World War.

How To Keep Well

Children's Arches

Not all flat feet are painful and occasionally more distress is produced by high than low arches. We know that appearances can be deceiving and that discomfort in this area is caused by gradual weakening and stretching of the muscles and tendons. Hence the term, flat foot, is losing its popularity to the more descriptive expression, foot strain.

Foot trouble comes in many packages but growing children and young adults are most likely to encounter strain from weakness and laxness of the supporting structures. On standing, the feet flatten like pancakes, the toes point out, and the weight of the body is borne on the inside of the feet. The outcome is an awkward, ducklike, shuffling gait. Meanwhile, the youngster complains of pain and fatigue; he is clumsy and often begs to be carried.

The fault lies in the development of the foot. The normal child learns to stand by spreading his legs to maintain balance. At this time he is flatfooted; the ankles roll inward and the weight is shifted to the inner aspect of the feet. In time the arches begin to form and, as the muscles gain in strength and coordination, the child no longer needs to take such a wide-spread stance to remain upright. This shifts the weight to the outer border of the feet, provided the tot continues to exercise and strengthen the muscles and tendons by running, jumping, climbing, balancing, and tiptoeing. In addition, children learn that pointing the feet forward when maneuvering about permits faster running and better balancing.

However, the overweight child and those who dislike physical activity do not exercise as much. They are slower in picking up proper walking habits when the arches are developing. Unless corrected, weakness follows and the youngster is well on his way to acquiring strained feet.

Proper shoes often solve the problem. A heavy sole with a flexible shank is preferred. A one-eighth inch wedge is inserted into the inner aspect of the heel and sole to shift the weight to the outer side of the shoe. On walking or running, the feet become more flexible and roll from side to side. The short and long leg muscles of the calf get their much needed exercise and ultimately the arches are strengthened sufficiently to function properly.

Training exercises in walking also are helpful. Many children never have been taught to walk correctly with the toes straight ahead and balancing slightly on the outer border of the foot. Arch supports are required in others. The better types are made of felt and are fastened to the bottom of the shoes or are fitted to the individual feet by being cast on a mold of the feet and later fitted into the shoes.

RAW TONGUE—

Mrs. L. writes: What is the cause of sore and raw tongue? Riboflavin has not rid me of this condition.

REPLY

Anemia, lack of hydrochloric acid in the stomach, and inflammation of the tongue must be considered, in addition to a riboflavin deficiency. Now and then the entire vitamin B complex is needed and better results are obtained by taking other fractions of the entire complex. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on inflamed and burning tongue.

HEART VICTIM

H. T. writes: How do you feel when you have heart trouble?

REPLY

Some have chest pain; others develop shortness of breath or palpitation. Anxiety also is present in many cases.

SCIATIC NERVE PAIN

Mrs. E. writes: Is diet of any value in sciatica?

REPLY

No. Cases of sciatica are caused by a disturbance in the lower spine resulting from arthritis or injury.

SLOW GAIN

Mrs. L. Writes: My infant daughter gained only a pound in seven weeks since her birth. The doctor says she lacks enzymes. Will you please explain this to me.

REPLY

This is a disturbance in which the pancreas is involved and, altho the youngster eats well, weight gain does not occur. There are other symptoms to suggest the disease. On the other hand, if the child was born prematurely or is small, weight gain of one pound weekly would not be unusual.

CAVITY HEALING

H. J. writes: If the sputum test is negative in tuberculosis, does this mean that the lung cavity has healed?

REPLY

Not necessarily. It means that at the time the sputum test was made tubercle bacilli were not being dispatched from the lungs. The chest X-ray offers a better criterion of how healing is progressing.

The Pike And The 'Piker'

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Eisenhower Hedges In Chat With Congressmen; Acheson Advised Truman To Rebuff Auriol's Proposal; Army Tanks Have Turret Troubles.

WASHINGTON — Exuberant George Bender, the Ohio Congressman, popped the question to General Eisenhower during a two and one-half hour relaxed chat with the General in Paris.

Bender, a rootin'-tootin' Taft supporter, looked Ike in the eye and said with a grin: "General, is you or ain't you, and how?"

General Eisenhower's eyes twinkled but he made no direct reply. Instead he emphasized to Bender and three other visiting Congressmen the great importance of his job in Europe. It was vital to the safety of mankind to rearm Europe, the General said, no matter what individual sacrifices were involved.

Young Dick Bolling, the cleancut Kansas City Democrat, suggested in half-humorous vein: "General, if you do run for President, I am sure you will be much happier on the Democratic ticket."

Eisenhower did not answer that one either, but Rep. Leon Gavin, Pennsylvanian Republican, did, and in no uncertain terms.

"The Republican party is the only party of free enterprise," he said loudly and firmly. "The Democrats are all Socialists and you would not get along with them."

At another point in the conversation, Congressman Bender asked Ike: "What about that Arthur Krock story in the New York Times saying you and President Truman talked politics?"

This was the only time during the visit that the General appeared upset or irritated. "There was not a word of truth to the story," he said indignantly and with great firmness. He added that he could not understand why a reputable newsman would fall for "such a phony."

NOTE—Flying to Key West the other day, President Truman sat down in the compartment of the Presidential plane where his staff was working and point by point went over his luncheon conversation with General Eisenhower. He repeated that at no time had they discussed politics.

Two Presidents

Here is the inside story as to why President Truman coldly brushed aside French President Auriol's proposal for a new Big Four meeting.

Mr. Truman flatly turned down Auriol's idea after receiving an urgent cable from Secretary of State Acheson in Paris, stating that President Auriol had made the big four proposal without the approval of French Foreign Minster Schuman or of the French cabinet.

Furthermore, President Auriol, according to Acheson's cable, had tersely refused to eliminate the Big Four meeting idea from his speech even though U. S. Ambassador Jessup pleaded with him that the Russians would interpret it as a sign of weakness. Acheson therefore advised the President to rebuff the entire proposal, which was done.

Defective Tank Turrets

Last month the Army refused to accept a single medium (M-47) tank from its own Detroit Arsenal.

The arsenal produced more than a hundred of the new tanks but the Army was so strict with its own arsenal that not a single one passed inspection. In each case the Army complained that the turrets on the tanks failed to meet specifications. Requirements for the tank demand that the tank cannon be able to swing onto a target within six seconds—and remain on the target automatically while the tank continues to move in any direction.

While the rejected tanks could do this complex mechanical job, it took most of them nine or ten seconds instead of the required six.

Specialists from all over the country are now being called in to try to perfect the tank's traversing gear to meet Army demands. Meanwhile, the Detroit Arsenal will continue to turn out the faulty tanks on the practical theory that modifications can be made later when the vital three-second problem is licked.

Meanwhile, the dispute over the three seconds will probably be settled by a mock tank battle at Fort Knox.

NOTE—Our new light tank, the M-41, is having the same trouble with its turret mechanism.

Washington Pipeline

Price Boss Mike DiSalle will soon announce higher ceiling prices for practically all clothing. The new prices, however, won't mean a further squeeze on family budgets since most clothing is already selling below present ceiling prices. Manufacturers are more interested in a "floor" under prices than a ceiling on top of prices . . . Newsmen have nicknamed Arval Erikson, head of OPS meat pricing section, "Meat Head." . . . During the recent cold wave Price Enforcement Boss Ed Morgan bought a thermometer. He found that the temperature in his private office was down to 39 degress. Remarked a friend: "That's how some Senators feel about price controls." . . . Latest A-bomb explosions near Las Vegas will not cost the government so much money in broken windows. Last January the government paid $17,000 for new plaster and broken glass. Now damage will be less than $10,000.

Worse Than Berlin

American pilots have been running into worse flak over the tiny Korean village of Sananju than they encountered over Berlin during World War II.

Reason for the intense anti-aircraft fire is that the Communists are trying to build three air strips near Sananju. If these are completed, the Communists will move their MIG-15 fighters across the Yalu River for the first time in the entire Korean war and thus be closer to the front. In fact, this will put them in a position to hammer our front lines, whereas hitherto they have only fought defensively.

Or, in case of a truce and a freeze on arms going into Korea, the Communists would have their air force already inside Korea. Our planes are paying a terrific cost to keep these fields knocked out, but so far MIGs still have to stay on the other side of the Yalu.

No Bargaining

Jovial, tough-skinned Mike DiSalle, the government's price warden has learned that you can't satisfy all manufacturers even part of the time.

DiSalle's aides were discussing price controls on stoves and ranges at a meeting with industry spokesmen who kept demanding that prices be fixed by the "historic markup" formula. In other words, they wanted the traditional profit allowance above present production costs, while OPS chiefs argued for pre-Korean price levels.

However, one stove manufacturer was in no mood for bargaining.

"Pre-Korean!" he exploded. "I'm tired of all this gobbledegook. What you government guys want is an antediluvian price level."

Cooperation Without Compromise

My Friend, Rabbi Joshua L. Goldberg, has recently been appointed a captain in the Navy of the United States. Of course, captains are often appointed for the Navy, but not in the Chaplain Corps. This particular one is of the American saga.

Joshua Goldberg was born in Bobrouisk, a small town of Southern Russia, into a middle class Jewish household. He was reared in religious orthodoxy and in the spirit of his people, studying in Odessa and Tel Aviv.

In 1916 he came to the United States and enlisted in the Army in World War I. Because he knew no English, he was regarded as ignorant, possibly illiterate; that despite the fact that he knows many European and ancient languages. English he learned in Army barracks from soldiers and books.

After World War I, Joshua Goldberg went to college and studied to be a rabbi. He was called to pulpits and he engaged in communal activities until World War II faced this country. He was the first rabbi to enlist as a naval chaplain in that war. For about 10 years now he has devoted his life to the United States Navy.

There are many chaplains in the Army and the Navy, but none like Josh, as everybody calls him. He knows no other life. He has no other interest. When the war was over, most chaplains in the Naval Reserve returned to their congregations, but Josh continued in the Navy.

It had never before happened that a rabbi was made the chief chaplain of a naval district, but the time came when Catholics and Protestants demanded a recognition of Joshua Goldzerg's untiring and selfless services. And so he was appointed Chief Chaplain of the Third Naval District, which embraces New York, Connecticut, and the upper half of New Jersey.

The motto of the Navy's Chaplain Corps is "Cooperation Without Compromise." This slogan could be translated into "we all work together but hold on our own." Perhaps in no military service have the men of God come so close to each other, despite differences in creed and ritual, as in the United States Navy.

A spirit of understanding and tolerance moves these men to work together, stimulating a respect for American ideals. It is not a matter of routine; it is a uniting in a common cause; it is an anxiety to breathe into the boys the Holy Spirit of faith in God and love of country so that when their tour of service is ended, their sense of duty continues.

When it is realized that Rabbi Joshua Goldberg has only been an American since he enlisted in World War I, it is an astonishing fact that he has spent nearly a dozen years in the military service of his adopted country. And in that devotion, he has contributed amply to the development of the cooperative genius of the Chaplain Corps.

In fact, only by a recognition of the importance of the futility of compromise can cooperation be achieved. For only men of principle, of tradition, of sureness of credo can work together in idealism without lowering themselves to the least common denominator. Instead, such men choose the noblest in their own disciplines as the goal for life and work. They aim not at a leveling down but raise their sights to the heights of God's laws of life.

Thus a rabbi can read the services of the Roman Catholic Church to a boy dying not alone but in the company of a man devoted to the God of all men; thus a Protestant may read in transliterated Hebrew the prayers that can alone heal the wounds of fear; thus each gives what is needed without giving up what to him seems essential.

A captaincy in the Navy is a high honor. Only 18 chaplains are captains; only two are rear admirals. For a rabbi to have achieved this rank is an honor to all Jews and to America. It is something that the Voice of America can proudly blare to all Europeans, for it shows that in this country achievement knows no racial or religious difference.

The opportunity for rewards should in this country always be open to those who have accepted the opportunity to serve. This promotion will be an encouragement to others to realize that ours is neither a forgetful nor an ungrateful republic. We sometimes act as though we are both forgetful and ungrateful, but in time the American heart exhibits its warmth and its regard for those who truly love America.

Matter Of Fact

Here To Stay

TEL AVIV.

If orthodox economic theory is accepted as a guide, the dearest wish of the Arab enemies of the state of Israel seems about to be realized. This wish is, of course, the economic collapse and subsequent disintegration of the Israeli state. For, by any reasonable definition, Israel is flat broke and getting broker all the time.

Israel's platoons of brilliant economists flood the inquiring visitor in statistics. But one very simple fact will serve to illustrate the real nature of Israeli's situation. This country is now importing at least five times the value of what it exports, which is like a family spending its income several times over.

If this yawning gap were not somehow made up, Israel's standard of living would, in the words of one high official here, "sink to, and probably below, the general Middle Eastern standard of living." In other words, Israel's population, predominantly of European origin, would be forced to live at the level, say, of Egypt's miserable fellahin.

10,000 Per Month

As things stand, it is little short of miraculous that the economy of the state of Israel, as artificial as a hydroponic garden, continues to function at all. Israel is a country about the size of the island of Sicily, but with a much smaller arable land area. On this area it must somehow support three crowded cities, many large towns, and a population accustomed generally to a high living standard. It is a country totally cut off from all its neighboring states. And it is, above all, a country which has doubled its total Jewish population in about four years, and which must still absorb somehow 10,000 or so new immigrants every month.

Under the bustling, fiercely energetic surface of Israeli life, the economic strains which this set of circumstances imposes on this country are innstantly visible. Although the internal lagal rate for the Israeli pound is still artificially maintained at $2.80, the free rate abroad has slithered to less than 70 cents. This is the external symptom of a galloping inflation which has had the inevitable internal consequences.

Black Markets

The rationing and price control system, in theory more severe than Britain has ever known, is showing signs of coming apart at the seams. Much of the time the sugar and meat rations, tiny as they are, are sheer myth. Inevitably, the black market is taking over, if only because most Israelis must deal on the black market in order to feed their families. As prices rise, labor becomes restive, and left-wing labor movements threaten the government with hunger marches.

The attempt to absorb some 700,000 immigrants into a new and tiny country has had, of course, social as well as economic consequences. Most of the new immigrants come from the Arab states, and aside from a mixed and distinct racial origin these people have little more in common with European Jews than, say, Patagonians have with Oregonians. The Israeli leaders, admitting the existence of severe social tensions within the new state, put their trust in the second generation.

Yet for the present, in such circumstances, it is little wonder that the Arabs talk hopefully of the coming collapse of the state of Israel. Even so, one prediction can be made with confidence. Israel will not collapse. Israel is here to stay.

Israel Here To Stay

Partly this prediction can be made because of the drive, energy, and sturdy health of the Israelis themselves, which belie all the grim statistics. Partly it is because the Jewish community in the United States will undobutedly continue to make up a large part of the economic slack, to the tune of an astonishing $70,000,000 a year. And partly it is because the American government will undoubtedly also continue to take up the rest of the slack.

Given a continued Israeli policy of unrestricted Jewish immigration, the best experts here estimates that the American government's share is likely to come to about $100,000,000 a year for a good many years. Leave aside the fact that the American government made possible this experiment in the first place, or that it is so moving and impressive an experiment in so many ways. To continue this subsidy is in the plain American interest.

This economic collapse of the state of Israel would usher in a period of total chaos in the Middle East. It would invite, either the violent expansion of the state of Israel as an expression of economic desperation, or a renewed Arab attack on the enfeebled Israeli nation. Either would be fatal to Western interests. It is thus in the essential American interest to make it both certain and obvious to all concerned that the state of Israel is here to stay.

Yet when this is said, something else must also be said. American policy in this area has been influenced by twin illusions. One is the illusion that Arab hostility to Israel is wholly irrational and without depth. The other is the illusion that this tiny state precisely balances in strategic importance the whole vast tiny land mass of the Arab and Moslem worlds. In the inflamed and irrational Middle East, as everywhere else, the precondition of a rational policy is the getting rid of illusions.

Labor vs Steel

By MARK SULLIVAN

Some of the most serious of the problems that beset the country and trouble the people will converge in a series of meetings between two groups of men, expected to begin during the coming week. One group consists of heads of major companies in the steel industry; the other consists of representatives of the United Steel Workers of America, CIO. The purpose of the meetings is to write new contract to take effect on the termination of existing contracts which expire Dec. 31. The meetings must agree or come to definite disagreement by that date.

A policy committee of the union has formulated twenty-two demands to be presented to the steel industry heads. Several of the demands have to do with wages, this is the main business of the meetings. No specific cents per hour wage raise is stated in the demands, but informal statements of union spokesmen have said that during the negotiations a specific cents per hour raise will be brought up.

In any event the formal demands include several which amount to wage raises. These have to do with overtime pay, vacation, holidays, the "fair day's work" standard for incentive payment. The sum of the demands having to do with wages has been estimated as from 12 to 15 cents per hour, one estimate is as high as 25 cents. Whatever the sum it would be what union spokesmen describe as a "substantial" increase in pay, that is what the union demands.

Permissible Rate

Whatever the demand increase may amount to it is practically certain to be higher than a ceiling which has been set up officially by the Administration's Wage Stabilization Board. The board, soon after it was organized, fixed a standard for wage raises generally and declared as a policy that it would not sanction wage raises higher than the standard. By this standard the permissible wage raise in the steel industry would be some 4 or 5 cents per hour. This gives rise to one of the problems that accompany the coming meetings. What will or can the Wage Stabilization Board do if the end of the meetings there is laid on its doorstep a demand by the union higher than the stabilization board's standard would permit?

Hanging like a shadow over the meetings is threat of more inflation. Any wage raise the union may exact from the industry heads would be an addition to the cost of manufacturing steel. This could only be offset by an increase in the price of steel, and a price increase in steel would ramify into the almost innumerable products which are made of steel or into which steel enters. Moreover, steel is a bellwether industry and any wage raise won in it would almost certainly be followed by demands for wage raises in other industries. Altogether the coming meetings between heads of the steel industry and representatives of the steel workers' union contain possibility of a strong upward surge in the wage-price cost of living spiral and the inflation that would accompany it.

Passive Resistance

This is a reason why the steel industry heads may resist the demands of the union. At least passive resistance is implied in a speech made by Benjamin Fairless, president of the United States Steel Corporation, soon after the demands of the union were made public. He said that the negotiations have to do with "broad questions of public policy which are beyond the scope of collective bargaining. . ."

Consequently, "Whether our workers are to get a raise, and how much it will be if they do, is a matter which probably cannot be determined by collective bargaining, and will apparently have to be decided finally in Washington. It is a question which involves the basic anti-inflation program of our government, and one which will clearly affect our entire economy."

The unions are truculent. Yet evidently they are confronted by oppositions. One is the heads of the steel industry who quite evidently would oppose, at least to the extent of not assenting. The other potential opposition is the control agencies at Washington to which would be submitted the question of a wage raise and also the question of a price increase which a wage raise would bring up. There is a possible third opposition. Almost certainly, prevailing public opinion, if it were aware of the revelation between a material wage raise in steel, and on the other hand, inflation and cost of living, would be unsympathetic to the demands of the union.

Search And Seizure

Over the last 15 years the Supreme Court of the United States has applied variously the Fourth Amendment's guaranty against "unreasonable search and seizure" in federal criminal cases. However, with the deciding of a New Jersey case in June, 1948, the rule that search and seizure, to be valid, must be made under a magistrate's order, appeared firmly established.

"Appeared firmly established" is correct. For a year and a half ago a court majority, overruling the 1948 decision, held that search, without a warrant, of an accused person's office, following his arrest, "was a lawful incident to such arrest." It was lawful even though the police knew they "could safely have obtained a search warrant."

Forming the majority were President Truman's four appointees—Chief Justice Vinson, Justices Burton, Minton and Clark—and Justice Reed.

But in setting aside the conviction of a defendant in a narcotics case because the evidence against him was seized without a search warrant, the court now reverts to the 1948 decision. Curiously, the majority opinion was by Justice Clark, with the Chief Justice and Justice Reed alone dissenting, and Justice Minton not participatng.

Justice Clark's change of viewpoint is indicated by these words:

"Over and again this court has emphasized that the mandate of the amendment requires adherence to judicial processes. * * * Officers instead of obeying this mandate have too often, as shown by the numerous cases in this court, taken matters in their own hands and invaded the security of the people against unreasonable search and seizure."

In similar unequivocal language, Justice Clark rejected the government's contention that the search and seizure did not invade the accused man's privacy inasmuch as Congress has declared that "no property rights shall exist" in contraband goods. The Justice declared that as the property seized was contraband, the accused was not entitled to have it returned to him, but "being his property" he was entitled on motion to have it suppressed as evidence against him.

By returning to its 1949 position as to federal court procedure, interest is heightened in the high tribunal's rulings involving state court cases. Included are two New Jersey gambling cases which have been joined. They present the question whether a federal court has jurisdiction to prohibit a state court's use of evidence, represented by property seized without a warrant.

Disposition of these cases may set more definite search and seizure guide posts for state and criminal courts. In doing so it may also make convictions in those courts more difficult.

Durable Fairy Tales

One of the controversies in the disputatious and ever changing fied of child psychology concerns fairy tales. One faction holds they are harmful, that they plant deep fears in infant minds, condition them to cruelty, mayhem and murder and encourage escape from reality.

A dissenting faction agrees that many fairy tales are bloody, but denies that their ravenous wolves, nasty stepmothers, cannibalistic ogres and spell-weaving witches do any harm. They argue, not unreasonably, that young children emotionally are little animals and take for granted acts and attitudes which appall adults.

Many generations have been reared on these ungentle yarns and there is no proof that they were better or worse for the experience. Fortunately, the criticism has not led many parents to keep the Grimm brothers or Hans Christian Andersen out of the nursery. And, indifferent to scholarly disapproval, the kids go right on enjoying "Cinderella," "Goldilocks," "Little Red Riding Hood," "Jack and the Beanstalk" and "Blue Beard."

In fact, in the three to five age group, they outdraw modern factual stories about real boys and girls doing everyday, familiar things. A survey was made among 400 preschool chidren at the neighborhood centers of the Children's Aid Society of New York. Fairy stories were favored by 250, as compared to 150 who voted for modern realism.

The fairy tale, like the nursery rhyme, is part of the nation's culture. It reflects relationships and standards which, while they may be alien to those of today, are not too far removed from nature's truth. And its cruelties and supernaturalism are not without close parallels in such classic adult literature as Shakespeare.

Deemphasis At Yale

Deemphasis of college football seems to be on the way. No one can say how far it will go, since it's just getting a start and there's a long, long trail to retrace if the game is to be restored to anything resembling an amateur sport. But some progress is being made in that direction.

At Yale the athletic control board has voted to abolish spring football practice. The vote, taken on September 15, was kept secret for some obscure reason, but the press as usaul got the news, and Yale's prexy felt compelled to confirm it.

The decision, Athletic Director Robert A. Hall felt called upon to say, is "not a step toward the liquidation of football." Yale believes as firmly as it ever did that football is a deserving sport and a worthwhile extracurricular activity. But it has been studying the problem of out-of-season athletic schedules with a view to adjusting them "to the best interests of the players." Presumably, such an adjustment has now been made with respect to football.

Coaches disagree on whether spring practice has much to do with the overemphasis that has been placed on football. But no college with a first-rate team, or an ambition to get one, would think of doing without it.

But it really wasn't necessary to explain that Yale is not abandoning football. The most hopeful advocate of reform in college football wouldn't expect such a development.

A scientist says women eventually will run the world. As they already control 85 per cent of the wealth, it is possible they only put up with men because they are around and it would be a messy job to liquidate them.

According to a Gallup poll, federal corruption, cost of living, high taxes and Korea are lessening President Truman's popularity. Not to mention his speeches.

How To Keep Well

By Dr. T. R. Van Dellen

To the limit of space, questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made under proper limitations, when return stamped envelope is enclosed. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnosis or prescribe for individual diseases.

Age Brings On Hair Changes

Baldness and graying affect millions of men and women. This condition provides an enormous market for cosmetics and it's no wonder our newspapers and magazines carry so many remedial suggestions. Some products are good but others make slightly exaggerated claims that in some instances border on the fraudulent.

To physicians, loss and graying of hair are stages in our development. Reduction in pigment comes around middle age except in families in which it appears prematurely. Most of us accept the silver threads with resignation but many camouflage them with rinses, tints, bleaches, or dyes. Women are more cosmetically minded than men and as a rule abhor graying because it gives away their age. Hence they are more likely to try to hide the change; men are more inclined to consider graying a mark of distinction.

Turning white overnight is more of a figment of the imagination than an actual occurrence. Graying may be hastened, however, by severe illness, chronic disease, worry, or a shocking experience. Vitamins also must be considered because 3 per cent are helped by a vitamin B extract. Now and then gray hair darkens spontaneously and there is no explanation for this phenomenon; but any remedy that is being tried at this time is given credit and some users become so enthusiastic about their good fortune that they attempt to market the product.

Ordinary baldness that occurs in men also may be looked upon as a developmental stage. Dr. Marion B. Sulzberger, the New York City dermatologist, believes that the condition may be an evolutionary process. It has been said that many centuries ago man was as hairy as a monkey and even sprouted a tail, but that gradually he became less hairy and lost his tail. The present crop of baldies may represent a preview of what all men will look like years from now. This is theoretical but makes more sense than the talk we hear on supposed causes: wearing tight hats or no hats, shampoosing too frequently, or sexiness.

However, we are not entirely in the dark so far as the origin of ordinary male maldness is concerned. There is a family tendency. Some men are left with a little fringe above their ears just as were their father, grandfather, and great-grandfather. In this respect the trait is passed along just like curly hair, brown eyes, or an overhanging brow. Because baldness also comes with age, the male sex hormones play a part. Nothing can be done about the first two possibilites and we don't care to meddle in the third because undersirable bodily changes such as sterility, impotence, or feminine characteristics may follow. This demonstrates again the futility of trying to cure this type of baldness.

Alopecia, in which baldness appears in patches, is a different matter. Hair loss is sudden, rapid, and unsightly. It leaves shiny, round, bald spots varying in size from a cranberry to the entire surface of the body. Mental shock, nervousness, injury, infections, or toxins could be responsible. With proper care, hair can be restored in the majority of victims.

REMOVING THE BITTERS

M. B. writes: I can remember watching my mother carefully removing a little green sac from the chicken; she said if it broke, the contents would make the chicken taste bitter and taint the blood stream. Is there any truth to this?

REPLY

This is the gall sac and if chicken bile is anything like human bile, the bird would certainly taste bitter. As for tainting the blood, 'tain't so.

NORTHEAST EXPOSURE

E. C. writes: I'm 56 years old and beginning to feel rheumatic. Is it harmful to spend most of the time in rooms that face the northeast? My bedroom and my office both have this exposure.

REPLY

I would be more inclined to blame your age than the north exposure as stress is more likely to be responsible when aching stems from a rheumatic state. Dampness may aggravate the condition but rarely is the primary cause.

DENGUE FEVER

Mrs. U. writes: I'm told that I caught dengue fever in Mexico. What is this disease?

REPLY

This condition resembles influenza as it is a virus infection but is transmitted by mosquitoes. Another name for the disease is breakbone fever, which describes the intense aching accompanying the disorder. You should be cured by the time you read this answer because the infection is self-limited.

Malmedy Massacre Set Bloody Precedent; Sen. McCarthy Defended Nazi Murderers; GI Cooks Like Their Chow.

WASHINGTON — The bitterness felt among U. S. military leaders over the massacre of some 6,000 American troops in Korea also extends back to similar bitterness over the Malmedy massacre.

If the SS men who shot down 150 American prisoners in cold blood during the Battle of the Bulge had been properly punished, instead of being held up to the public as innocent victims by Senator McCarthy, it is believed a precedent would have been set to discourage such massacres in the future.

The grim story of the Malmedy massacre and the campaign staged on the Senate floor to protect the Nazi murderers was one of the most shameful in years. Forty-three of the cold-blooded Nazi "blow-torch battalion" had been condemned to death for the savage, cold-blooded shooting of 150 American prisoners, when suddenly Senator McCarthy demanded an investigation. He charged that American prosecutors had extorted confessions.

The Senate Armed Services Committee appointed a subcommittee under Republican Sen. Ray Baldwin of Connecticut, to probe McCarthy's charges, and a lengthy hearing took place at which McCarthy, though not a member of the committee, demanded the right to cross-examine and treated American officers as if they, not the Nazis, were the war criminals.

When Col. Burton F. Ellis, chief prosecutor in the Malmedy trial, took the witness stand, McCarthy interrupted after only one minute of testimony and proceeded to denounce him. Finally, Senator Hunt of Wyoming, not given to extravagant statements, intervened.

"Hilarious" Murder

"This is not a prosecution," he said. "What we are trying to do is just to get the witnesses' statements, and then we will be the judge of whether they did things in the right manner."

"I entirely disagree," shouted McCarthy. "If that is the purpose I am wasting my time."

McCarthy then charged Kenneth F. Ahrens of Erie, Pa., one of the few survivors of the massacre, with "inflaming the public" and trying to "create a Roman holiday" when Ahrens stated that the Nazi SS men had been in a hilarious mood when they shot down 150 GI's in cold blood.

McCarthy called the U. S. judges who condemned the Nazis "morons," and demanded a lie-detector test for the U. S. officers who had obtained the confessions. Senator Baldwin, a fellow Republican, suggested that if American officers had to suffer the humility of taking a lie test, then a lie test should also be given to the convicted SS men whose word McCarthy accepted.

As a result, the committee actually voted on the use of a lie detector and turned the idea down. Shortly thereafter, McCarthy walked out of the hearings denouncing them as a "shameful farce" and a "deliberate and clever attempt to whitewash the American military."

Duck Soup For Communists

Naturally, his speeches were cabled daily to Germany, played up in the German press, and used by Communists to inflame the public.

Finally, McCarthy delivered a full-dress attack on the Senate floor, charging a "whitewash" and accusing his GOP colleague, Senator Baldwin, of being "criminally responsible." Again these charges made headlines in Germany, in fact around the world. The Communist press was gleeful in its reaction.

McCarthy's charges were so violent that every member of the Armed Services Committee signed a statement praising the "integrity" of Senator Baldwin and condemning McCarthy's "unfair" and utterly undeserved comments."

This of course did not get a play in the German and Communist press. Meanwhile, German public opinion was so enraged that the death sentences were commuted. The Malmedy war criminals have not hanged for their cold-blooded, hilarious murder of 150 American prisoners, and in a few short weeks the precedent which U. S. military leaders hoped to create to discourage future war crimes was out the window.

GI Chow

While investigating our military bases in Europe with a group of House colleagues, hard-working GOP Congressman Walter Norblad of Oregon decided to get some first-hand information about the "chow" being fed our overseas troops.

Norblad, an Air Force intelligence officer in the last war, ate in the enlisted men's mess hall at a U. S. base at Chateauroux, France, and questioned a group of GI's at some length.

"I see you boys have chicken today and it tastes mighty good," began Norblad. "Is this a regular thing or are they putting on a display here to impress us congressmen?"

"No, we always have chicken on Sunday," replied a soldier.

"Well, how is the food the rest of the week?" asked the congressman.

"Swell," he was assured. "Always first-rate. The fellows here have no complaints about the chow."

Norblad still wasn't convinced.

"How about the preparation?" he asked. "Is it cooked well?"

"Couldn't be better," he was again assured.

Satisfied at last, the Oregon congressman drained his coffee cup and got up to leave. He shook hands with his dinner companions and asked them in parting: "By the way, what do you fellows do around here?"

"We're the cooks."

Natural Resourses

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass.—Wise investors like "growth stocks". They are constantly watching for new opportunities and the big rewards which will come to those who are patient.

Free Heat and Free Power

Growth stocks are usually based on natural resources. The buying of growth stocks today requires the same courage and patience as our ancestors needed when they went West and homesteaded land 100 years ago. Wealthy families of the Central West today are descendants of these pioneers who were then inspired to make the necessary sacrifices. Later they found coal, oil, surphur, gypsum, or other valuable products.

The physical natural resources of this country have been mostly discovered; but great Spiritual natural resources remain untapped for those who have the same courage, patience and self-control of their ancestors. Undiscovered riches today, therefore, will follow the awakening of the souls of youth to create and make new discoveries. These will enable people to live much longer, learn much faster, rearrange the atoms, to make new products and enjoy free power and free heat from gravity and the sun.

Different Natural Resources

These new developments must come through spiritually inspired brains. Hence, instead of homesteading land, we today should "homestead" brains! This means to invest more in labor and give more time to the minds of human beings, especially to the minds of our children. They are neglected today.

We think that television machines, airplanes and electrical appliances are wonderful; but these are mere peanuts compared with the intricate and marvelous machinery of the human brain. Yet, the Asiatics and Africans, whom I have hired for ten cents a day, have these human brains. To spiritually awaken these billions of brains is the next —great "frontier." I wish I were younger to have a part in it.

Brains As Investments

This most wonderful machine is in your own children's heads. Your boy can develop his brain to become an Edison, a Firestone or a Ford; but the first step toward success is to inspire him to think, work, love and save. These men were inspired by their parents; they never went to college. Keep in mind that the masses are using their brains only a small fraction of one per cent while your children are using theirs only about 5 per cent.

Most jobs—including white-collar positions—require very little brain work. Clerks, salesmen and so-called executives are really in the "manual labor" group, depending upon habit, memory, speed or friendship for earning their pay checks. They perform little or no creative work. Yes, the brains of our children are great undeveloped resources and offer you unlimited possibilities. These bains are worth to parents far more than any pensions which parents may ever receive.

What Parents Can Do

Schools are doing their best to help your children. Furthermore, they do not expect you to teach them reading, writing, arithmetic or any of the higher subjects. Schools, however, depend upon parents to set their children an example in good habits, good reading and thrift. As a child's religion is determined before he is 12 years old, so is his success or failure. In almost every case a boy's future is determined by the training which the boy receives at home during his early teens. If he has been inspired to think, to work, to save and to play, he becomes a successful man,—college or no college. Systematic reading and creative thinking will then be his education.

Therefore, great undeveloped frontiers are now available; but they are spiritual frontiers. To conquer them requires the same courage, determination and sacrifice that our ancestors had when conquering the West. Instead of forsaking comfortable homes, cutting away forests and living in log cabins our children, perhaps, must win their independence by forsaking amusing radios, televisions and useless reading, by refusing to "keep up with Lizzy", and by cultivating their minds as their ancestral pioneers cultivated the land. Inspired brains are the "gold mines" of the future.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — An aide to General MacArthur has made a very interesting answer to questions raised concerning the propriety or impropriety of an officer in uniform making public speeches which could have a political meaning.

The episode arose through the criticism leveled by Representative John W. McCormack of Massachusetts, Democratic leader in the House of Representatives, who declared that General MacArthur should remove his Army uniform when "making Republican political speeches."

General Courtney Whitney, aide to General MacArthur, answers this way:

"When certain senior officers of the Army have spoken in uniform in support of the administration policy, no such criticism has been voiced. This seems to boil down to the strange concept that it is nonpartisan to defend policy but highly partisan to criticize it. It adds emphasis to the warning General MacArthur has so often voiced of the efforts being made to control and even suppress free speech in this country."

Bradley's Rebuttal

What General Whitney undoubtedly was referring to was a speech made by the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, General Bradley, in Chicago just prior to the appearance of General MacArthur last summer before the joint session of Congress. General Bradley, appearing in uniform, made what is called an "anticipatory rebuttal," before General MacArthur uttered a single word of testimony in his own defense. The Bradley speech was generally regarded as the expression of the administration.

When criticism of General Bradley's speech was voiced, it was immediately countered that the speech had been scheduled for some time. Nothing was said about the fact that public speakers, especially government officials, have often canceled speeches under the pressure of public business and that at times they have even changed the nature of their speeches at the last moment in order not to embarrass the administration.

General MacArthur has never made an explicitly political speech but has made what are called implicit speeches. This is the sort of utterance in which President Truman also has indulged from time to time.

Who Paid the Bill?

Not long ago the President went to the West Coast for a very honorable and important errand—namely, to participate in the ceremonies in connection with the signing of the Japanese peace treaty. But the same day, during the afternoon, instead of meeting with the American delegation, he used the time at his disposal to attend a Democratic party rally on the Pacific Coast. No Democratic party spokesman criticized that action, which was a misuse of the Presidential office on an important international occasion. Was any part of that trip paid for by the Democratic National Committee?

The other day when the President flew up from Key West to Washington, Representative Busbey of Illinois, Republican, declared that this was obviously a political trip and should be paid for by the Democratic National Committee. The President was in town just long enough to make a political speech and then went back to his vacation at Key West. Will the cost of that trip be borne by the White House—that is, by the government—or will it be borne by the Democratic National Committee? Whether General MacArthur wears a uniform when making political speeches doesn't matter as much as whether the taxpayers are paying for political trips of the President of the United States.

General MacArthur is in the peculiar position of having been fired by the President for what many people regard as political reasons. Notwithstanding all the excuses and afterthoughts recorded in the testimony in Congress, it is plain that Mr. Truman dismissed the General because he wrote a letter to Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin in answer to an inquiry from him concerning American policy in the Far East. Mr. Truman didn't even give the General a chance to come home and talk it over. Nor did he qualify his order of dismissal but covered removal also of General MacArthur as allied commander in Japan, where everybody admitted that the General had done an outstanding job.

Matter Of Choice

To say that General MacArthur cannot rightly wear his uniform to speak in rebuttal against the arbitrary act of the President who fired him is really to encroach upon the rights of a citizen in the community. It certainly is an invasion of personal liberty to tell an individual what he may or may not wear while making a public speech. This correspondent happens to believe that General MacArthur would be well advised not to wear his uniform while making any public speeches of a controversial nature, just because it arouses unnecessary debate, but would defend to the utmost, on the other hand, the right of General MacArthur to wear that uniform if that's the way he wants to make his public appearances. There certainly is no law or rule against any General or any retired officer wearing his uniform whenever and wherever he pleases. It's all a matter of individual preference.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Ghost Of Nuremberg

The assumption of countries at war is that nations, not soldiers, make war. The individual soldier is not personally responsible for his conduct because he has no control over himself. He is ordered into battle; he must kill or be killed either by his adversary, or by his superiors for treason. He is not a free agent.

Clausewitz, the philosopher on war, wrote:

". . . War is an act of force, and to the application of that force there is no limit. Each of the adversaries forces the hand of the other, and a reciprocal action results which in theory can have no limit . . ."

There is no such thing as a limited war because there can be no limit to the killing of human beings. Nevertheless, as long as it is accepted that responsibility is with the nation, not the individual, the cruelty of war can be limited. This, for instance, was done by the Hague convention of 1899 and the Geneva convention of 1929 which is now binding upon most nations and is designed to minimize cruelty toward prisoners of war.

In World War II, there is only one known instance of total savagery toward prisoners of war and that was the Katyn massacre during which the Russians murdered 10,000 Polish officers and threw them into a common grave in the Katyn Forest. It was a mark of barbarism.

Clausewitz makes this point:

"If the wars of civilized nations are far less cruel and destructive than those of the uncivilized, the reason lies in the social condition of the states, both in themselves and in their relations to one another. From this condition, with its attendant circumstances, war arises and is shaped, limited and modified. But these things do not themselves belong to war; they already exist . . ."

Then he adds this telling line:

". . . Never in the philosophy of war itself can we introduce a modifying principle without committing an absurdity."

The Russians did not commit an absurdity; they pursued logic to its brutish end. If compassion, sympathy, charity, loving kindness are absurd, they are the soul of our civilization.

At the Nuremberg and Tokyo trials, the United States accepted the principle of personal responsibility, which was a horrible thing to do. Not Germany nor Japan was responsible for the acts of war but individual Germans and individual Japanese who engaged in war, whether by act of will or by the law of the land. These men would have been traitors to their own country had they not served just as Generals Marshall, Eisenhower, Bradley and MacArthur would be traitors under similar circumstances.

The danger of this doctrine was clearly pointed to at the time, for if it holds, then the converse holds, namely, that the individual who declines the assumption of such responsibility whether because of conscience or cowardice would be justified in refusing to go to war or have anything to do with it. That could make of any government an anarchy.

Also conversely, no humane provisions with regard to prisoners of war or other matters can be expected under such a doctrine. If officers can be tried for the crimes of their country, prisoners of war can be killed for having been in war. To the victor belongs the power of death. The Geneva convention denies this in the following specific language:

"Prisoners of war are in the power of the hostile power, but not of the individuals or corps who have captured them.

"They must at all times be humanely treated and protected . . ."

The danger in any departure from a limitation upon brutality is that the limitation altogether collapses. Both the Nuremberg and Tokyo trials broke through the strict limitations on the responsibilities of the soldier for the conduct of his nation. "Theirs but to do and die" is a much sounder principle. For then the country, not the man pays for decisions which are nationally taken.

In the United States, for instance, it is Congress which declares war, not any individual, not even the President. It is the whole nation, through its representatives, that assumes the responsibility.

This discussion can now be related to the Korean atrocities, which are much like the Katyn massacre. The Geneva convention provides that prisoners of war are to be treated humanely; their civil rights are to be safeguarded; their lives are not to be imperiled. This rule was violated both at the Nuremberg and Tokyo trials; it was violated in the Korean massacre of American prisoners of war. When the gate is opened a little, it will soon enough be opened wide.

Today's Sermonette

Transforming Power

Those at the time of our Lord and since have found transforming power in becoming first hand disciples of Christ. Someone has said that "disciples of disciples are weak and anaemic". True disciples have learned that only through the ineffable union with the Divine Saviour can there be life and power. Recognizing Jesus Christ as "the Light of the world" and borrowing their glow from Him, the disciples of old were able to become what Jesus claimed them to be, when He said, "Ye are the light of the world". Through that indwelling "borrowed glow" they were able to kindle fires and generate power which "turned the world upside down."

Just as definitely and as truly, those who lived lives in the power of the transforming Christ had another conviction. It was that "self-centered, despondent, hateful lives could be transformed into lives of joy, peace, and usefulness by being yielded utterly to the great cause."

In other words, they were to live sacramental lives by the renewal of their minds with the heavenly birth, and by refusing to cut their patterns after the fashion of the present age.

Another mark of transformed lives has been that they "have insisted that the best of a truly transformed personality is to be found in brotherly living and in loving service." It is not the person who makes the loudest profession who gains our following as Christians, but the one who exemplifies the truest Spirit of the Living Lord.

Still another mark of the transformed Christian life is that he is not willing to enjoy this victory and blessing for himself alone. In the Scriptures it is related, "Now they that were scattered (that is, by persecution) went about preaching the word." — Acts 8:4b.ASV.

Transformed Life

Finally, those knights of the transformed life and the radiant face, have shown their readiness to suffer, and in many cases, even to die joyously and triumphantly for the sake of helping establish the true Kingdom of God (or realm of God) in which Jesus Christ is Lord and Master and King, reigning in the living hearts of His loyal subjects.

In a confused and bewildered world, we must realize that Christ is the answer. We must be convinced that our greatest contribution as Christians will be to follow Christ, as they of old have followed Him. It must be realized by us and all that the only way for us to have a transformed world is to have transformed lives — That a new heaven and a new earth are created by the Son of God alone, through the hearts of repentant, born-again men and women.

Then, and then alone, can we understand the challenge of St. Paul: "I appeal to you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, to present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy and acceptable to God." — Romans 12:1-2 ASV. And then, by His transforming grace, we may be able to live "sacramental lives", transformed lives, and so, help transform the world!

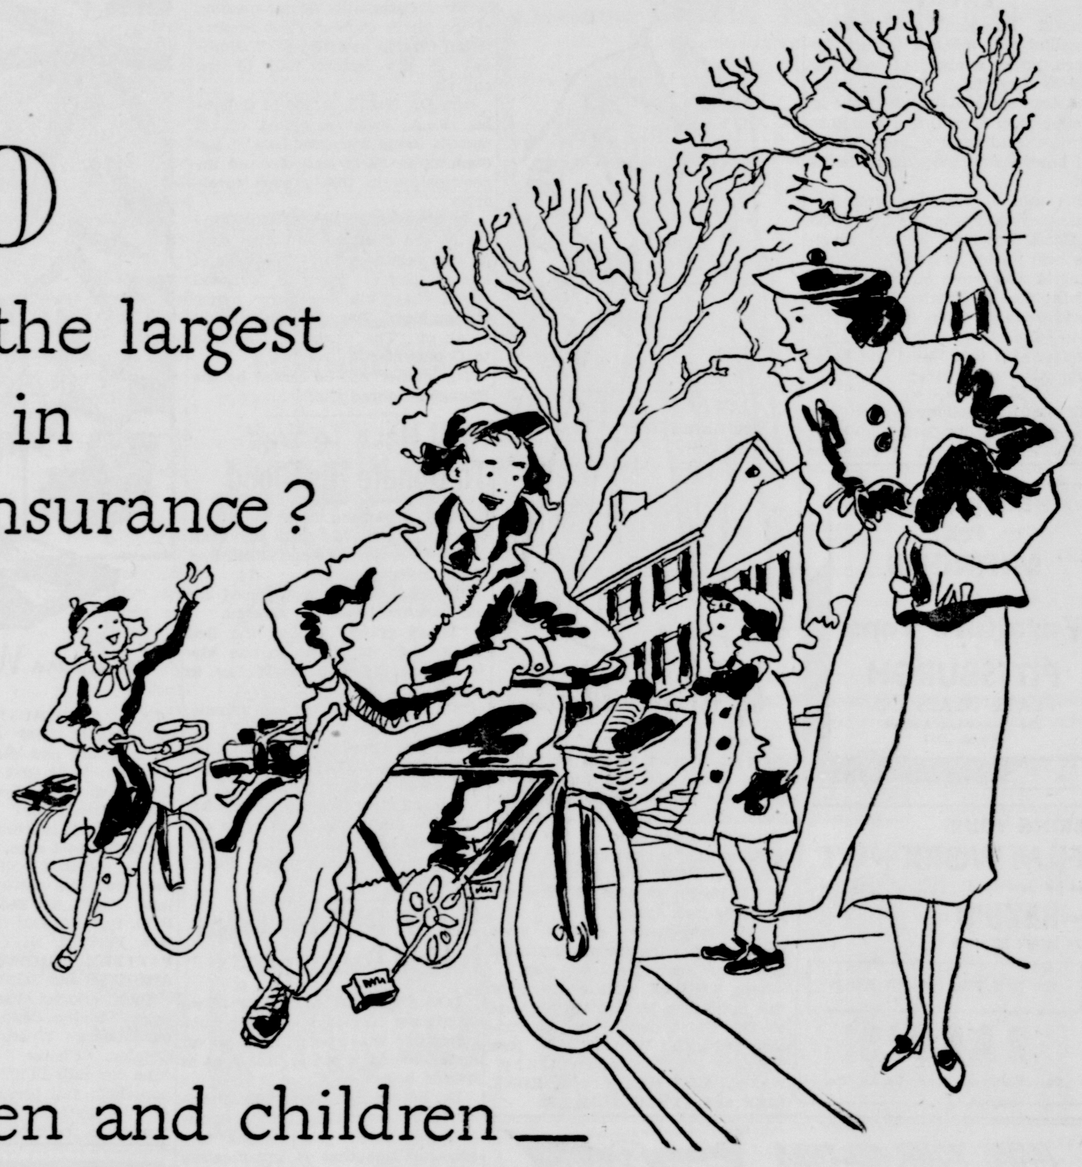
Who have the largest stake in Life Insurance?



Women and children — for they benefit most from its protection

The basic purpose of life insurance has always been to protect the family. As used today it gives protection in two ways. If the husband lives until the children are grown, it can provide money for retirement that he and his wife can enjoy. If he dies before that time, the life insurance funds go to his widow and children.

In addition to the policies held by husbands and fathers, wives too hold policies for the benefit of the family.

Many women who have jobs are also responsible for the support of others. So they, like men, buy life insurance to protect dependents and to provide for their own future. All together, women hold about 20% of all life insurance now in force.

America's 83 million policyholders, through life insurance, are making America a better place to work in and to live in. They are providing for the future of their families and themselves. Their life insurance dollars are invested all over the country. And their healthy habit of thrift is one of the nation's strongest bulwarks against inflation.

Bride-Elect Honored At Shower Party

Mrs. Ralph Frantz entertained with a surprise miscellaneous shower and pre-nuptial party in complement to Miss Evelyn Louise Lechliter, last evening at her home, Bedford Street.

Miss Lechliter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence D. Lechliter, Winfield Road, is the fiancee of James Luther Newlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Simon P. Newlin, Winfield Road. Their marriage will be solemnized November 30 in Trinity Methodist Church.

The shower gifts were hidden throughout the house with clues contained in original rhymes. The first clue was in an envelope suspended from a pastel green watering can and the others with the gifts for the next one.

A feature of the evening was having each guest make a silhouette of the bride-elect, with words of advice to her, and made into a book.

Mrs. Frantz carried out a color scheme of pastel pink, green and white in her decorations. The buffet supper table was centered with a cake, decorated in pink and white and enscribed with "Best Wishes Evelyn" in green. It was surrounded with miniature umbrellas and flanked by white candles in crystal holders.

Guests were Mrs. Eleanor Mosser, Mrs. Louella White, Mrs. Onolee Watson, Miss Dorothy McCoy, Miss Doris Muscatell, Mrs. Oscar Swartley, Miss Ruth Lechliter and Mrs. Lechliter.

Teachers Elect Fund Trustees

Trustees to administer the relief fund maintained by the contributors were elected at the meeting of the Allegany County School Teachers, earlier in the week.

William G. Fatkin, Luke School, is the president; Miss Lula M. Blonsky, Pennsylvania Avenue School, secretary-treasurer; and Lewyn C. Davis, Central High School, associate.

The ex-officio trustees of the fund are Kenneth R. Malcolm, president of the Board of Education, and Charles L. Kopp, superintendent of schools.

St. Patrick's Mothers Club To Meet

The regular meeting of the St. Patrick's Mother's Club will be held at 8 o'clock Monday evening at the Social Center.

Mrs. Mabel Zimmerman has returned to her home, Braddock Road, after undergoing a minor operation November 17 in Memorial Hospital.

Joan Campbell To Become Bride Of R. Perry Shryock

Ceremony To Be Performed Tonight

Miss Joan Campbell, daughter of Mrs. Sue Campbell, Greenspring, W. Va., and the late C. E. Campbell, will become the bride of Richard Perry Shryock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy A. Shryock, Sr., Oldtown, tonight. The wedding ceremony is being performed in Central Methodist Church at 7:30 p. m., with Rev. Norman O. Scribner officiating.

Bouquets and standards of white chrysanthemums and ponpoms and palms are being used in the decorations of the altar which is being lighted by white cathedral candles.

James Hager is to sing, "Because," "I Love You Truly," "Through the Years," and "The Lord's Prayer." He will be accompanied by Miss Virginia Fatkin, who will also play the traditional wedding marches and other nuptial selections.

Miss Betty Jean Kight is to be the bride's maid of honor. Miss Esther Shryock, sister of the bridegroom and Miss Mary Jo Brodbeck, cousin of the bride, are the bridesmaids. John Frost is serving as Mr. Shryock's best man, while Douglas Heavner, cousin of the bridegroom, and Larry Hansrote, are the ushers.

The bride, being given in marriage by her uncle, Harry Landis, is wearing a gown of imported Chantilly lace, fashioned with a fitted bodice, wide square neckline, with standing portrait collar, long pointed sleeves and a very full skirt ending with a wide cathedral train. The bride's cap is made of Chantilly lace, edged with satin and trimmed with seed pearls. Her double tiered veil is of imported bridal illusion. Completing her costume, she is carrying a cascade bouquet of white roses and white orchids.

Her attendants gowns are of French net over faille taffeta. They are styled with a fitted bodice, tiny sleeves and attached net stole, forming a portrait neckline. With them they are wearing matching Juliette caps with scalloped edging, studded with rhinestones, and matching mitts. Miss Kight's gown is of emerald green, and she is carrying a nosegay of fall flowers backed with gold netting. The bridesmaid's gowns are of autumn gold and their nosegays of fall flowers are backed with green netting.

Mrs. Campbell is wearing a dress of emerald green crepe with black accessories. Mrs. Shryock has chosen a dress of deep purple crepe, with black accessories. Both mothers will have white orchid corsages.

Following a wedding reception at the Ali Ghan Country Club, Mr. Shryock and his bride will leave for a wedding trip south. The bride is wearing a black milliteen suit with black snakeskin shoes and bag and a gold hat for traveling. She also will wear her corsage of white orchids.

The bride is a graduate of Allegany High School, class of 1948 and Memorial Hospital School of Nursing, class of 1951. The bridegroom is a graduate of Flintstone High School, class of 1946 and now is doing construction work in Hyattsville.

Mr. and Mrs. William H. Blake, 666 National Highway, are spending the holiday weekend in Pittsburgh.

Annual J. C. Dance To Be December 7

The Junior Association of Commerce will hold it's annual dance December 7.

It is to be a semi-formal affair for members and their friends, and will be at the Cumberland Country Club.

Music by Jimmy Andrews and his Orchestra will be from 9 until 1 o'clock.

Richard Sell is chairman of the committee of arrangements. He is being assisted by Gorman Getty, Robert Huck and John Robb.

Tickets will be on sale at the door.

Auxiliary Plans Party

Husbands and friends of members of the Bedford Road Firemen's Auxiliary will be entertained at a covered dish supper and jingle party, December 10. Plans were formulated at the meeting recently at the hall.

Reports were given of the purchase of dishes, silver and cooking utensils for the fire hall. Mrs. Elizabeth Lundeen was in charge of the recreational hour.

Mary Louise Farrell Is Bride Of Robert E. Keefer

Rev. M. K. Farrell Officiates For Sister

Miss Marie Louise Farrell, Washington, formerly of here, was married Thanksgiving day to Robert Emory Keefer, Tacoma Park.

The ceremony, solemn in the simplicity, was performed in St. Mathias Church, Capitol Heights, at 11 a. m., with Rev. Michael John Farrell, brother of the bride, officiating. Also present in the sanctuary were Rev. Timothy N. MacCarthy and Rev. John B. Connor, Washington. The altar was decorated with gladioli and fern by Mrs. Helen Bajda.

Mrs. Lenore Isom Farrell was the bride's matron of honor while Charles Joseph Farrell, brother of the bride, served as Mr. Keefer's best man.

The bride, given in marriage by Marine Pfc. John Edward Bajda, wore a pink faille, street length suit, with taupe hat and a corsage of camelias. Her only ornament was a silver chain necklace with a lover's knot pendant and pink stone setting.

Mrs. Farrell was attired in a beige suit with matching accessories and had a corsage of talisman roses.

The bride is the daughter of the late Rush Hubert and Anna Getty Farrell, Cumberland; and granddaughter of the late John Carr and Mary Koontz Getty, Westernport. She is a graduate of Catholic Girls Central High School and is employed by the Navy department in Washington.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy L. Keefer, Tacoma Park. He was graduated from McKinley High School, Washington, and attended the University of Maryland and Columbia Tech. A veteran of Army service during World War II, he is employed by the Veterans Administration in Washington.

Attendance at the ceremony was limited to the immediate families. Out of town guests were Mrs. Robert W. Welch, Pittsburgh and Mrs. James L. Robinette, Cumberland, sisters of the bride.

An interesting sidelight of the occasion occured when the bride presented her mother's diamond to the late Mrs. Farrell's eldest granddaughter, Anna Mary Welch, to be worn by her from her 16th birthday to the date of her marriage, when it is to be handed down to the next eldest single granddaughter.

Upon their return from a wedding trip south, Mr. and Mrs. Keefer will reside at 3708 New Hampshire Avenue, N. W., Washington.

Chairmen To Meet

A meeting is called of all committee chairmen for the Holiday Bazaar being held by the First Presbyterian Church, December 6.

Mrs. Carl A. Young, general chairman, will be hostess to the chairmen at her home, 103 Washington Street, at 2 o'clock, Tuesday.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 25 (INS)—Betty Grable goes back on the 20th Century-Fox lot tomorrow, ending one of the longest suspensions on record. She's been away from her studio since April, almost eight months. She notified the studio on Friday that she was ready to return to work. All of us who admire Betty are glad that she and 20th have ended this long, long drawn out dispute.

Betty Grable

What she will do next isn't settled, but with her salary you may be sure she won't be idle long. I'd like to make a little prophecy that when "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes" come to the screen in late 1952 Betty will play Lorelei Lee.

Author Anita Loos' niece, Mary Anita Loos, and Richard Sale will write the adaption of her aunt's play. George Jessel is the producer. He wants Betty—and who could be better than this gal who has few equals in the song and dance field?

The latest actor to throw his hat in the TV ring is George Raft, who has put his name on a five-year contract with Cosman Productions, a Lou Costello enterprise.

When I heard that the title of the show is "The Hoofer" I thought that George planned to dance. He was once called a threat to Valentino as a tango expert. But despite the misleading title, George plays a New York detective, a sort of John Broderick character.

Eddie Sherman, who arranged the deal, tells me that David Victor and Jackson Gilles are writing the story, and that George reports for work January 15 at the Hal Roach Studio.

Ingrid Bergman and Roberto Rossellini will make a picture for Nehru, prime minister of India, as soon as they finish "Europe, 1952." This news came to Joseph Steele in a letter from Ingrid. She said that Nehru offered them a movie which will have Indian government backing.

She said she is very tired because they have been working nights to finish Roberto's picture, which was held up for so long.

Ingrid also wrote of having seen a great deal of Jennifer Jones and David Selznick when they were in Rome. She expressed herself as being very glad that David and Rossellini liked each other.

Criswell, a Hollywood seer who predicted the break-up of Clark Gable's marriage in a magazine eight months in advance, now forecasts that after Clark gets his divorce he will marry a very wealthy woman, 20 years his senior.

Here are a few other Criswell predictions: He says Jane Wyman will be named the best actress of 1951 for "Blue Veil," and that Marlon Brando will take the Oscar as the best actor for "Streetcar Named Desire." The Hollywood seer also predicts that Rita Hayworth will marry a movie personage in late 1952, and that Mary Pickford's comeback will be as sensational as was Gloria Swanson's.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Pier Angeli, who was introduced to Hollywood by Arthur Loew, Jr., after she appeared in his picture, "Teresa," dining at the Cove with him. Arthur's mad about the girl.

What's happened to Nina Foch and Vincente Minelli? I had heard that he was really Nina's guy, but she was at the King's for dinner with Bob Lewin.

Shelley Winters is taking a series of treatments at Terry Hunt's to lose weight before her next picture. That won't do her any harm.

Both Judy Garland's mother and Sid Luft are with her at the Ritz Towers in New York. Everybody's crossing his fingers that Judy keeps going. A girl who has so much to give the world must continue with her career.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

Rev. Dr. Richard M. Shaull, a missionary to South America, will be the speaker at a dinner meeting of the Men's Club of First Presbyterian Church at 6:30 p.m. Wednesday in the lecture hall of the church.

Rev. Dr. Shaull, served in Columbia, S. A., spent a period of six months living with members of the Communist Party and received indoctrination in that group's ideologies.

He'll Have To Wait To Donate His Blood

AUSTIN, Minn., Nov. 25 (AP) — Jimmie Luther dropped his voice as low as it would go and called Red Cross headquarters.

"I'd like to give some blood for our boys in Korea," he boomed.

"That's grand," replied the Red Cross girl. "Is there anyone else in the family who would like to give?"

"I'll talk to the wife," said Jimmie, "but put me on the list now."

The Red Cross girl hung up, then called the A. C. Luther home again and asked for Mrs. Luther.

Use Of DDT For Crops Is Held Dangerous

Dr. Bernard Krohn and Dr. Francis M. Pottenger, Jr., both of Monrovia, Calif., gave their findings to a subcommittee that is investigating the use of chemicals in food products and cosmetics.

The doctors said their opinions were based on scores of autopsies and tests of hundreds of person. Dr. Krohn testified that "more than half of a group of people living in an agricultural area where DDT is used" showed nervous disorders and liver damage. He said the ailments results from DDT poisoning.

Protect yourself against falsifying and misunderstanding. Get well-acquainted with as many words as you can!

SECRETS OF CHARM

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

If language were denied to you for a week you'd list it as one of your most valued possessions. The telephone and its convenience would be taken out of your life; if you make your living selling or as a secretary, your vocation would be taken away. The simplest purchase would be a most difficult task because of the difficulty of making your wants known. One of your greatest losses, you'd soon discover, would be the ability to sell yourself and your ideas.

Your Language Power

You'd be convinced that the old Greek philosophers were making an understatement when they said, "Language is an instrument of truth, an artistic expression, and a tool of persuasion." And with your new concept of the value of language, you'd wonder why you had not taken every available step to increase your ability to use it.

Yet . . . are you always sure that your "language is an instrument of truth?" Not in the obvious, ethical sense of integrity. But are you sure that you never falsify through the unintentional misuse of language? Misunderstandings are the usual, rather than the unusual in most people's lives. And every time there is a misunderstanding, some speaker misused words — or the listener wrongly interpreted the words that were spoken. You can easily be tricked into falsifications unless you take the trouble to learn the exact meaning of as many words as you can.

And are you able to use language as "an artistic expression?" The spellbinder, the orator, the word painter of pictures has an enviable advantage in this world where communication is becoming increasingly paramount in importance. A deft, colorful, and imaginative vocabulary is free — all you have to do is help yourself to as many words in our language as you may want and make them your own.

Tool Of Persuasion

Are you adept in using our language as "a tool of persuasion?" If so, you win others to your side easily. You can live as rich and satisfying a life as you can envision. You are a master at discerning the other fellow's viewpoint; you have tact, patience and insight. And you have the words at your command that will translate your thoughts into effective persuasions and action.

Night and day schools, extension courses, books, and a "listening" ear are available to all of us. None of us needs be hampered by the great handicap of inadequate word power.

P. S. from J. R. P.
YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE

You can achieve an appealing, resonant, sonorous voice — one that can be a vibrant attribute to charm and success — by reading my new booklet, YOUR MOST ATTRACTIVE VOICE, which gives complete instructions on how to overcome such wearisome speaking qualities as tonelessness, dullness and lack of proper modulation. Write to me in care of this newspaper, enclosing 10c in coin, plus stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Midnight Chase Lands Ridgeley Youth In Jail

A wild midnight ride on Thanksgiving Eve landed a Ridgeley youth in jail for 90 days yesterday.

After a mad chase over Henderson Avenue, Baltimore, Greene, and Johnson Streets and through Ridgeley, Eston Lambert, 21, was finally brought to a halt.

Police Officer Kenneth W. Morrissey, who conducted the pursuit in a cruiser, placed five charges against him, three of which resulted in the three-month term.

Officer Morrissey gave this account of the wild ride:

He was parked near the Henderson Avenue Bridge at 11:30 p. m. Wednesday when he noticed the 1936 sedan speeding toward the avenue.

The officer said he followed Lambert on the avenue and clocked him at 55 miles per hour. The youth failed to halt at any stop sign and when the officer pulled beside him in the vicinity of Glenn Street and flashed a red light he sped on.

Morrissey testified he finally ran the sedan into a service station at the corner of Baltimore and Park streets. But Lambert eluded him by swinging around the pumps and heading down Baltimore Street.

The officer stated Lambert went through the three red lights on the main stem and then hurtled across the Western Maryland Railway crossing on Greene Street.

At Riverside Park, Lambert hit a car in front of him as he passed it, and then ignored a red light at Johnson Street.

Near the Blue Bridge, the officer reported as he tried to head Lambert into the curb, the youth nearly caused the cruiser to crash. Going across the river, Lambert hit the side rails of the bridge four times, Morrissey stated.

Finally on Potomac Street in Ridgeley the officer forced Lambert over a curb and placed him under arrest. Enroute back to police headquarters, Morrissey reported Lambert opened the cruiser door and would have escaped if he had not grabbed him by the coat collar.

Morrissey added he was forced to call the patrol wagon to take the youth to jail.

In Police Court, Lambert was given a $15 suspended fine for resisting arrest. Later yesterday he was taken to Trial Magistrates Court where he was found guilty of drunken and reckless driving and failing to stop after an accident.

Lambert was given 60 days for leaving the accident and 30 days for drunken driving. A 15-day term for reckless driving will run concurrent with the 60-day sentence. The 60-day and 30-day terms will run consecutively, according to Trial Magistrate J. Milton Dick.

A charge of driving without a license was dismissed.

County Fourth In Bond Sales

Allegany county is credited with the purchase of almost twice as many savings bonds as Washington county in the current U. S. Treasury drive.

This county, which ranks fourth in the state in percentage of completion, has exceeded its quota of $378,400 by 32.3 per cent. The actual amount bought here is $501,910.

Washington county is credited with 96.1 per cent with purchases totaling $275,109 on a goal of $286,200. It ranks eighth in the state.

Garrett county ranks in twenty-second place and has bought $26,596 worth of bonds on a quota of $35,700.

In the entire state up to November 3, a total of $7,816,563 of the projected quota of $8,700,000 had been bought. Of this, "E" bond sales amounted to $6,763,219, and the "F" and "G" types totaled $1,053,154.

The rate of sale in the 23 counties was higher than that in Baltimore City.

The city's total was $4,002,316, of which "E" bond sales amounted to $3,401,691 and the "F" and "G" type totaled $598,625. This was 76.7 per cent of its unofficial total sought.

Bigamy Charge Is Made Against Somerset Woman

A bigamy charge has been placed against a 21-year-old Somerset, Pa., woman who married two men in Cumberland within two years.

Mrs. Margaret Lyzbicki was ordered held under $1,000 bond in the County Jail after a preliminary hearing in Trial Magistrates Court.

Information presented at the hearing stated the woman obtained a marriage license here and was married on January 22, 1949, to Paul Lyzbicki, also of Somerset.

She separated from her husband after living three months with him, but went back to him in July of this year.

Two months ago, it was stated, she left Lyzbicki and after a whirlwind courtship was married in Cumberland on November 8 as Margaret E. Orris, 18, to Ronald Joseph Seese, a Somerset 21-year-old who is in the Army. It has been reported that Seese was sent overseas since the marriage.

Mrs. Lyzbicki, who admitted not bothering to obtain a divorce between husband No. 1 and No. 2, today filed a petition to waive indictment by the Grand Jury of the Circuit Court and be tried during the current term of court on information obtained by the State's attorney's office.

Earlier this week Mrs. Lyzbicki was arrested in Somerset and fined $100 and costs and sentenced to serve three years in the Somerset County Jail when convicted on a morals charge.

Judge Thomas F. Lansberry ordered the fine and jail sentence remitted and the State's Attorney's office here had her immediately arrested on the bigamy warrant. She was then extradited to Cumberland.

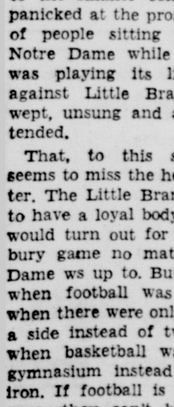
Radio And Television

By JOHN CROSBY

So Who Wants It?

It seemed to me at the time the NCAA—short for National Collegiate Athletic Association — imposed its controlled football telecasts on a nation which is becoming increasingly apathetic toward football, that it was trying to put a genii back into the bottle Very difficult business, putting a genii back into the bottle.



John Crosby

The television public was accustomed to televised football, uncontrolled and unrestrained. Its reaction to an experiment which limited them to games the NCAA prescribed (and frequently blacked out football in some areas altogether) was anger—uncontrolled and unrestrained. And scant wonder. A good many of the NCAA actions have made very little sense.

• — • — •

The Michigan State-Notre Dame game was as good an example of no sense as any. The Mid-West is one of the few remaining citadels of the old-time football mania; yet this game, an automatic sellout, was to be telecast only to the East. At the last minute, WWJ in Detroit carried the game, but the rest of the Mid-West couldn't see it. Washington was also blacked out for this game, though it didn't have a local football game to attend. The Michigan-Illinois game, which had been sold out for months, also was not telecast in the Mid-West. Yet, this scheme was hatched primarily to protect the box-office.

Purpose of the experiment—in the words of the NCAA—is to see "if collegiate football and TV can live together." The overwhelming vote in favor of the plan by the colleges can be pretty well ascribed to the smaller colleges, who were panicked at the prospect of millions of people sitting home watching Notre Dame while Old Goosebury was playing its little heart out against Little Bramblepatch, unwept, unsung and above all, unattended.

That, to this sports inexpert, seems to miss the heart of the matter. The Little Bramblepatchs used to have a loyal body of rooters who would turn out for the Old Goosebury game no matter what Notre Dame ws up to. But that was back when football was a game, back when there were only eleven men on a side instead of twenty-two, back when basketball was played in a gymnasium instead of on a gridiron. If football is losing its audience, they can't blame it all on television. Maybe, there's something the matter with the act.

The colleges—most of them, anyway—feel that their football profits have to be protected because football pays for the entire athletic program. But the Rev. John J. Cavanaugh, president of Notre Dame — which, incidentally, didn't vote one way or another on the NCAA experiment — has observed quietly that there is no reason football has to pay all the bills. Maybe, he says, the colleges ought to pay their own sports bills.

In any case, the NCAA experiment doesn't seem to have proved anything, though, some instinct tells me, a mess of attendance statistics will be released trying to prove something or other. However, attendance at football games is determined by a lot of variables—how good the team is, how bad the weather is, how much money people have lying around after the grocery bills are paid, and—well, a lot of things that haven't anything to do with television. How the NCAA committee is going to unravel all these factors and come out with some sort of coherent conclusion about television's effect on attendance is a mystery to me. But I'm sure they will. Committees that are set up to arrive at conclusions generally arrive at something that approximates a conclusion—at least in their own minds.

One thing the experiment has definitely proved. The public is mad as hornets about it. The country is full of people who bought television sets primarily to look at sports events, people who wouldn't look at Milton Berle if you gave them the Texaco Company. These people want to look at football games, and a good many of the big colleges—notably, Pennsylvania, Army and Notre Dame — want their games televised. With pressure on one hand from the public, on the other one from the colleges — the ones with telegenic football teams—it's difficult to see how the NCAA can have any effect one way or another on whether collegiate football and TV can live together, TV and collegiate football have already lived together, and woe betide the man or the committee that tries to put them asunder.

TRY TO AVOID LEADING

WHEN you have a solid combination of honors in sequence, you don't care much whether their suit is led by yourself or someone else. But if you have one or two honors which are not in sequence, you know that a lead of their suit by you may cost your side a trick. When you have a hand full of such situations in various suits, you should strain every resource to keep the lead out of your hand and cause leads up to it.

South, realizing his partner had doubled in a situation which could require a response at the three level with a worthless hand, appraised his own as much better than that. West's raise of the spades had made it pretty sure North had goodly hearts, so South soundly bid the game in that suit. Identical bidding came at both tables of the team game, but the results of the play were widely different.

In each case West led the spade Q, declarer playing dummy's K and the A winning. One East next laid down the spade J and then was stuck, sure a spade repeat would give the declarer a ruff and discard. So he returned the diamond 5, which the Q won for a gift trick. The diamond 7 was led to the 10 and A and the 9 ruffed to fell the K and set up South's 8. After the heart A, the 3 to the K threw East in again. Now his club 4 to the J forced the A and the 9 finesse succeeded, the K then dropping the Q. South now had a completely established situation, in all suits, so made his contract.

At the other table, after the spade Q-K-A trick, East saw that if West held the 10, a low spade would give his partner the lead. West then returned the diamond 3, bringing the 7, 10 and A. South tried to put the heart Q through, but the K won. The heart 5 to the J forced the A and the diamond Q was sacrificed to the K, downing South one trick. East refused to open the clubs, but led the diamond 5 to the 8, J and a ruff. South now had to break the clubs, so that the defenders got a trick there to set him two. East used his imagination here to avoid being end-played, whereas his counterpart at the other table end-played himself twice, each costing his side a trick.

Every Sunday Jimmy stands here in the choir loft along with twenty other boys singing some of the most glorious music ever written.

For three years he has been singing for his church, and now after these many months he wouldn't miss practices for the world.

But it wasn't always like that! During those first months tears were shed and Dad had to force Jimmy to attend rehearsals, because you see Jimmy didn't know what was best.

There is a job for everybody at church. Maybe it isn't as obvious as singing in the choir. Maybe it's something that's never been done before. But the thing is, you'll never know until you go and find out.

All of us aren't as lucky as Jimmy. Most of us, and especially we grown-ups, don't have anyone to insist that we go to church.

But the need is there. We need the church and its teaching, and the church needs us to extend its work and services.

Go to church next Sunday and find out how you can best serve God.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

1931 Class Holds Second Reunion At Keyser High

Dinner Begins First Meeting In 10 Years

KEYSER, W. Va.—A reunion of the Keyser High School, Class of 1931 was held Friday evening with a turkey dinner served in the dining hall at Grace Methodist Church. Afterward the "old grads" walked across the street to the school, where an interesting program was presented. The class met only once before, that being in 1941, when it was decided to have reunions each ten years.

The committee in charge of the affair this year, included Louise Bane, Kathryn Hanna, Nancy Belle Kemphfer, Kethleen Reese, Maxine Kemphfer, Raymond Murray, Fred Stewart and James Broome, now with the U. S. Armed Forces in Japan.

The banquet table was decorated with the class colors, orchid and green predominating, and with lighted tapers. The motto of the class "Labor Conquers All Things," was prominently displayed, as was also the class flower, lilacs. The programs were enclosed within a gold covered binding, with black lettering, made by Philip Baker.

James W. Goldsworthy gave the invocation and Raymond Murray was toastmaster. There was group singing, led by Hazel Rogers, and accompanied at the piano by Lynn Roderick. Statistics were enumerated by Kathleen Reese and Louise Bane read letters from classmates to the group. The old class song, sung to the tune of "The Loveliest Night of the Year," was a memory booster and a new song was presented for "old grads." Harry Chapman gave a gridiron review. The business session was in charge of John Leatherman, and at closing the group sang "Till We Meet Again."

Officers were re-elected for the next decade. They are John Leatherman, president; Ray Murray, vice president, and Mrs. Louise Broome Bane secretary and treasurer.

Missionary Will Preach

WESTERNPORT — Rev. Ernest Ikenberry, a missionary, will conduct the Sunday evening service of the Church of the Brethren on Sunday, January 27, the Woman's Work Organization reported at a recent meeting.

Fourteen sick calls were made during the month. An interesting report was given by a Mrs. Anthony Amoruso, a delegate to the district meeting held in Frostburg. The mission study was planned for each Wednesday evening during January.

A program in charge of the missionary and relief committees was held after the business meeting. A Christmas party was planned for Wednesday, December 19, at the church annex.

Henry KOs Baker In 8th; Maryland Is 40-Point Favorite

Pittsburgher Is Flattened By Left Hook

Los Angeles Heavy Hands Bob 1st Loss In 26 Pro Matches

The hulking Baker, unbeaten in 26 previous fights, appeared on his way to another win when he walked into the dynamite left from Henry. Baker wobbled back against the ropes from the force of the hook. The mustachioed negro sagged between the two lower ropes and fell on his back with his legs up in the air while Referee Ruby Goldstein counted ten.

When Dr. Vincent Nardiello, the State Athletic Commission doctor, reached Baker, the fighter blinked and said "what the hell hit me?"

It was just as much of a surprise to the small crowd of 3,515 that paid $11,236. Even Henry was bewildered by his sudden success against the fourth ranked heavy in the world.

Alderson Going Good

By C. V. BURNS

Ninety-two games were played this season by the 15 collegiate and high school football teams of Allegany and six nearby West Virginia counties and only two were decided by the margin of a single point.

They were the games in which Linsly of Wheeling defeated Fort Hill and prevented the Sentinels from turning in an undefeated season and Romney's win over Beall. Both scores were 14-13.

Potomac State also was knocked out of an undefeated and untied season as the result of a two-point loss at the hands of Concord College, a club that came to Keyser with an 0-6 record. The final score was 14-12.

• — • — •

The greatest number of points scored by a district team was recorded when the West Virginia Deaf School trounced the New Jersey Silents, 57-0. Allegany hung it on Ridgeley, 52-0.

Parsons and Elkins put on the "scoringest" game of the season (70 points) with the latter winning, 45-25.

Six tie games, an unusual number, were played by district teams. The only scoreless tie was between Franklin and Keyser. Moorefield and Romney played the only 0-0 game in 1950.

Ridgeley High was shut out the greatest number of times (5) while Keyser chalked up the most shutouts, blanking five opponents.

No new city scoring records were established.

A local football fan wants to know if Fort Hill's victory on Thanksgiving Day entitles the Sentinels to permanent possession of Allegany because it was the third consecutive win the Hilltoppers scored over the Campers!

The University of Maryland will be playing its 50th game under Coach Jim Tatum when it faces West Virginia today at College Park.

Tatum's 5-year record as head of the Terps is 37 wins, 9 losses and three ties.

Sam Huff, Farmington High School tackle, who played at Romney recently, is tabbed as the best lineman in West Virginia this year by a member of the West Virginia coaching staff. Coach Art Lewis is on Huff's trail.

The hard luck guy of the majors last season was Saul Rogivin of the Chicago White Sox. He lost eight games—seven by one run and the other a 2-0 setback at the hands of the Yankees.

Franklin Phares, former AHS basketeer, is a freshman on the Davis and Elkins College cage squad. He's 6 feet, 5 inches tall and tips the beam at 172.

Carl Tacy, of Huttonsville, former Tygarts Valley High School scoring ace, is also with the Senators.

Lee Sala, who was starched by Joey DeJohn the last time out, is slated to meet Jimmy Taylor of New York next Tuesday at East Liberty, Pittsburgh.

Taylor must be a beaut. The record book shows he has lost 21 out of 31 bouts in the last three years.

Sala, incidentally, belted out a guy named Taylor here in one round.

Joe Kelly, former Baltimore newspaperman, who is secretary of the Maryland, Delaware and West Virginia Division of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association, says when he was graduated from Loyola College 12 years ago he didn't know for sure whether horses lived on oats or "cabbage."

His experience at the mutuel windows led him to the latter assumption.

Joe Blair, Maryland's football publicist, points out that Ed "Mighty Mo" Modzelewski, the Terps' star fullback from Natrona, Pa., is the only college player to have a battleship named after him!

Don Alderson, of Canonsburg, Pa., former amateur featherweight star, whom Cumberland's Jimmy Catanese lost a decision to four years ago at Connellsville, Pa., is going good as a pro at Miami Beach, Fla.

His latest win is over Humberto Sierra, the Cuban, whom he stopped in eight heats.

In 1947, Alderson had Catanese on the deck for counts of eight, seven and two in a 3-round match but couldn't keep him there.

That Catanese boy used to fight 'em all and win or lose he always gave the fans a run for their money.

At the recent meeting of the P.V.C. we learned that to be eligible for the football championship a team must play four games with four different conference foes.

A win counts two points, a tie one point and nothing is allowed for a loss.

In basketball, eight games must be played with four different conference opponents and the same ruling applies to baseball.

Brooklyn Boxer Kicks Referee, Loses License

Compitello Barred In New York State

NEW YORK, Nov. 23 (AP)—Rocco (Rocky) Compitello, the middleweight boxer who punched and kicked a 63-year-old referee last week, today lost his boxing license.

Robert K. Christenberry, chairman of the New York State Athletic Commission, threw the book at the 24-year-old Brooklyn fighter.

"I advise you to get other means of livelihood," Christenberry said. "As long as I am commissioner you never will be permitted to box in the state of New York."

The young prelim fighter's license had been suspended indefinitely after his Nov. 15 bout at Broadway Arena with Tony Recce of Niagara Falls, Ont.

Referee Jack Appel said he warned Compitello four times to break clearly. On the fifth warning, Rocco hit him on the nose. Then he sent the fighter to his corner and disqualified him in the third round, Appel said he was kicked in the groin.

The boxer escaped a criminal charge because Appel didn't want to press a complaint charging felonious assault, saying, "the guy just went berserk."

At today's hearing, Compitello said he didn't remember kicking the referee although he admitted the warnings.

"I don't remember anything," he said. "After he warned me I told him 'let me fight. I ain't doing nothing wrong. I just fight that way.'"

Compitello's small purse, held up pending the hearing, was given to the fighter.

Aussies Defeat U. S. In Doubles

SYDNEY, Australia, Nov. 23 (AP)—Tennis fever swept Australian sports circles today as the United States doubles combination of Ted Schroeder and Tony Trabert were defeated and two outsiders in the Davis Cup singles calculations prepared to meet for the New South Wales championships.

Frank Sedgman and Ken McGregor, Australia's No. 1 doubles team, scored a brilliant uphill victory to turn back Schroeder and Trabert in five sets. A crowd of 10,000 cheered as one of the greatest doubles matches seen here but this only whetted the appetites of the tennis fans who anticipate a great singles battle tomorrow between Vic Sexias of Philadelphia and young Mervyn Rose of Australia.

Beard Leads City Scorers Second Year

Fort Hill Halfback Racks Up 60 Points

Richard "Dick" Beard, Fort Hill halfback, led the city scorers for the second straight year by amassing 60 points for the Sentinels during the 1951 campaign which closed on Thanksgiving Day.

Beard, whose brother Ralph also starred at Fort Hill in past years, racked up seven touchdowns and made 18 extra points after tds, beating out Dick Widdows of AHS in that department by three tallies.

Donald Stine and Leonard White, also of Fort Hill, were tied for the runner-up spot with 42 markers each. Bobby Arnone of LaSalle finished fourth with 32 points.

Fourteen Fort Hill players broke into the scoring column this season and gave the Sentinels 233 points.

Earl "Lefty" Bruce, of Allegany, set the city all-time record in 1948 with 138 markers. Don Decker of Fort Hill scored 39 points-after-touchdowns in 1949 and the same year Fort Hill rolled up 361 points in 10 games for the team scoring mark. This year's records:

Justice Department Says Restrictions On Telecasts Illegal

WASHINGTON, Nov. 23 (AP)—The Justice Department made it clear tonight that it regards restrictions on telecasts of big time college football games illegal, but that it cannot do anything about it immediately.

The department made public a telegram to Governor Lawrence W. Wetherby of Kentucky. The governor has asked that Attorney General McGrath move against the National Collegiate Athletic Association for refusing to permit the televising of tomorrow's Tennessee-Kentucky game at Lexington.

The department's wire, signed by Newell A. Clap, acting chief of the anti-trust division, asked that the governor take note of the anti-trust suit filed in Philadelphia on Oct. 9 against the professional National Football League and its member clubs for similar broadcasting restrictions.

The Kentucky - Tennessee game has been a sellout for weeks.

However, NCAA has refused requests that it be televised under its experimental program this fall of limiting the number of telecast games in an effort to check on TV's effect on the games generally.

Unbeaten Vols Test Kentucky In Game Today

Illinois Needs Win Or Tie To Clinch Rose Bowl Berth

By JOHN CHANDLER

NEW YORK, Nov. 23 (AP)—The South, Southwest and Far West offers much of the college football dynamite tomorrow as the fading 1951 season comes up with half a dozen bowl-tinged games.

A possibility that Tennessee, the nation's No. 1 team, might be knocked off by up - and - coming Kentucky has made this traditional battle at Lexington, Ky., a clash of national interest.

However, there's plenty of action elsewhere on the pigskin firing line, with such pairings as Illinois-Northwestern, California - Stanford, Southern Methodist-Baylor, Texas Christian - Rice, Wisconsin - Minnesota, and Purdue-Indiana. All have a New Year's day bowl flavor.

One of the day's smallest crowds, but still a capacity turn out of 36,000 will jam McLean Stadium for the tilt between unbeaten Tennessee and Kentucky. The lure is a duel between two All-America candidates, Hank Lauricella of Tennessee, and Kentucky's Babe Parilli, plus a gander at two bowl clubs.

Tennessee has accepted a bid to play Maryland in the Sugar Bowl, while thrice-beaten Kentucky meets the Southwest Conference champion in the Cotton Bowl. If Tennessee wins, Dallas gets a four-time loser come Jan. 1.

Illinois Has Big Chance

The Big Ten's Rose Bowl representative can be decided at Evanston, Ill. Illinois can clinch the trip west by defeating or tieing Northwestern before a sellout throng of 54,000. The Illni are unbeaten, but were held to a scoreless tie last week by Ohio State. Northwestern has clipped Illinois the last four years running.

Wisconsin and Purdue are still in the running if Illinois falters. If Illinois loses, Purdue can win the title by defeating Indiana in the game at Bloomington. Wisconsin can take it all by beating Minnesota at Minneapolis if both Illinois and Purdue are dumped.

The other half of the Rose Bowl picture is finished, for Stanford, winner of nine straight games, has clinched the Pacific Coast Conference title. Stanford is host to twice-beaten California before a S.R.O. crowd of 90,108 at Palo Alto. In another major western affair, some 75,000 will watch Southern California and U.C.L.A. at Los Angeles. Stanford is the only team to beat Southern California in conference play.

TCU Battles Rice

In the southwest, where all is confusion as usual, Texas Christian and Rice will try to break their first-place conference deadlock at Fort Worth. These two, along with Baylor and Texas, still are in the running for the title and a Cotton Bowl berth against Kentucky.

Baylor plays dangerous Southern Methodist in Waco. The Southwest snarl won't be untangled until a week later. Texas plays Texas A&M next Thursday, while Baylor meets Rice and Texas Christian tackles S. M. U. Dec. 1. An Orange Bowl bid may go to one of the scrapping southwest outfits.

In another bowl development, a representative of the Gator Bowl at Jacksonville, Fla., said Clemson probably would be invited to meet Miami (Fla) in the Jan. 1 game if Clemson "looks good and wins" from Auburn tomorrow. Clemson beat Miami, 15-14, in the Orange Bowl last New Year's Day.

Seven of the top 10 teams in this week's AP poll wind up their warfare tomorrow as far as regular season play is concerned. Michigan State, No. 2, closes against Colorado at East Lansing, Mich., and Maryland, No. 4, takes on West Virginia at College Park, Md., in a finale before the Sugar Bowl trip.

Powerful Princeton, the No. 5 club and tops in the east, can clinch a second straight Ivy League crown by taking Dartmouth. Tomorrow also is farewell to 1951's regular campaign for Stanford, No. 3; Illinois, No. 6; Wisconsin, No. 8; and Kentucky, No. 9.

Tennessee still has Vanderbilt Dec. 1. Georgia Tech, the No. 7 club which is half of the Orange Bowl lineup, plays Davidson tomorrow, then closes against Georgia next week. Baylor is the No. 10 team in the poll.

Traditional Tilts Listed

Several traditional games are spotted around the land, including Cornell at Pennsylvania, Harvard at Yale, Washington State at Washington, Oregon and Oregon State, Michigan at Ohio State, Oklahoma at Nebraska, North Carolina at Duke.

Navy and Army rest until next Saturday when the annual service clash takes place at Philadelphia. Iowa plays at Notre Dame tomorrow.

Other games tomorrow include:

WEST—Oklahoma A&M at Houston, Tulsa at Arkansas.

SOUTH — Auburn at Clemson, Florida at Alabama, Memphis State at Vanderbilt, Southeastern Louisiana at Tulane, Villanova at Louisiana State, William and Mary at Virginia, South Carolina at Wake Forest.

EAST—Brown at Columbia, Colgate at Rutgers, Miami (O) at Cincinnati, Penn State at Pittsburgh, Syracuse at Boston U., Temple at Holy Cross.

Fort Hill Beats AHS, 13-6, Keeps City Football Title

Beall Holds LaSalle To 6-6 Tie; Silents Beat Romney, 27-20

Fort Hill High School's Sentinels retained the city championship by defeating Allegany High School, 13-6, in a hard-fought contest at the local stadium, Beall High battled LaSalle to a 6-6 draw in the mud at Frostburg and the West Virginia School for the Deaf edged Romney High, 27-20, at Romney, as the football season in the tri-State area was concluded on Thanksgiving Day.

Approximately 7,000 persons witnessed the Turkey Day classic here and saw Coach William P. Hahn's eleven defeat the Campers for the fifth time in the last six years. It was the 19th meeting of the schools and Allegany now holds a 9-8 edge in wins. Two games ended in ties.

Fort Hill scored touchdowns in the first and third periods to take a 13-0 lead and the Campers registered their 6-pointer in the final stanza.

Donald Stine smashed over from the one-yard line for the initial td. Beard had taken a lateral from Leonard White and ran to the 19, Beard snared Jimmy Farris' wobbly pass on the four and Harold Hull went to the one from where Stine carried it over. Beard then booted the extra point.

In the third period Ronnie Sisk's fumble was recovered by Richard Hughes on the Campers' 26. Beard gained five yards on a wide sweep, Dave Ritter recovered Farris' fumble for a first down on the 13. Three plays later Leonard White skirted left end for a td to give the Sentinals a 13-0 advantage.

Sisk Averts Shutout

Ronnie Sisk averted a shutout defeat for the Campers by toting the ball over from the 1-yard line in the final period after a drive from the AHS 44. Eversole's catch of Sisk's pass netted the Campers a 24-yard gain during the drive.

Each team got within the other's 20 yard line on four occasions during the contest.

Firt Hill held a 17-13 edge in first downs and piled up 219 net yards rushing to 173 for the losers. The champs tried six passes, completed two for 28 yards and had one intercepted. Allegany completed three of eight for 59 yards and had one swiped by the opposition. The four West Virginia officials penalized Fort Hill 25 yards and Allegany was set back 10 yards.

Each Score In 3rd Period

Both touchdowns in the contest at Frostburg were scored in the third period.

Bobby Arnone, LaSalle's leading ground gainer, skirted end and ran 13 yards for the Explorers' td. Henry Chultheis intercepted Marty Mullaney's pass and galloped 75 yards for the Mountaineers' score.

The first downs were 7-6 with LaSalle holding the edge. LaSalle gained 119 net yards rushing to 106 for Beall. LaSalle tried eight passes and completed two for 12 yards and Beall clicked thrice in eight attempts for 29 yards. LaSalle was set back 20 yards and Beall 10 yards on penalties.

Silents Trip Pioneers

The West Virginia Deaf School closed one of its most successful seasons by turning back Romney High School by the margin of a single touchdown.

West Virginia Deaf scored in every period while the Pioneers tallied in the first, second and fourth quarters. Hugh Boyd accounted for three of the winners' tds while Jack Riggleman got the other six-pointer. Charley Tackett plunged three extra points. Orville Payne scored twice and Roger Parker once for the losers. Payne booted two extra points.

The Silents collected eight first downs and piled up 246 net yards on the ground. They also completed three of eight aerials for 95 yards. Romney had seven first downs, 227 net yards rushing and 203 yards on six completed passes in 11 tries.

Marty Marion Loses His Job As Cards' Pilot

Saigh Has No One In Mind For Post

ST. LOUIS, Nov. 23 (AP) —Marty Marion, Mr. Shortstop of another year, was eased out as a manager of the St. Louis Cardinals in a surprise move today.

Marty Marion

Owner Fred Saigh wouldn't say why the rookie manager was given the gate but it generally was believed Saigh felt Marion lacked aggressiveness, despite the club's third place finish last season.

Saigh insisted he had no one in mind for the job. Immediate speculation on his No. 1 choice for the job pointed at Eddie Stanky, the New York Giants' fiery second baseman.

Previous statements by Saigh and Marion indicated that their conference today was merely to settle the question of whether Marion's contract would be renewed for one or two years.

The unexpected announcement was made by Saigh after he had talked with Marion for an hour.

"We are not renewing Mr. Marion's contract as manager of the Cardinals," he said. "No comment on reasons. We have no successor in mind."

The 33-year-old Marion, one of the game's best shortstops until he was sidelined by an ailing knee before the start of the 1951 season, said it "came as a complete surprise to me." Saigh told him, he said, that he "didn't think I'm the man for the job."

Marion said he would like to resume his career as a player—but only if he can regain the form that won him the title of "Mr. Shortstop" in his 11 years in that position with the Redbirds.

Asked if he were interested in Stanky for the manager's job, Saigh replied "I cannot be interested in Stanky because he is the property of the New York Giants."

Under the rules of baseball, club representatives cannot tamper with players on other teams without permission of their owners. It was believed Saigh will try to gain such authority from the Giants.

The Cardinals finished a dismal fifth in 1950 under Eddie Dyer. After Marion took over, they were off to a fine start last season. But a flu epidemic seriously crippled the squad on one of the club's early trips to the east. The Red Birds never were able to make up the deficit.

Marion, who said his biggest disappointment last season was his own inability to play, said his knee now seems okay but that an old back injury still bothers him.

A veteran player who has seen service in four world series and on seven National League All-Star teams, Marion was named the league's most valuable player in 1944.

The lanky shortstop, who always excelled in the field, had his best year as a batter in 1943 when he had a hitting average of .280.

Terps To Seek Ninth Straight Triumph Today

Tatum's Undefeated Eleven Will Battle WVU At College Park

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 23 (AP) — The odds-makers are forcing Maryland's undefeated Sugar Bowlers to lay the score on heavily against West Virginia tomorrow (2 p. m.) or be embarrassed.

Maryland is being quoted as 40-point favorites in the regular season's finals for the two teams in Byrd Stadium.

The wide spread probably is based on their respective games with Washington & Lee. Maryland ran up a 54-14 margin over the Virginians who turned around and trounced West Virginia 34-0.

Coach Jim Tatum might be influenced to let his regulars stay in longer than necessary because 15 of them are playing their last home game. These include All-America Guard Bob Ward and Fullback Ed (Mighty Mo) Modzelewski.

A Maryland victory will wrap up the best season in its history—nine straight triumphs, the Sugar Bowl invitation, and a share in the Southern Conference championship. West Virginia would be Maryland's fifth conference victim, the same number credited to VMI.

Maryland already has set a new season scoring record of 299 points for the university and needs only 70 yards rushing to set a new high in that department. Its 2,383 yards rushing to date is eighth highest in the nation and its overall offense of 3,208 ninth best.

Both Maryland and West Virginia have good defensive records. West Virginia's defense against all types of offense is eighth best. Maryland has held the opposition to an average 87.6 yards rushing for fourth best while West Virginia's 101.8 average is 10th.

These rushing defense records may be a tipoff that West Virginia's efforts toward an upset will be concentrated on passing.

Jones Equals Record With 6 Touchdowns

Cleveland Virtually Clinches American Conference Crown

CLEVELAND, Nov. 26 (INS) — Dub Jones equalled a National Football League record today by scoring six touchdowns to lead the Cleveland Browns to a 42 to 21 victory over the Chicago Bears before 40,969 partisan fans at Cleveland.

The Dubber's six tallies equalled a 22-year-old record set by Ernie Nevers, former quarterback of the Chicago Cardinals, against the Bears on Nov. 28, 1929.

Jones scored four of his touchdowns on runs and two on passes.

It was the Browns' eighth straight victory of the season and virtually clinched the Natinal Football League's American Conference title. The loss dropped the Bears into a second-place tie with Los Angeles behind the Detroit Lions in the loop's National Conference.

After a scoreless first period Cleveland marched 48 yards, with Jones going two yards for the score. Lou Grozo booted the first of six extra points.

The second touchdown came a few minutes later when Otto Graham fired a 34-yard pass to Jones, who grabbed the ball on the Bear's three and stepped into the end zone.

Jones scored his third and fourth touchdowns of the game in the third period, one on a 12 yard-run and the other covering 27 yards.

The Bears broke into the scoring column in the same period when George Gulyanics crashed over from the Cleveland three to climax a 40-yard march.

On the first play of the final period, Jones, grabbed a pitchout from Graham and scampered 43 yards for his fifth touchdown. A few minutes later, Jones scored his record-tying touchdown when he caught a pass from Otto Graham, good for 13 yards.

CHICAGO, Nov. 25 (INS) — The New York Giants put together a field goal and a touchdown in the second quarter today to beat the Chicago Cardinals, 10 to 0, in a rain-swept National Football League game played before 11,892 fans at Comiskey Park.

The Giants drove from their own 48-yard line to the Cards 11 early in the second period before they scored their field goal. When two Charley Conerly passes failed, Ray Poole dropped back to the 18-yard stripe and kicked a field goal to put the Giants in front 3 to 0.

Later in the same period, Bosh Pritchard, recently obtained by the Giants from the Philadelphia Eagles, grabbed a Cardinal punt on his own 19-yard line and raced 81 yards down the sidelines for a touchdown. Poole kicked the extra point to make it 10 to 0.

BAKER'S TRIP TO HEAVY TITLE MATCH IS DETOURED

Bob Baker is through (ropes and fighting) in eighth round.

THE DESIGNS of burly Bob Baker of Pittsburgh on the heavyweight title are blasted, at least temporarily, in a 10-rounder with sharpshooting Clarence Henry of Los Angeles in Madison Square Garden, New York. Outweighing Henry 209½ to 185, Baker suffers his first defeat in 27 pro fights as he is battered through the ropes and counted out before 5,000 spectators. (International Soundphotos)

Beard Equals Beightol Mark In K-C Voting

Named Fourth Time, Sisk Also Chosen

Fort Hill's Dick Beard equalled Lynn Beightol's record of being named Player of the Week three times in one season and four times over a two-year span when he was nominated as co-winner with Allegany's Ronnie Sisk after the annual Thanksgiving Day clash between the two elevens.

It marked the third time this season the Knights of Columbus selection committee picked the hard-running halfback who copped the city scoring title. Beard also was nominated once last year. It was the second consecutive selection for Sisk this year.

Balloting for the season closes following the Turkey Day selections and nine athletes in all copped nominations for the weekly award in 1951.

Beard was outstanding both offensively and defensively in Fort Hill's 13-6 triumph over the Campers. The speedy halfback lugged the leather for 81 yards in nine carries, an average of nine per try, speared a pass which set up the first Fort Hill score and stopped two potential Allegany scoring threats with his defensive play.

Sisk, playing his most brilliant game, exploded for 94 yards from his quarterback spot, passed spectacularly under pressure and generally sparked the Allegany team to its greatest effort of the year.

Other winners this year include Leonard White, Bill Lee and Dave Ritter of Fort Hill, Joe Hager and Gene Horton of Allegany and Bobby Arnone and Ray Brown of La-Salle.

All players named for the weekly award automatically became eligible for the "Player of the Year" Prize—a gold wrist watch donated by Cumberland Council No. 586, K. of C.

Army-Navy Clash Headlines Slim Grid Slate Saturday

Terps Conclude Best Season In 59-Year History

Crush Mounties, 54-7 For 9th Win In Row

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 25 (AP) —Maryland's great gridiron machine looked back today on the most successful season in its 59 year history.

The nationally fourth ranking Terps ground out a 54-7 victory over West Virginia University Saturday. It was their ninth straight victory in an unbeaten season and gave them a tie with Virginia Military Institute for the Southern Conference championship. Not since 1893 had a Maryland team gone undefeated and untied, and they played only two opponents that year.

Now Coach Jim Tatum faces his biggest chore — how to stop the powerful Tennessee Vols, currently ranked No. 1, in the Sugar Bowl classic on New Years Day.

Like the other victories this season, Maryland's decisive win over West Virginia was a team triumph. The Terps' slick quarterback, Jack Scarbath, tossed only four passes, three of them for touchdowns to ends Paul Lindsay, Lou Weidensaul and Lloyd Colteryahn.

Four backs ran for scores, including two vicious plunges by Ed (Mighty Mo) Modzelewski The big fullback was forced out of the game with a head injury early in the third period. But not before he had piled up 131 yards in 14 carries, to outrush the entire opposing backfield for the sixth time this season.

Horning Runs 77 Yards

Freshman Joe Horning flashed the same brilliant running he showed against Missouri. The little halfback took a lateral and raced down the sidelines untouched for 77 yards and the last score of the game.

In the Missouri contest he intercepted a pass behind his goal line and weaved through the entire opposition to score.

Other Terp backs who crossed the goal against West Virginia were Bob Shemonski, Karney Scioscia and Joe Horning.

Along with their unbeaten season, the Terps had some other impressive records. The eight touchdowns Saturday ran their scoring total to 353 points, 79 more than the previous high set last year in ten games.

Their record one-game offensive total of 618 yards helped set an all-time season total of 3,900. Mighty Mo himself rushed for 834 of those yards, 154 more than all nine opponents.

Win "Iron Maul"

Along with everything else, there was frosting on the cake when Maryland took permanent possession of the first "iron maul" trophy. It commemorates the driving of the first railroad spike between West Virginia and Maryland.

A replica of the "maul" is exchanged between the winner of each contest, but the trophy went to the Terps for three victories.

Tennessee's Vols Meet Vanderbilt

By RIP WATSON

NEW YORK, Nov. 25 (AP) — The 1951 college football season completed its last big Saturday yesterday with a practically new lineup of conference champions, a brand new bowl game alignment and a list of major unbeaten teams you can count on the fingers of one hand.

With only the Army-Navy and a thin handful of other traditional games coming up next Saturday, only Princeton and Oklahoma of eleven 1950 conference kingpins have won their laurels again. Tulsa, however, again is leading in the Missouri Valley race and Texas is still in the four team Southwest Conference scramble.

None of the Jan. 1, 1951, Bowl game participants will be back at the same stand next New Year's Day, unless the Orange Bowl should decide on Clemson to oppose Georgia Tech.

And the cream of the crop—the unbeaten, untied teams — numbers only Tennessee, Michigan State, Maryland, Princeton and San Francisco. Tennessee's Vols still must face Vanderbilt next week.

Here's a quick rundown of the picture in the various conferences:

Ivy	Princeton
Southern	Maryland (5-0) and Virginia Military (5-0)
Southeastern	Tennessee (4-0) and Georgia Tech (6-0) Both have one conference game to play
Big 10	Illinois
Big Seven	Oklahoma
Southwest	Texas Christian (4-1); Baylor (3-1-1); Texas (3-2) and Rice (3-2). All have one game to play.
Pacific Coast	Stanford
Missouri Valley	Tulsa (3-0) has one more conference game; Drake finished with 3-1.
Skyline	Utah
Rocky Mountain	Colorado Mines
Border	Hardin-Simmons (4-0) plays Texas Tech (4-0) Saturday.

Rated off yesterday's windup, the Sugar Bowl looks like the liveliest Jan. 1 game. Tennessee's resounding 28-0 thrashing of Kentucky (the

Steelers Score Upset Over Eagles, 17-13

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 25 (INS) —The Pittsburgh Steelers downed the fading Philadelphia Eagles, 17 to 13 today in a National Football League game at Shibe Park.

A crowd of 15,537 fans saw the Steelers jump to a 10-0 first quarter bulge on a 24-yard field goal by Joe Geri and a one yard plunge by Fran Rogel that capped a 75-yard drive.

Adrian Burk's 17-yard aerial to Pete Pihos gave the Eagles a second period touchdown but Bob Walston's attempted conversion was blocked.

Chuck Ortmann's 34-yard pass to Lynn Chandnois gave the Steelers another score in the first half.

Although blanked in the second half, the Pittsburghers limited the Eagles to a last period touchdown. Jim Parmer tallied it on a 15-yard end run. Walston's conversion was good this time.

Goode, Baugh, Dudley Spark Upset Victory

Fullback Scores Twice For Winners; Lions Take Lead

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24. (INS)—Rob Goode and two old pros — Sammy Baugh and Bill Dudley—paced the underdog Washington Redskins today to a 31 to 21 victory over the Los Angeles Rams in one of pro football's stunning upsets of the year.

A chilled crowd of 26,037 fans braved 37 degree weather and an overcast day to watch the inspired Redskins overpower the Rams' rookie-laden defense, bottle their pass and ground offense and score in every period except the last.

The Skins' victory gave the Detroit Lions undisputed possession of first place in the National Conference.

Washington's ground attack told the story of today's game. Holding the Rams to 61 yards in rushing, the Skins chalked up 371 yards with Goode smashing for 148 on 23 tries.

The Rams took a 7-0 lead less than three minutes after the game started when Jerry Williams intercepted Baugh's pass on the Skins' 17, and sprinted over.

Washington came back two minutes later to even the count. Sparked by Dudley's 24-yard run, the Skins marched 67 yards in 11 plays with Goode plunging from the one.

The second quarter barely began when Goode skirted right end for three yards, climaxing a 63-yard drive in nine plays. Two minutes before halftime, Baugh tossed to Hugh Taylor for 24 yards to give Washington a 21 to 7 lead.

A minute after Dudley's 23-yard field goal in the third quarter, Al Demao intercepted Bob Waterfield's pass on the Rams' 46 and Washington tallied after four plays with Baugh throwing to Dudley.

The Rams moved 86 yards early in the fourth period with Waterfield tossing to Elroy (Crazy Legs) Hirsch for three yards, and 30 seconds before the game ended a Waterfield to Bob Boyd aerial for 28 game the Rams their last touchdown.

Turning the sprint distance over a fast track in 1.11 4/5, War Phar, who is trained by W. A. Croll, Jr., paid $25.20 and gained a check for $7,225.

Charleston was a fast-closing third, finishing only a nose behind Senator Joe.

Ridden by M. N. Gonzalez, War Phar carried 114 pounds, five less than the topweighted Senator Joe.

RUGBY

Flintwist SWEATERS

Knights of old didn't mind a konk on the knob because they were dressed to take the rap.

Today, men wear "FLINTWIST" Sweaters which stand the gaff of years of wear, even under the most punishing service.

They are easy to wear and hard to wear out because they are knitted of Cable-spun yarns by the exclusive Rugby "Triple-Tite" process.

KNITTED AND GUARANTEED BY RUGBY KNITTING MILLS, INC.

Area Police Arrest Man Wanted In New York State

Maryland and West Virginia State Police teamed up this week to nab a Massachusetts man wanted in Watertown, N. Y., on a grand larceny charge.

State Trooper W. Frank Bowley, of the Keyser, W. Va., detachment, arrested Robert Levin, alias Robert Clark, alias James Walker, 35, of Springfield, Mass., Tuesday on Main Street in Keyser.

Authorities here said a bench warrant has been issued in Watertown, N. Y., for grand larceny which was allegedly committed on October 9. The warrant is being brought to Keyser, where Levin is held under bond.

Late Wednesday Justice of the Peace Kirk K. Mawhinney at Keyser ordered Levin held under $1,000 bond for New York authorities on a charge of being a fugitive from justice.

For about two weeks prior to his arrest in Keyser, Levin had an office in a downtown Cumberland building and was promoting a circus for a local service club, State Police reported.

State Police asked to investigate, sent his auto license number to Massachusetts via teletype, but the message was intercepted by State Police at Watertown. They sent a teletype that said Levin was wanted for grand larceny and stated that a bench warrant and extradition papers would be forwarded upon his arrest.

State Police here contacted Levin's wife at their West Side apartment and discovered that he was in Keyser. His description was forwarded to the Keyser detachment and he was arrested by Trooper Bowley.

Union Wage Boost Considered By WSB

The application of Local 1874, Textile Workers Union of America (CIO), for approval of a six-cent wage hike granted in August by the Celanese Corporation of America was heard last week by the Regional Wage Stabilization Board at Richmond, Va.

Playford Aldridge, union president, said that more data on the application was required and the matter will be taken up again November 27 and 28 by the WSB. Aldridge said this is the usual procedure in wage cases. The six-cent pay increase will be retroactive, if granted.

The local union office will be closed today, Aldridge said because of alterations being made.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 23 (INS)—Tomorrow is Peggy Dow's wedding day. She's marrying Walter Helmerich, III, in Athens, Tennessee—but this is not the usual motion picture wedding. The bridegroom has put his social foot down firmly and says there will be no newsmen and no photographers .

That's too bad for Peggy, who is continuing her movie career and who is excellent in "Bright Victory." She comes back to Universal-International the last of February to star in "Great Companion" with Dan Dailey. It's a Gene Markey story.

Before Peggy becomes a working girl again she'll honeymoon in Honolulu for three weeks. Then she'll go to her home in Tulsa to see the house Walter—pardon me, Mr. Helmerich—built for her.

"Sometimes I Love You," which was to have starred Clark Gable, will not be postponed. Some other actor will be selected to take the king's place, and the picture will start rolling just as soon as Producer Arthur Hornblow and Director Robert Leonard can get the right cast.

Clark, as I said, is in Mexico hunting, and his main reason for not wanting to do this picture was because he didn't want to come back to Hollywood while his divorce troubles with Lady Sylvia Ashley are brewing.

I talked to both John Wayne and his business manager, Bo Roos, who are in Acapulco.

John told me that he's going to film a few scenes in San Antonio for "The Alamo," which he will make in Mexico. It was difficult to hear but I understood him to say some hospital scenes were to be made there.

He told me he thought everything was going to be straightened out all right, and that Texas wasn't going to ban his picture as was the original threat.

Fred MacMurray had a most wonderful time at the command performance. Our homespun hero made his bow to Queen Elizabeth and Princess Margaret and did it with the greatest of ease.

Now Fred's back home and ready to go to work in "Across The Street," at Universal-International. The story, a comedy drama, was sold by the Jules Goldstone agency.

There's a funny angle: Fred hires a pretty but poor girl who lives across from his factory. She pretends to be very rich and lets him drive her "home" to the town's biggest mansion. But when Fred is out of sight, she gets back to her real down-at-the-heels shabby house via streetcar, bus or shoeleather.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

The sultry, dark-haired beauty Scott Brady is going with these days is Susan Ball, who was recently signed at U. I.

Eddie Cantor leaves town on another nationwide tour of military hospitals to last a month.

Joan Bennett and Maggie Ettinger are back from New Orleans where Joanie reigned as queen of the perfume festival. Joan brought back—count 'em—65 bottles of different perfumes, and her excess baggage on the plane was terrific.

Now it's Catherine McLeod for "Sword Of Venus." Hedy La Marr and Andrea King by-passed it. Catherine is the young actress discovered by Frank Borzage.

Congratulations to Frank Pope, editor, reporter, and nice guy, and his bride. On Tuesday they celebrated their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

Charlie Chaplin Jr. and Selena Walter at a table for two at the Bantam Cock.

Richard Hale, baritone who is appearing in "Scaramouche," has been secretly married for two weeks to Fiona Shiell, who has a very good role in "Westward The Women."

That's all today. See you Monday.

Police Check Speeders On Greene Street

The City Police Department crackdown on speeding on the main thoroughfares has resulted in 35 arrests so far this month.

A check of the traffic docket in Police Headquarters shows that 25 of these violations occurred on Greene Street.

Four motorists were nabbed for exceeding the speed limit on Bedford Street while Oldtown Road had two.

One arrest each was made on Park Street, Henderson Avenue, Thomas Street and Baltimore Street.

Bridge Road Work Nears Completion

G. Bates Chaires, district engineer of the State Roads Commission, said yesterday it is hoped to complete the hardsurfacing of the approaches to the Keyser-McCoole bridge on the Maryland side within the next week or so.

The culverts, gutters and other incidental work along the highway approach to the million-dollar structure across the Potomac River will be done later on, Chaires said. If the weather does not turn bad the work can be completed, he added.

At the same time, Chaires said all highway construction work in Garrett county has shut down for the winter. Snow and sub-freezing weather forced contractors in the mountainous area to quit work several weeks ago.

Some work will be continued in Allegany county but not much more will be done due to the winter weather we have been experiencing, Chaires said.

Mirror Of Your Mind

By LAWRENCE GOULD, Consulting Psychologist

Does smoking affect athletes?

Does smoking affect athletes?

Answer: It has no "acute" effect if you are an habitual smoker, report Warren E. Reeves and Laurence E. Morehouse of the University of California, Los Angeles. Fifteen students who smoke regularly were subjected to tests of speed, strength, power and endurance immediately after inhaling the smoke from one cigarette, and again after refraining from smoking for two hours. There was no apparent difference in performance. If you are a confirmed smoker, it will do you no good to refrain from smoking for a few hours before entering some sort of contest. The long-

Will education make your children "strangers"?

Will education make your children "strangers"?

Answer: It need not, but there is no denying that the relations between children who have been to college and parents who have had comparatively little education present a real problem, and require sympathy and understanding on both sides. The more you have made your children feel you recognize their right to "be themselves," the less they will be tempted to adopt "superior" attitudes and think of you as holding them back. To remind them of the sacrifices you have made for them will only alienate them further, since the more ashamed you make them feel, the more they will want to avoid you. range effect of smoking was not taken into account.

Should you fear "psychological malpractice"?

Answer: You may well fear putting yourself in the hands of an incompetent psychologist or of an inadequately trained psychiatrist—either may do grave harm, even with the best intentions. But you have nothing to fear from anyone whom you do not deliberately allow to influence you — least of all, from anyone with whom you have no personal contact. The most sinister of villains cannot "hypnotize" you from a distance, or without your consent. Nor can anyone "get control of your mind" unless you give it to him. Only your own, possibly unconscious wish to be dependent can put you in anybody else's power psychologically.

Navy's Plebes wound up the grid season with a 7-0 record by defeating Bullis Prep in Washington, Saturday, by the score 20-14. It was Bullis' first loss in nine starts.

Harry Deming who brought Washington and Lee High of Arlington, Va., here to play Fort Hill several years ago is now head coach at Bullis where Johnny Long was mentor in 1943. Bullis beat LaSalle that year, 26-6.

Matias (Chow) Echaves, former Washington amateur boxer, who will be remembered as the "human locomotive," played in the Navy backfield this season. He's the fellow who floored Melvin Washington eight times and finally stopped the local boxer in three rounds here in 1948.

Effective this season, when a basket is made, the official does not have to handle the ball before the scored-on team puts the ball in play.

In college and independent ball, the referee had not been obliged to handle the ball on such a play—only in high school contests.

Mel Henry had a successful season as Hagerstown High grid mentor this season. In fact, it was the best since he took over the reins there three years ago. The Hubs won seven, lost two and tied one. Wins were scored over Westminster, Allegany, Frederick, Martinsburg, Montgomery Blair, Baltimore City College and Waynesboro. Losses were to Fort Hill and Gettysburg High. A tie game was played with Chambersburg.

Gavilan, Bratton Fight Wednesday

10-Round Non-Title Go Set For Chicago

NEW YORK, Nov. 25 (AP)—Welterweight champion Kid Gavilan, who broke Johnny Bratton's jaw and took his 147-pound title last May, gives the Chicago fighter a chance for revenge Wednesday night when they clash in a non-title ten at the Chicago Stadium.

If Bratton makes a good showing against the Cuban Flash he may earn himself another chance at the title. The 10 p. m. (EST) bout will be telecast and broadcast by CBS.

The Friday night radio-TV show will be a "rubber" ten rounder between slugging middleweights Paddy Young of New York and Ernie (The Rock) Durando of Bayonne, N. J., at New York's Madison Square Garden. Durando evened an old score with Young when he beat the New Yorker in their second meeting Nov. 2.

Welterweight contender Billy Graham, who lost a title bout to Gavilan, and Bobby Dykes, who will get a championship shot, also are listed for action.

Graham meets Danny Stepanovitch at Cincinnati Thursday night while Dykes will face Red Priest at Miami Monday.

Harry (Kid) Matthews, the sensational Seattle light heavy contender, takes on Maynard Jones at St. Paul Thursday night. Another top match sends Robert Villemain, French middleweight contender, against Jimmy Beau of New York at Milwaukee Tuesday night.

Yanks Rally Ties Forty-Niners, 10-10

NEW YORK, Nov. 25 (INS) — Harvey Johnson's 23-yard field goal with 62 seconds remaining in the game brought the winless New York Yanks a 10 to 10 tie with the San Francisco 49ers today before 13,855 fans at Yankee Stadium.

The Yanks tallied all their points in a thrilling last session to gain their second National Football League deadlock of the season.

An eight-yard jaunt by John Stryzkalski brought Frisco a first period score and Gordon Soltau's 18-yard field goal ended their tallying for the day in the second quarter.

A number of other scoring thrusts by the Frankie Albert-paced 49ers was stopped by the underdog New Yorkers who hit the scoring column in the fourth period when Sherman Howard went over.

Score by periods:

Yanks	0	0	0	10—10
49ers	7	3	0	0—10

Brown Says Mounties Will Be Dangerous

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Nov. 25 (AP)—"We'll be dangerous for any opponent" is about as much as Coach Red Brown will say concerning the prospects of the West Virginia University basketball squad.

West Virginia begins its 42nd cage season and its second with Brown as coach against West Virginia Wesleyan in the field house here next Saturday night.

Except for the loss of three substitutes, Brown has intact for this season's 25-game schedule the squad which compiled a record of 18 won and nine lost last season. The outlook for matching or improving upon that record seems good.

Cage Officials Meet At Fort Hill Tuesday

A meeting of the basketball officials' association will be held Tuesday at Fort Hill High School instead of the Central YMCA, at 8 p. m., John J. "Bobby" Cavanaugh announced last night.

All coaches of district teams are invited to attend the association's clinic to be held Saturday at 1:30 at the State Armory in Hagerstown. Tickets may be obtained by writing to Stewart C. Paxton, Hagerstown.

The George Washington U. team will figure in a demonstration game. There will be a special class for scorers and timers.

Taruffi Wins In Auto Race

Italian Also Second, Victor Gets $23,180

JUAREZ, Mexico, Nov. 25 (AP) — Italians claimed first and second today in the 1,933 Pan-American road race. Americans took third and fourth and all but one of the next seven places.

Piero Taruffi, Italian ace, sent his low slung Ferrari across the finished line at 2:08 p. m. (CST) a split second ahead of his countryman, Alberto Ascari, also in a Ferrari.

Twenty feet behind was Bill Sterling of El Paso, Tex., in a 1951 Chrysler Saratoga.

The first three finishers both set records for the border to border stock car race. Taruffi's unofficial speed averaged about 87.6 miles an hour, Ascari's 87.4, Sterling around 87.1.

Herschel McGriff of Portland, Ore., won the race last year with an average of 78.5 miles an hour for the 2,178 mile course.

Troy Ruttman, Lynwood, Calif., was fourth in a 1948 Mercury. In a revision of unofficial times, he nosed out Jean Trevous of Paris whose Cadillac came in several minutes after the thriller finish.

Three of the 95 starting racers were killed in the tortuous race.

To the official winner of the race goes $23,180. The next nine finishers get prizes ranging down to $1,159 for tenth place.

Matson Scores Twice As Dons Win 20-2

PASADENA, Cal., Nov. 25 (INS)—Fullback Ollie Matson closed out his college career in a blaze of power running to lead the University of San Francisco to a 20 to 2 victory today over Loyola University (Los Angeles) and its first undefeated, untied season.

Matson, the nation's leading ground gainer, crashed over in the second and third periods to account for two of the Dons' three tallies, but failed by one td to tie the college season record of 22 touchdowns.

A sparse crowd of 15,750 saw Loyola quarterback Don Klosterman, Matson's rival for individual honors, fail to achieve his opponent's brilliance as Lion receivers repeatedly dropped his passes. Nevertheless, Klosterman completed 24 of 47 attempts for a total yardage of 211.

Score by periods:

USF	0	13	7	0	—20
Loyola	0	2	0	0	— 2

4-H PRIZE WINNER—Grover William (Bill) Lang, son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Lang, who live between Danville and McCoole on McMullen Highway, is now in Chicago, Ill., to attend the National 4-H Club Congress which begins tomorrow and ends next Thursday. He was adjudged one of eight national prize winners in the 4-H Home Grounds Beautification Contest after first taking first place in the state competition. These pictures indicate some of the scope of the boy's project which beautified the hillside behind his home. He erected a suspension bridge, shown in the upper left picture. In order to stop erosion on the hillside he laid walls and terraces after carting rocks up the hillside. He also established drainage ditches and dams and planted rosebushes, hedges, evergreen and fruit trees. He was one of 23 Marylanders who left in a group from Baltimore for Chicago. Young Lang, a graduate of Bruce High School in Westernport, is an 18-year old freshman at Potomac State School in Keyser, W. Va. He is shown in the pictures with his little brother.

Hello, everbody. Trust you all had a happy Thanksgiving and are now enjoying your turkey hash.

★ ★ ★ ★

Driving up to Grandmother's for Thanksgiving I bumped into a new car, but I didn't worry for I am covered by complete insurance with BOETTNER AND BOETTNER, Frostburg, Insurance and Bonds. Are you covered?

★ ★ ★ ★

I bought some Yardley's cologne for Xmas and Rae bought her boy friend a box of Kings Men aftershave lotion. The only place she could find it in Frostburg was at FORD'S DRUG STORE. They also have Coty's and Seaforths for Men lines.

★ ★ ★ ★

An old Chinese proverb says "One picture is worth a thousand words." When you see the wonderful selection of fashion-new details on ENNA JETTICK fall and winter shoes, you'll know what we mean. Whatever your preference, tailored or dressy, you'll find it at CONDON'S SHOE STORE in Frostburg.

★ ★ ★ ★

Have you stopped in at HOSKEN JEWELRY STORE lately? We found they have a nice selection of Hamilton and Elgin wrist watches for both ladies and men. To help you make these purchases they have a convenient lay-a-way plan. Someone you love will love you that much more if they receive one of these lovely gifts.

★ ★ ★ ★

Rae was remarking about the many Xmas decorations and displays now appearing in the stores of our area. At GRIFFITH'S of Frostburg, we found they have a lovely array of gifts, lingerie, blouses, bags and costume jewelry. Gifts range from $1 on up.

★ ★ ★ ★

If you would like to see the new Sylvania and Admiral television sets, we can tell you where to go. Stop in at HAFER'S FURNITURE STORE today. We are sure you will be pleased and will want one for your own home now that the long, stormy winter evenings have set in. By the number of antennae around town you can see "TV" is accepted here.

★ ★ ★ ★

I was looking for a gift for my twin nephews and walked into the FROSTBURG DEPARTMENT STORE. There, Leo Robertson graciously directed me to the 2nd floor toyland. I saw all kinds of toys, trucks, tractors, roller-coasters and the cutest toy Bar-M-Ranch which I bought for Ronnie and Donnie. I know they'll be tickled with it as you will be with your purchases there.

★ ★ ★ ★

Rae had a big dinner engagement the other night and needed a dress cleaned and pressed. For expert cleaning and fast pick up and delivery service she called, DEIST CLEANERS & DYERS, Frostburg. Try them today.

★ ★ ★ ★

One of our hobbies is playing records. We love to visit the FROSTBURG MUSIC & SPORTS SHOP to see their latest ones. We found that if you buy an R.C.A. 45 rpm record player they'll give you $6 worth of records, in two albums. For latest in popular records, the best in radio and record players you can't beat them.

★ ★ ★ ★

Here's a tip, husbands. Give your wife an "American Kitchen." They're styled in steel, save steps, time, labor and money. They will fit into any kitchen. Where do you find them? Why at LAYMAN'S HARDWARE, of course. Ask them today about helping you with your plans for that new kitchen. Ask also about new tile for your floor.

★ ★ ★ ★

At CHARLIE HILL'S in Frostburg, Rae was buying toys for her girl friend's little boy Mike. She walked into his special top shop at 69 E. Main St. and there bought a little velocipede and toy electric train. Then she went to his regular store, 26 W. Main St., and got some tables and chairs for a little girl friend of hers. Xmas will be so much fun with toys.

★ ★ ★ ★

In Frostburg we found that the ACME SUPER MARKET is having an Anniversary Sale. Not only can you purchase your necessary groceries at amazing prices but you will also find a special offer there. Plan to do your shopping at ACME and see their big displays. We're sure you'll be satisfied.

★ ★ ★ ★

We drove down to 'Coney Tues. to see a real old fashioned melodrama. While sitting in the school Rae suddenly realized she didn't have anything for breakfast. Across the street we saw STAUP'S GROCERY STORE was still open. She quickly ran over and got bread, eggs and milk. You know, it's nice to have a store like STAUP'S open in the evening if you're caught short.

★ ★ ★ ★

After the performance, which left us in stitches by the way, we looked around for a place to get a hamburger and milkshake. Below the school we could see THE LOUNGE and got just what we wanted. Could dance afterwards too. We assured Billy Patton, acting manager, that the next time we came to 'Coney we stop in for a light lunch.

★ ★ ★ ★

On the way back, we visited PHILLIPS FLOWER SHOP where I got a corsage for my mother. While there I found extra special dish gardens, that would add a touch of brightness to any room. They also had new Candelabras made to grow flowers and vines in. I got so interested Rae had to blow the car horn three times before I'd come out. Call 'Coney 3131 and ask about these and anything in flowers.

★ ★ ★ ★

We hope our shopping tips have helped you save steps. Until next week, "Good luck, good shopping and watch for SHOPPING DAY."

Lilya Is Appointed County Investigator

Detective Bureau Head To Succeed Terrence J. Boyle

By LARRY GRECO
News Staff Writer

Lt. Edwin R. Lilya, head of the City of Cumberland detective bureau, has been appointed County Investigator, according to Paul M. Fletcher, state's attorney.

He will succeed Terrence J. Boyle who asked for his retirement November 11 because of ill health. Lilya will assume his new duties January 1.

Fletcher said he has notified the Allegany County Commissioners of the appointment which was accepted by Lilya. Fletcher has sent a letter to the commissioners who under provisions of law must approve the new post.

Fletcher said the commissioners would probably determine the matter at their next regular meeting tomorrow.

Boyle, whose retirement is effective January 1, 1952, served under three state's attorneys during his 29 years service. When he asked for retirement in a letter to the county board of commissioners, the board accepted with regret and it was the unanimous opinion of the commissioners that he had served faithfully for the many years he held the position.

Lilya, a native of Cumberland, began as a patrolman with the Cumberland Police Department approximately 10 years ago. In that time he was assigned to the detective bureau. During that work, Lilya went to Washington to study and take a Federal Bureau of Investigation course.

The 46-year-old new County Investigator resides at 220 Carroll Street and is the father of three daughters and one son.

Cold Rain Turns Highways Into Glare Of Ice

SRC Cindering Crews Are Patroling Roads

BULLETIN

State Police reported late last night that travel west of Frostburg was at a standstill. An Eastbound Blue Ridge bus arrived in Cumberland at 10:30 p. m., about three hours late and another due here at 11:30 p. m. was still beyond Grantsville. State Police said traffic was snarled for hours as fresh ice frozen on top of cinders and salt placed on the highway by SRC crews who worked throughout the night. Police said many motorists prepared to spend the night in their cars or along the route.

A steady rain which began falling on Western Maryland early last night froze as it struck the ground in the mountains and turned highways into a glare of ice.

Shortly after the rain began about 6 p. m., Maryland State Police were discouraging traffic over the highways. They said it was possible to travel east of here with caution if chains were used but that travel west was not recommended.

Is Hurt In Crash

Shortly after the rain hit this area, a local woman was admitted to Memorial Hospital for treatment of injuries suffered in an automobile crash on Oldtown Road.

Mrs. Emma Warner, 42, of 73 Boone Street, was admitted at 6:25 p. m. for treatment of a fractured nose and lacerations after the car driven by her husband, Patrick Warner, hit a guard rail. Several other passengers in the car were slightly hurt.

State Roads Commission officials said crews were placed on the highways as soon as the rain began falling and by 9 p. m. cinders and salt had been applied to the worst spots.

Crews Patrol Roads

At the same time, other crews were patrolling lower areas not immediately affected so they could begin cindering and salting the minute freezing conditions developed.

Early last night, the Weather Bureau issued a special bulletin warning that a low pressure area

Today's Sermonette

"I appeal to you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, to present your bodies as a living sacrifice, holy and acceptable to God, which is your spiritual worship. Do not be conformed to this world but be transformed by the renewal of your mind, that you may prove what is the will of God, what is good and acceptable and perfect."—Romans 12:1-2.

By REV. O. AFTON LINGER

Transformed Lives And A Transformed World

In a topsy-turvy world like ours we need guidance and power to find the life abundant — the transformed life — for ourselves and for our fellowmen. That has always been the world's supreme need. For while we live in a world of uncertainty and confusion, let's remember that it has always been such a world for those who are outside the fellowship, will, work and worship of God. Abel lived in such a world.

From the time sin entered into the world, uncertainty and insecurity prevailed. And the curse of our world, past and present, is the persistent belief that men and women can live well integrated lives and find security in the present world pattern, apart from God.

According to our moral and spiritual leaders possessed of rare insight, the risks and sufferings of our present order are most likely to continue for many years to come. Our salvation is not to flee from these trials and difficulties, but to find a way to live transformed, triumphant lives in and through it all. We must find wisdom and dynamic to inform and guide our lives. All of which demands that we live what someone has termed "the sacramental life", or to use the fine term of St. Paul, "present (our) bodies as a living sacrifice."

Our most powerful answer to the pagan ideologies of the times will be found in the transforming, redemptive power of the living Christ. Only through Him and His spirit can individuals, churches, communities — a world — be transformed.

But that power must be received by individuals first of all. By that same power fishermen ,and men of average ability, were transformed more than nineteen hundred years ago. Whatever may be the improvement in methods, the basic principles are the same, "Christ in you the

Frostburg Police Officer Hospitalized In Altercation

Kreider Severely Cut In Clash

Frostburg Assistant Police Chief Ronald Kreider, 48, is a patient in Miners Hospital suffering from loss of blood and severe cuts about the face and head received in an altercation Saturday night.

Police said Kreider was injured in an altercation with Wilbert A. Stevenson, 35, manager of the Mountain City Taxi Service, Frostburg, who is in the same hospital under police guard. Hospital attendants said Stevenson sustained a bruised jaw and a cut on the cheek.

Will Be Jailed

Frostburg Police Commissioner Perry Myers stated that Stevenson will be brought here to the County Jail as soon as he is released by his physician.

State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher, who began an investigation into the case yesterday, said the probe will be continued today. One major difficulty, Fletcher asserted, is that Stevenson sustained a mouth concussion which prevents him from talking. The state's attorney said that Kreider obviously was cut with some 'sharp instrument" but Fletcher was unable to determine what it was.

Alley Altercation

Fletcher stated that his investigation showed that an altercation between Kreider and Stevenson took place in an alley between the Palace Theatre and the Frostburg

Maple Queen's Condition Same

Miss Lois Lape 19-year old queen of the Somerset County (Pa.) Maple Festival last April, remained in serious condition last night in Somerset Community Hospital from injuries sustained in a Thanksgiving evening accident involving three vehicles.

A graduate of Somerset High School and a freshman at West Chester (Pa.) State Teacher College, she sustained severe facial lacerations and other injuries while riding in an automobile on Route 219 near Somerset.

Another Somerset resident, Thomas Beam, also 19, who was driving the car in which Miss Lape was a passenger, was still in critical condition last night in the Somerset hospital. He suffered a skull fracture and internal injuries when the steering wheel struck him.

A third person hurt in the crash was still listed in fair condition at the hospital. He is Frank Troy, 22, 656 South Center Street, Somerset. His head and back were injured. He was driving a tractor-trailer truck which figured in the accident.

Meanwhile, hospital attaches reported last night that Jay Frey, 19, York, Pa. was in fair condition. He was brought there at 7:15 p. m. in an ambulance, suffering from lacerations of the face, sustained in an accident on the Pennsylvania Turnpike not far from Somerset.

AA To Mark Anniversary Saturday

Public May Hear About Alcoholism

The fourth anniversary of the formation of the local group of Alcoholics Anonymous will be observed at a public meeting at 8:30 p. m. Saturday at St. Mary's Social Center on Oldtown Road.

Speakers from the Washington, D. C. area who have been connected with AA for several years will be heard.

AA leaders emphasize that there will be no discussions on religion, the wet and dry question or the controlled drinker. There also will be no admission charge and no collection. The meeting has gained moral support from a number of business and civic leaders.

The AA seeks to educate the public to three major truths. They are (1) alcoholism is a disease and the alcoholic is a sick person; (2) the alcoholic can be helped and is worth helping and (3) this is a public health problem and therefore a public responsibility.

Alcoholics Anonymous is a fellowship of men and women who share their experience, strength and hope with each other that they may solve their common problem and help others to recover from alcoholism. The only requirement for membership is an honest desire to stop drinking. AA has no dues or fees. It is not allied with any sect, denomination, politics, organization or institution. It does not wish to engage in any controversy, neither endorses nor opposes any causes. The primary purpose of each member is to stay sober and help other alcoholics to achieve sobriety.

The headquarters of the local AA group is in the County Building, Union Street. Members believe they are proof that alcoholics are worth helping and the disease can be arrested.

Emmanuel Men Plan Communion

The regular quarterly corporate Communion for men will be held at 8 a. m. next Sunday at Emmanuel Episcopal Church.

L. J. Auker, assistant sales manager of the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company, will speak at a breakfast in the parish house basement following the service. F. T. Bell, program chairman for the occasion, said last night that Auker had not yet decided on a specific subject but will emphasize the importance of men taking an active part in church activities. Auker is a member of Emmanuel Church.

Rev. H. M. Richardson, church rector, has urged all men of the parish to attend the service and breakfast.

Sunday's service is in conjunction with the nationwide effort of the Episcopal Church for a corporate Communion for men and boys in every parish on that day, the first Sunday in Advent.

Registration Of Voters Is Still Lagging

The City Registration staff is expected to be swamped with registrations the first of the year.

Wallace G. Ullery, city clerk, said only 149 voters have registered since the registration office began operations in the basement of City Hall September 24.

Records did not immediately indicate the number of new voters from those who registered again after their names were stricken off the books for failing to vote during the past five years.

Still unaccounted for are most of the 6,791 voters who were notified they had been taken off the Cumberland registration records for failure to vote.

And still unsolved is the location of the missing voters. None of the notices have been returned by the Post Office as undeliverable.

Those who wish to be placed on the books should do so as soon as possible, Ullery said.

Voters may register Monday through Friday from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m., including the lunch hour, at the office which may be entered by a door off the Bedford Street side of City Hall.

That early registration is desirable can be seen from the election schedule, which shows the primary on March 4 and the general city election March 18.

This means that the books will be closed from February 13 until March 26.

Work on the permanent registration plan is progressing each day as office personnel prepares the new system which will eliminate many of the "bugs" inherent in the old plan.

The addition of the 149 names of newly registered voters brings the total listed in the new system to 14,771.

Mile-Long Christmas Balloon Parade Will Be Held Here Tonight

Thousands of visitors are expected to throng to this city this afternoon to see the mile-long pre-Christmas balloon parade which will get under way at 7:30 p. m.

Riding in open cars in the first section of the parade will be the football queens of Fort Hill and Allegany High Schools and their attendants.

The Queens are Miss Jo Ann Cross, Fort Hill, and Miss Joan Bastian, Allegany High School.

The spectacle is sponsored by the Mercantile Bureau of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce to usher in the Christmas season for this area.

The huge procession will assemble at the State Armory at 7 p. m. and be ready to move off at 7:30 p. m.

Route of the parade will be to Union Street, to George Street, to Baltimore, to Centre, to Market, to Mechanic Street, then up Baltimore Street to George Street, disbanding on Salem Street at the Armory.

Preparations for the balloon parade will get under way early today, as it will take at least six hours to inflate the huge balloon figures featuring the spectacle.

Special arrangements have been made by the Police Department to handle what is expected to be an unprecedented crowd. In order that smaller boys and girls may have the best possible view, parade officials are urging everyone to stay on the sidewalks along the route.

Highlight of the parade will be Santa's Mailbox, eight feet high and built to hold thousands of letters from children of the Cumberland area. Santa will have eight "helpers" to collect the letters along the line of march

IN BALLOON PARADE — The above horse will be one of the many Jean Gros figures to appear in the pre-Christmas balloon parade to be presented tonight by the Mercantile Bureau of the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce. The mile-long spectacle will get underway at 7:30 p.m. Thousands of Tri-State visitors are expected to throng the city tonight to witness the spectacle.

All letters will be collected by the "helpers" and deposited in the mailbox. Each child writing to Santa will receive a personal reply from him.

Another highlight will be a pipe organ, the biggest in the world and made entirely of balloons. The "organists" have arms six feet long. The whole ensemble will play Christmas and currently favorite tunes as it trundles over the parade route.

Everything possible has been done, the Mercantile Bureau of the Chamber reports, to insure the procession's getting off on time. A special assembly crew will be busy for many hours before starting time to get all the giant balloons inflated. Another group will have the responsibility of costuming and instructing more than 100 older boys who will handle the figures in the line of march.

Bands participating in the parade will be the Mount Savage Band, the Fulton Myers Post (American Legion) Drum and Bugle Corps, the Allegany High School Senior Band, the Beall High School Senior Band, Frostburg, and the Hyndman High School Band.

Local Air Force Veteran Is First To Enlist Here Under New Army OCS Program

A young Air Force veteran last week became the first man to enlist here for officer training under a new Army program designed to procure 16,000 officers.

He is Merle L. Hinkle, 23, of 328 Fayette Street.

Hinkle signed up Wednesday for two years in the Regular Army under a new plan which provides special training for qualified men of draft age.

He leaves tomorrow for Fort George G. Meade, where he will be processed before being sent to Officer Candidate School at Fort Benning, Ga.

While at OCS he will receive corporal's pay. Upon completion of the 22-week course he will be commissioned a second lieutenant.

Hinkle, the son of Lester Hinkle of Flintstone, was graduated from Flintstone High School in 1946 and served a year in the Air Force.

Later he attended Potomac State School in Keyser, W. Va. Until his enlistment he was employed at Kelly Springfield Tire Company here. In May 1950 he was married to the former Miss Alma June Dick of Cresaptown.

Hinkle agrees with Master Sgt. Virgil P. Burns, local recruiter, that the new program is the simplest officer procurement plan yet announced by the Army.

All men of draft age — 18½ through 26 — are eligible, provided they can produce a high school diploma, birth certificate and three letters of recommendation. They must also pass physical and mental tests. If they fail the tests, they will not be called before their turn for induction.

Men commissioned under the new program will be required to serve only 18 months of their two-year enlistments.

FIRST OCS ENLISTEE — Merle L. Hinkle, 23, is the first man to join the Army here for officer training under a new Army program which will provide 16,000 young officers. All draft-age men who are high school graduates are eligible for the program.

CONSTRUCTIVE THANKSGIVING—These members of Zion Methodist Church, Longstretch, Garrett County, spent Thanksgiving Day constructively clearing part of a three-acre tract of land adjoining the church property for an addition to the church cemetery. The land was a gift from Mrs. Maude Michael as a memorial to her husband, the late Earl Michael, long a leading Garrett County farmer. The men, together with three others who assisted during the afternoon hours, worked under a handicap of four inches of wet snow which covered that section of Garrett County. In the group, left to right, are Charles C. Layman, Marshall Layman, Ralph Layman, Charles Durst, Odell Layman, Carl Durst, Scott Layman, Ira Stark, Edwin Robeson, Wesley Durst and Wilbur Durst.

A Column for Men

STAG LINES

Jackets

Same jacket, two sides

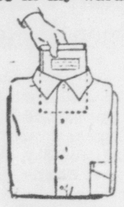
FASHIONS: Men in search of variety for their fall sports clothes are finding the new two-in-one reversible jackets a big help. The Blackburn twins, of dancing fame (at right), display a model that is solid color on the outside, checked on the inside—or the other way around.

Dress Tips: A milk-dampened cloth will give a new, fresh look to patent leather shoes. . . . When hanging suits away, take a few extra seconds to smooth lapels and pocket flaps—to keep them from getting pushed out of shape.

Datelines: Hartford—Ad Club members politely listened to my recent talk but got really excited afterward when someone asked for a demonstration of how to tie a Windsor knot! . . . Bermuda—Shorts-clad men here carry pens and pencils tucked into the tops of their knee-length hose.

In the Stores: Lisle socks with embroidered initial clocks add a note of distinction. . . . 14-carat gold charms duplicate a calendar page and have the anniversary or birth date marked with a stone—good gift for wives and gals.

Ten-Second Interviews: Purchasing Agent: "A salesman should forego a Martini at lunch—or forego trying to sell anything that afternoon." . . . Movie Star Steve Cochran: "I'm tired of dull clothes. I'm going to dress as I please. There's no color that won't be in my wardrobe!"



Collar saver

Packing Tip: In travels around the country, I carry along a book to read before going to sleep. Good way to pack one, I've found, is to slip it inside a shirt collar, down far enough so the collar points are flat on the book, as at left. It keeps collar from getting crushed.

General Information: A teaspoonful of ammonia in a large bowl of water, left in a room overnight, will remove odor of fresh paint. . . . Prexy Otto Kraus of Personna Blades advises: For the smoothest shaves, lather, let it stand while you brush your teeth, then lather again.

Odd Items: New York's Blair House, a restaurant, has cards on tables saying that its head waiters are executives and will not accept tips. . . . This week's "Pass The Cigars" to—Charles Boyer, Charles Laughton, Cedric Hardwicke (and a posy to Agnes Moorehead), members of "The First Dramatic Quartet," for their reading of Bernard Shaw's "Don Juan in Hell"—one of the memorable moments in recent theatrical history.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

CONSIDER A SHORT SUIT

WHEN you see no chance to make your contract except by means of a squeeze, you ordinarily think of your long suit as the one which furnishes the squeezer, the card on which your opponents have to discard fatally. But sometimes you can't build a satisfactory format for the squeeze by using the long suit that way. It may be better to pare the defenders' hands down with that suit and then use a card of some short suit for the squeezer, especially if it is in the hand opposite the long suit and you want that hand to put on the pressure,

	♠ A 10 8 5 ♥ K Q 6 ♦ Q 8 7 3 ♣ 7 2
♠ 7 6 4 ♥ J 10 9 3 ♦ K J 10 6 ♣ 8 5	N W E S	♠ Q J 9 3 2 ♥ 8 2 ♦ 9 4 2 ♣ 10 6 3
	♠ K ♥ A 7 5 4 ♦ A 5 ♣ A K Q J 9 4

(Dealer: South. North - South vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
3 ♣	Pass	3 ♦	Pass
3 ♥	Pass	4 ♣	Pass
4 NT	Pass	5 ♦	Pass
5 NT	Pass	6 ♦	Pass
7 ♣

North did right in indicating preference for clubs over hearts after his partner's two bids of the minor followed by the major showed he had at least six cards in the first one and only four in the other. South would have selected No Trumps for the contract if North had been able to show two kings in response to the Blackwood 5-No Trumps, but with only one king proclaimed, he preferred clubs. It happened that the play he gave the deal would have worked just as well in No Trumps as clubs.

When West led the heart J and he counted up, South could see only twelve sure tricks, two in spades, three in hearts, one in diamonds and six in clubs. With no finesse or suit-establishment play in view, unless hearts were divided evenly, which was a minority chance, he planned a squeeze. Knowing such plays thoroughly, he noted there would be difficulty if he tried to use a club as the squeezer. So he picked the spade A for that work.

The order of tricks followed was the heart K, six clubs, the spade K, diamond A, heart 5 to the Q and then the squeezing spade A while dummy also held the heart 6 and diamond Q. On it he tossed the diamond 5 and retained the heart A-7. West had to discard from the heart 10-9 and diamond K. Throwing the diamond would make the dummy's Q good, so he tossed the heart 9. The heart 6 to the A then felled the 10 and the 7 took the last trick.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ K 8 2 ♥ Q 9 6 ♦ K J 10 7 ♣ A Q 5
♠ Q 6 ♥ 8 3 2 ♦ 9 8 4 3 ♣ 10 8 6 2	N W E S	♠ 10 9 7 4 3 ♥ J 10 5 ♦ None ♣ K J 9 7 4
	♠ A J 5 ♥ A K 7 4 ♦ A Q 6 5 2 ♣ 3

(Dealer: North. North - South vulnerable.)

If North bid 1-Diamond, South 2-Hearts, North a funny 3-Clubs, East doubled, South an odd 4-Clubs, West doubled, North 4-Hearts and South then 7-No Trumps, how should South play after the club 10 lead?

Distributed by King Features Syndicate

ALSO TO GET THE COUNT

RUNNING OF consecutive tricks in a long suit or suits is generally viewed as a means of stripping the defenders' hands to the point where either a squeeze or throw-in play may be worked against them. It has another very important purpose when used by a good and thorough card-reader. It is to get a count of the several suits in the defenders' hands and therefore learn the best way to play some suit or suits. Watching that is not so fancy-appearing as the others, but the thoughts running through the player's head are just as interesting as some gaudy end-play.

	♠ K 8 2 ♥ Q 9 6 ♦ K J 10 7 ♣ A Q 5
♠ Q 6 ♥ 8 3 2 ♦ 9 8 4 3 ♣ 10 8 6 2	N W E S	♠ 10 9 7 4 3 ♥ J 10 5 ♦ None ♣ K J 9 7 4
	♠ A J 5 ♥ A K 7 4 ♦ A Q 6 5 2 ♣ 3

(Dealer: North. North - South vulnerable.)

North	East	South	West
1 ♦	Pass	2 ♥	Pass
3 ♣	Dbl	4 ♣	Dbl
4 ♥	Pass	7 NT

With highly combative and tricky bidders, North's 2-Clubs instead of 2-No Trumps, was meant to show that ace and swing the play into partner's hand if No Trumps wound up as the declaration. Appreciating the compliment to his brilliant reputation, South after East's double of clubs also had fun bidding that suit a level higher, since his mind was made up on playing in grand slam at No Trumps and he hoped to prevent a club lead.

That stratagem didn't work, so he had to use other measures after West led the club 10, which the A won. Watching all discards, he ran five diamonds, three high hearts and then the luckily-established heart thirteener. Not yet sure about trying the spade finesse, he scored the K of that suit and led the 8. When East followed suit on both spades, leaving him only one more card, South knew it must be the club K because of East's early double of the suit.

The only remaining cards not in sight now were the spade Q and club 8, both marked in West's hand. South therefore came up with the A on that second spade lead, knowing the Q must fall, which it did. The spade J then won the final trick, with both opponents throwing clubs on it.

When your hand contains honors in every suit, none of them in sequence with other honors, what usually should be your principal policy on the defense against a suit contract?

How do you select and send Christmas greetings? Personalize yours for additional enjoyment!

SECRETS OF CHARM

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

At this time each year, my grandmother always enjoyed one of her greatest pleasures. Because it took mail much longer to travel in her day, her Christmas greetings destined for far places were always posted nearly a month in advance, and she made quite a ceremony of it. There was no doubt about it—she sent very real thoughts and good wishes to her friends! There was also no doubt about the comfort and joy that it gave her.

Personal Greetings

What a shock it would be to her to hear one of us moderns boiling down our thought for another: "Guess we'd better send a card to the Jones'—they sent us one last year." The only thing personal about such a greeting is the handpenned address on the envelope. There is no rule of etiquette that says a card must be sent to anyone, you know. A return to the old practice of letting the sentiment within your heart govern the sending of each card would do a lot to strengthen the Christmas spirit.

There are two types of cards that will never fail in their errand of wishing others well. One is a card that reflects your personality (or that of your family). For example, as an individual or family with a flair for modern art, a card that mirrors this taste will carry your personal touch with it.

The second type tells the recipient that you have remembered his or her tastes. In this instance, you might choose a "coming home to grandma's" scene for the rocking-chair lady who delights in the memories of Christmas long ago.

To add further cheer to your cards, whether on not they are engraved, write a newsy message on those that are addressed to shutins, folk who are far away, or those you have not see for a time.

Added Pleasures

After your cards are sealed and stamped, think hard for names you might have overlooked, particularly those who would find your card a cheering surprise — the old school friend, teacher, boy overseas or hospitalized vet. You can never know what the unexpected message can mean unless you have at sometime hoped for one yourself.

And if you receive such a card yourself, don't rush to send a belated one in exchange. Write a note of appreciation after the tumult is over. Eliminate the word "exchange" from your thinking and you are sure to regain the original warm spirit and pleasure of the old-time custom.

Mirror Of Your Mind

By LAWRENCE GOULD, Consulting Psychologist

Will expecting snubs provoke them?

Answer: As a rule, yes. We tend always to react to others on the basis of the treatment we expect to receive from them rather than of what they actually have done or left undone. To expect to be snubbed means that you assume the other person thinks you are of no importance and your response will be likely to be either to take yourself at what you think is his estimation and do nothing to make him aware of your existence, or else to force yourself on his attention so aggressively as to antagonize him. Either way, the basic mistake is to let your sense of your own value depend too much on its being recognized by others.

Are criminal tendencies inherited?

Answer: Certainly not. All that we inherit is a mass of capacities of varying strength, whereas criminality consists in the misuse of these inborn capacities, usually, if not always, because of experiences in the offender's childhood. This is just as true of sex criminals as of any others since the sexual instinct is invariably normal to begin with and becomes an anti-social drive only when it has been warped and distorted by fear or guilt. The extent to which a person has been actually in contact with criminal relatives may influence his character but the mere fact that there is "crime in his family" means nothing whatever.

Do amputees need psychiatric help?

Answer: Yes, says Dr. Lawrence C. Kolb in Medical Clinics of North America. Even the pain which an amputee so often suffers in the so-called "phantom limb" is partly the result of such emotions as fear, apprehension and anxiety. Surgery which ignores the mental aspects of such cases is generally unsatisfactory. Where possible, the whole personal life of the patient should be studied and his attitude toward the "assault" upon his body discussed and adjusted before surgery is undertaken. Psychiatrists say that "phantom limb pain" grows in large part out of the unconscious mind's refusal to accept the fact of mutilation.

WIFE PRESERVERS

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

In Memoriam

In memory of our dear sister and sister-in-law, Norma Jean Reed, who passed away Thanksgiving, one year ago.

God knows how much I miss you
Never shall your memory fade,
Loving thoughts shall ever wonder
To the spot where you are laid.

As I loved you, so I miss you
In my memory you are near,
Loved, remembered, longed for always,
Bringing many a silent tear.

Sadly missed by:
Wanetta and Ernest Stonebraker

In loving memory of Norma Jean Reed who passed away November 24, 1950.

Why did she go when life seemed fair
And no dark clouds were near
To dim the brightness of our lives
Or start the bitter tears.

We thought not at the close of day
When night veiled earth and sky
That one so full of life and hope
Would breath her last goodbye.

A bud that the garden gave us
A pure and lovely child.
He gave her in our keeping
To cherish undefiled.

But just as it was opening
To the glory of the day
Down came the heavenly gardner
And took our flower away.

Sadly missed by her Mother, father, sisters and brothers.

In loving memory of our dear husband and father, George H. Emerick, who died 4 years ago today, November 24, 1547.

There is a home not made by hands
Beyond the golden door
Awaits the one who is now away,
Not lost, just gone before.
And in that home not made by hands,
The Master will prepare,
A place for us and when he calls
We'll meet our loved one there.

Sadly missed by his

Body Of Missing Flier Found Near Scene Of Crash

Unopened Parachute Found On Lt. Ross

A week-long search for an airman believed to have bailed out of a B-26 which crashed near Aurora in Preston County, W. Va., ended yesterday when the body of First Lt. Prentice F. Ross, Jr. was found.

Rain which has fallen upon the rugged mountain area melted virtually all of the snow which plagued search parties and disclosed the airman's body in a brush pile less than a mile from the scene of the crash.

The bodies of two other fliers, 1st Lt. Jerome Walsh, of Milwaukee, Wis., and 1st Lt. William L. Langdon, of Moorestown, N. J., were found shortly after the accident last Friday.

Parachute Unopened

An unopened parachute pack was on the body of Lt. Ross, when he was found by a ground rescue squad from Westover, Mass., Air Force Base.

Leading the party which found the body at 11:23 a. m. yesterday was Capt. D. D. Bachman, pilot of a helicopter which searched the area, and Capt. Robert Bourcy, commander of the rescue mission.

Search parties which at times numbered up to 500, combed a wide area spurred by the belief that Lt. Ross, observer in the plane, might have parachuted safely from the doomed bomber which was returning to Langley Field from Pittsburgh.

Capt. Bourcy said Ross apparently was killed instantly.

The dead airman came from Fort Worth, Texas, but was living at Hampton, Va., with his wife.

Until the rains came, rescue personnel ranged the countryside under conditions considered as rugged as in the Artic, in a race to get to the missing flier in time.

Return To Pittsburgh

Some 100 men from the Greater Pittsburgh Air Base, who volunteered for the huge rescue effort, returned to their base last night by bus.

Some 15 Air Force land rescue technicians from Flight A, 5th Air Rescue Squadron, Westover, Mass., AF Base were still at the scene last night.

Officials said the men will drive to Cumberland with their equipment, to be flown back to Westover, as soon as weather conditions permit.

Disposition of Lt. Ross's body is being handled by Air Force authorities.

Wolford Named To Election Post

Marshall Wolford, Martin's Mountain, has been appointed by Governor Theodore R. McKeldin as substitute supervisor of elections to represent the Democratic party in Allegany County.

A three vehicle accident Thursday evening sent three Somerset, Pa., residents to the Community Hospital there.

Miss Lois Lape, about 19, Maple Queen of the Somerset County Festival this past spring, is in serious condition according to Pennsylvania State Police. She is reported to have suffered severe facial lacerations and other injuries.

Thomas Beam, about 19, is in critical condition at the hospital, according to attaches. He is unconscious and suffered a possible fractured skull and internal injuries as the steering wheel struck him.

Frank Troy, 22, 656 South Center Avenue, Somerset, is in fair condition suffering head and back injuries. A fourth resident of Somerset, Paul Petrea, 53, of 1124 Park Avenue, was not injured according to police.

The accident occured about two-tenths of a mile from the Pennsylvania community on Route 219 near Beacon's Restaurant, police noted.

Troy was driving an International Truck Tractor traveling south toward Somerset. Petrea pulled out of a driveway near the restaurant, police said, and the tractor ran into the rear of the automobile. The auto swerved sharply to the left, police added and ran headon into Reams automobile, in which Miss Lape was riding, practically demolishing it.

No charges have been preferred by police pending an investigation. Checking the accident are Private John T. Docherty and Kenneth R. Glenn.

Self-Employed Social Security Tax Explained

Details for the self-employed concerning the new Social Security Law and taxes was outlined by R. J. Stakem, division chief of the Cumberland Internal Revenue Service.

He explained that if a person works for himself in almost any trade or business as a sole owner or partner, and if his net earnings from self employment in 1951 are $400 or more, and if he does not have $3,600 or more in wages or salaries covered by social security in 1951, he is affected by the following factors:

(1) He is probably now covered by the new social security law and is required to pay from $9 to $81 self-employment tax with his 1951 individual income tax return.

(2) His earnings will count toward old-age and survivors insurance protection for him and his family.

(3) He will need a personal social security account number when he files his income tax return.

Stakem pointed out that the tax will be paid as part of the self-employed income tax. The rate will be 2¼ per cent on self-employment income up to a maximum of $3,600.

The computation will be made on a separate "Schedule C" to be filed with an individual tax return, Form 1940. This schedule will give a detailed explanation of the requirements. If it is not sent to the self-employed with his income tax blanks, he should request it from the collector.

Stakem said the tax is being collected to provide old-age and survivors insurance benefits under the new social security law for self-employed people and their families.

He pointed out that if any self-employed person does not have a social security card, he should apply for one immediately at his social security office or get an application at the local post office.

More information about the social security taxes may be obtained at the local Internal Revenue office here. Information about social security benefits may be obtained at the local social security office.

Self-employment income excluded from social security coverage includes income from the performance of service as a self-employed farmer, physician, lawyer, dentist, osteopath, veterinarian, chiopractor, naturapath, optometrist, Christian Science practitioner, architect, certified public accountant, licensed or registered accountant, fulltime practicing accountant, funeral director, or professional engineer; as an oradined, commissioned, or licensed minister; or as a member of a religious order.

City, C. Of C. Will Intervene In CAB Hearing

Will Fight Move To Drop AA Service Here

The City of Cumberland and the Cumberland Chamber of Commerce have filed a joint petition to intervene in the pending Civil Aeronautics Board hearing on All-American Airways' request to halt service to this city.

The city has already been listed as one of the possible parties in the case as a result of a petition filed against the proposal.

Will File Briefs

Both the City and the C. of C. will be requested to file formal briefs before the CAB relative to the desirability and necessity of the continuance of air service here.

It was reported that the CAB has indicated it will request airlines to continue feeder operations.

The cut in service would affect not only Cumberland but all but one of the Maryland cities served by the AA feeder flights.

The State Aviation Commission has advised that AA, under the case docketed as No. 5053, has requested permission to eliminate not only Cumberland but also Frederick, Easton, Ocean City and Cambridge.

The last two communities are not served at present due to the lack of part facilities. This would leave only Hagerstown.

The joint petition to intervene in the case was forwarded recently to James S. Keith, examiner for the case.

AA is seeking to renew its present routes with the exception of service to this city, Connellsville-Uniontown, Pa.; Dunkirk-Fredonia, N. Y., Easton-Cambridge, Md., and Bridgeton-Millville-Vineland, N. Y.

At one time, it was suggested that Cumberland be placed on a Huntington, W. Va.-Washington route.
